THE GREAT WAR.

THE SITUATION TO DATE: The Germans have occupied Bruges, fourteen miles east of Ostend, and have appeared at Blankenberghe, on the North Sea, twelve miles northeast of Ostend.

The allies have thrown a strong line to the south with the object of shutting off Calais and other French ports on the English channel. The allies occupy Ypres and their line is believed to extend almost directly northward to Nieuwpoort.

Emperor William's headquarters have been moved farther into France.

Petrograd reports no change on the eastern Prussian and central Vistula fronts, but claims a victory for a Russian column over the Austrians south of Przemysl.

COMMENT ON THE SITUATION.

The tide of battle is again favoring the allies. They have forced the Germans at several places to fall back, but in such a way that the line of the invaders from Basel, in Switzerland, to Antwerp, in Belgium, presents a solid line of Krupp and Solingen steel. Thus, according to London's digest of the war dispatches, there is no longer a right and left flank for the allies to try to turn. The most they can do is to try to break through the German line. They are hard at it now and the French official statement last night affirms that the battle is developing slowly, but none the less surely, in favor of the allied forces. A similar situation obtains in the eastern part of Europe, where the battle between the Russians on one side and the German allies on the other is equally well advanced as the conflict in the west. It is not so easy to determine, or even to guess, which side has the better of the situation there, as the public is permitted to have but occasional glimpses of the fray.

GERMANS USE AEROPLANES TO LOCATE BATTERIES.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 16.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd, says:

"Refugees who fled from Warsaw at the approach of the Germans are returning, the Russians having beaten back the German advance, chiefly through the excellent work of the artillery.

"Fighting is now in progress thirty miles from Warsaw. The town of Grodzisk, which was captured by the Germans, has been retaken by the Russians. The fighting a few days ago was within seven miles of Warsaw.

"The Germans are making excellent use of aeroplanes, which signal by means of long black streamers whenever they pass over Russian batteries. The fighting line of the opposing forces extends 160 miles from north of Warsaw to a point due south of Przemysl. Half of Galicia is occupied by the Russians."

SEVEN AUSTRIAN SHIPS LOST IN INCENDIARY FIRE.

ROME (via Paris) Oct. 15.—Dispatches received here today from Trieste, Austria, say the attempt to burn the dockyard of Monfalcone, sixteen miles northwest of Trieste, the principal naval shipyard of Austria, has caused a deep impression among the authorities, as it is considered proof that there exist daring and powerful internal enemies.

The evidence shows that the attempt was especially directed against a dreadnought which is almost completed and for whose launching arrangements had been made for next Sunday. The vessel was badly damaged and the fire also caused serious damage to six torpedo-boat destroyers which were in course of construction.

The police of Trieste have arrested several of the 5000 workmen of the dockyard, and a strict watch is being kept over others.

THE REPORT IN LONDON.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 16, 12:50 a.m.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Berlin via Amsterdam confirms the report of a fire in the Austrian dockyard at Monfalcone, but says only three "steamers" were damaged. It adds that the monetary loss was heavy.

Trieste is the principal seaport of Austria-Hungary on the Adriatic Sea. The arsenal was virtually destroyed; as was also an Austrian dreadnought under construction there, according to a Central News dispatch from Rome.

Six torpedo-boat destroyers also were damaged. It is alleged that a quantity of woodwork in the arsenal was soaked with petroleum.

THREE MEN IN JAIL FOR ELECTION FRAUDS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

OAKLAND (Cal.) Oct. 15—Twenty-six indictments for fraud in the August primary election here were returned by the grand jury late today and as a result three men are in jail and a bench warrant is out for a fourth.

Those under arrest are Charles L. Gale, indicted on ten counts; Fred S. Beach, eight counts, and James Higgins, four counts. Whether the remaining indictments were directed against Edgar C. Wiles, who is being sought on a bench warrant, Dist.-Atty. W. H. L. Hynes would not say.

Forgery, falsification of records, illegal voting and impersonation of others at the election are the specific charges contained in the indictments. They were returned to Superior Judge Frank B. Ogden, who fixed bail for the three men arrested at $3000 for each indictment. In the case of Gale, a bond of $30,000 would have to be posted.

The indictments grew out of the election contest between John P. Cook and George E. Gross over the nomination for County Clerk, Cook having charged irregularities in the vote for Gross.

The last witness examined by the grand jury today before the true bills were drawn was Milton Carlson, a Los Angeles handwriting expert, who verified the testimony of a San Francisco expert that more than 100 forgeries had been found on the ballots of five precincts.

PARIS, Oct. 15, 11:10 p.m.—The official communication issued by the French War Office tonight says:

"The news of the day indicates gains at several points along the front.

"On the left wing, to the north of Lys, we have taken Estaires. On the center, to the north and east of Rheims, we have made an advance of nearly two kilometers (about a mile and a quarter.)

"On the heights of the Meuse and in the Woevre region we have made gains to the south of St. Mihiel and near Marcheville."

LONDON, Oct. 15, 10:25 p.m.—The following German official statement was received here tonight by the Marconi Wireless Company:

"It is reported officially from Vienna that our cavalry has entered the fortress of Przemysl, Galicia, from the west. The enemy, perplexed by the rapidity of our operations in Russian Poland and Galicia, tried in vain to prevent our relief of the fortress by detaching troops to the west. They were unable, however, to resist the advance of our army.

"The Fifth and Sixth Russian infantry divisions attacked by us have fled in the direction of the River San.

"A Cossack cavalry division and an infantry brigade in a strong position west of Dynow, Galicia, were defeated after brief resistance."

LONDON, Oct. 16.—The Germans have appeared at Blankenberge on the English Channel, nine miles northwest of Bruges, and are expected to arrive at Ostend today, according to Reuter's Amsterdam Correspondent.

After a brief battle near Ursel (ten miles southeast of Bruges) the correspondent says, the Germans opened the way to Bruges yesterday.

PETROGRAD (Russia) Oct. 15.—The Russian General Staff today issued the following statement:

"There is no change on the East Prussian and Central Vistula fronts. South of Przemysl, a Russian column engaged and defeated the Austrians, taking seven officers and 500 soldiers prisoners and capturing many rapid-fire guns.

LONDON, Oct. 15, 10 p.m.—Two great battles, one in Northern France and Belgium, the other in Russian Poland, both with a front of 300 miles, have reached their height, but the public is allowed only an occasional glance of their progress through official communications, which frequently are widely at variance.

From the French report it appears that the western battle is going slowly but surely in favor of the allies. Under pressure of the troops of the allies the Germans, who started to advance on Calais and other French coast ports, have been forced to evacuate the left bank of the Lys River, which is a considerable distance east of the points their advance guards reached last week. Further east in the Lens district and southward between Arras and Albert, where the Germans made their initial attempt to work around the allies' left, the English and French have made "notable progress."

Evidence that the German assaults are being delivered with less force is conveyed in the intimation that between the Somme and the Oise their artillery attacks are not being followed up with infantry charges. It is possible that they have withdrawn some of their troops from this position to strengthen their advance toward the coast, but it is considered this would be risky as it might permit the allies to break through and interrupt the communications of their armies fighting north of the Aisne.

In the center the allies also have advanced, particularly toward Cra-

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, Oct. 15.—Reports from London and Paris that the German advance in Belgium has been checked also admit that they have occupied Bruges and Thielt. This state of affairs seems to be somewhat like the first days of the war, when the Belgians "successfully checked" the German advance by retiring each day to a new position, five or ten miles in the rear.

The important gain for the allies lies, however, in holding back the attempted advance of the German cavalry from Lille to the coast. The latter were first driven back from Hazebrouck and have now been forced back from Arras, Estaires and Ypres.

The presence of a new British army in this field of fighting means increased strength for the line of the allies near the border, and is probably responsible for the successes in this region during the last two days. The arrival of these troops on the line from Arras to Ypres will release the cavalry divisions from this field and make them available for operations still farther to the north.

The next few days should determine whether the fighting power of the allies is sufficient to enable them to carry the German intrenchments. Though the Germans have fewer men along their line than have the allies, their positions in the firing trenches, sheltered from shrapnel fire by splinter-proofs and bomb-proofs, will enable them to put up a strong resistance.

Unless the allies can concentrate sufficient artillery to overcome that of the Germans at the point of attack, the frontal assaults will be almost hopeless. However, the advantage of artillery fire always lies with the assailants.

The reported successes near Craonne and in the regions east of Verdun do not count for much in themselves except that they keep the Germans so busy all along the line that they cannot oppose the French advance in case they should be able to break through the line at any point.

In East Prussia the Germans have been successful in withstanding the assaults of the Russians on their lines and the positions of the opposing armies along the border are practically unchanged. In Poland the Russians are making use of their concentration of forces to assume the offensive against the German invasion.

According to the news from Rome, which has generally proved reliable, the Germans have been defeated in their assaults on Warsaw. If the Russians are able to gain a success in this part of the field it will give them a chance to get in the rear of the German army, where they can threaten to keep the Germans off from the base in Galicia. Such move, if successful, could have but one result. The Germans would have to fall back from their advanced position on the Vistula under conditions similar to those which have just enforced the retreat of the Russians from Tarnow.

In Galicia the removal of the overpowering pressure of the Russian army and the diversion of Russian strength to Poland have given new life to the Austrian forces, who have pressed forward to Przemysl, where they defeated the efforts of the Russians to check their advance. This resulted in the abandonment by the Russians of their line of investment on the west side of the city and their retreat across the San River.

Government Adopts Stern Measures to Suppress the Outbreak — Many Former Enemies of British will Take Field Side by Side with Men They Opposed but a Few Years Ago.

LONDON, Oct. 16.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Cape Town says that Col. Brits, the officer appointed by Gen. Louis Botha, Premier and commander-in-chief of the Union forces, to take over the command of the rebel Lieut.-Col. Solomon Gerhardus Maritz, reports that one of his patrols has engaged a part of Maritz's force at Raledraai and taken eighty prisoners.

CAPE TOWN (via London) Oct. 15.—As a result of Col. Maritz's rebellion in the northwest of the Cape provinces, Gen. Louis Botha, Premier of the Union of South Africa and commander of the troops of the Union, is taking the field earlier than he originally intended to. Gen. Botha is placing himself at the head of several strong Dutch commandos, organized on the old burgher line, which are affiliated with regiments trained by the Union defenses force.

Commandants, field cornets and burghers who served under Gen. Botha in the South African war are rallying to his call, irrespective of their political feeling, to fight alongside the English in defense of the empire against which they were in arms twelve years ago. This fact has had a marked effect on waverers who are now flocking to Gen. Botha's standard.

The other rebels within the Union, having openly declared themselves, the government considers itself not obliged to deal gently with them out of consideration for certain Dutch peoples, who, although they are not strong supporters of the government, are said to have drawn the line at rebellion.

The government also is adopting stern measures by arresting prominent men who are suspected of sowing sedition, charging them with high treason.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—A child of a marriage unrecorded and unlicensed, yet regularly celebrated by a clergyman or secular officer, is nevertheless a legal heir, ruled the Supreme Court today when they awarded to Donald Shipp half of the estate of his father, Louis Shipp of Los Angeles. The court further hinted that they recognized the validity of such an unlicensed marriage if regularly performed.

The will of Louis Shipp was contested by the son of his first marriage. Donald Shipp, is the son of a second marriage, which was performed in Los Angeles in 1909 by a Catholic priest after Shipp had been divorced, and without the securing of a license.

LONDON, Oct. 16, 1:30 a.m.—An observer from the army besieging Przemysl, according to a Petrograd dispatch to the Havas Agency, by way of Paris, has returned to the Russian capital and reports that the Russians have bombarded the fortress unceasingly day and night, with the result that the garrison has been destroyed. On Wednesday 3000 Austrians attempted a sortie. The Russians allowed them to approach close to the Russian lines, and then annihilated them with rapid-firers.

LONDON, Oct. 16, 2:30 a.m.—A dispatch from the north of France to the Daily Telegraph dated October 14 says:

"The scene of the battle continues to shift satisfactorily to the Allies. The latest battle is taking place on a north and south line, but not a straight line, because the sorely-pressed Germans have been compelled to give ground in several quarters. Consequently they occupy irregular positions connected up across the country, which are frequently difficult and dangerous for them to defend."

YOU MAY LEND MONEY TO THE BELLIGERENTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—While the high administration officials stated today that loans to belligerent countries by private individuals in the United States were in the same class as munitions of war and other classes of contraband, which the American government was neither legally able nor obligated by international law to prohibit, it became known at the White House that the administration policy toward foreign loans had undergone no change.

It was made plain that loans were in the same category with other commercial transactions, but that the policy of the American government—that loans to belligerents are "inconsistent with the true spirit of neutrality"—had not been changed since it was expressed last August.

TWO ENGLISHMEN SHOT; YOUNG TURK ARRESTED.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 16, 2:15 a.m.—A dispatch to the Reuter Telegram Company from Bucharest says:

"Noel Buxton (member of the British Parliament for North Norfolk) and his brother, Charles Roden Buxton, sons of Sir Thomas Powell Buxton, former Governor of South Australia, who has been in Bulgaria to confer with politicians regarding their country's attitude toward the European war, were both shot today by a young Turk, Pachel Hassan.

"The Buxtons were traveling in an automobile with a son of M. Guechoff, former Bulgarian Premier, to attend the funeral of the King of Roumania, when Pachel fired four shots at the party from a revolver. One of the Buxtons was shot through the lungs. The other was only slightly wounded.

"The assassin, who had just arrived here from Salonica, was arrested. He had a passport which was vised at Constantinople, September 26."

Noel Buxton has traveled extensively in the near East. He is chairman of the London Balkan Committee, and has interested himself actively in Macedonia. He served with the Bulgarian staff during the war in the Balkans. He is 43 years old.

Charles Roden Buxton was private secretary to his father in South Australia. He has been interested for some time in welfare work. Mr. Buxton lived for a time in Texas, where he studied ranching.

DARING FRENCH CUIRASSIERS OUTWIT GERMAN ARTILLERYMEN

FROM THE BATTLE FRONT (via Paris) Oct. 16.—Infantry and cavalry have been doing more fighting during the last few days than for several weeks.

Two thousand French cuirassiers have distinguished themselves by a daring feat in swimming the River Lys where it flows deep and swift. They completely outwitted the Germans who were awaiting them on the other side with machine guns and heavy artillery.

The French horsemen made a long detour during the night. One man swam the river with a rope; then dragged over a cable, which he attached to a tree. The others, holding the rope, crossed singly with their horses through the swirling waters.

Arriving on the opposite bank, the French drew up in line and charged the German flank at Merville, driving the enemy back and opening the way for the passage over the river of a division of allied infantry, which later occupied Estaires.

The present war differs from all previous wars inasmuch as no one knows just when a battle begins and when it ends. What is now known as the battle of the four rivers—the Scarpe, the Somme, the Oise and the Aisne—may be regarded as ended and a fresh stage of the operations begun with the fall of Antwerp and the renewed appearance of a strong allied army in Belgian territory, where it has made its presence felt by the capture of Ypres.

SIEGE NOW DESULTORY.

Meanwhile the siege of the German positions farther south has become merely desultory. Some parts of the line, where a perfect hail of shells was a daily occurrence five weeks ago, now are enlivened by artillery fire only at rare intervals. At one very important point today only thirty shells were fired throughout the twenty-four hours. The infantry on both sides, however, is kept constantly on the alert, although the allies have found it possible to reduce the strength of the troops actually on the firing line.

The remainder of the very strong allied forces at these various points is kept in reserve within measurable distance, ready for any emergency. The cold and wet have made trench work very trying, but the allies are well provided with blankets and waterproof sheets. The soldiers also are combatting the cold by means of sheets of parchment, which they wear under their uniforms and which help to keep them warm.

Many of the advanced German trenches appear to have been abandoned, and the allies were able to make much headway today where previously they had met with furious resistance. The idea prevails that the Germans are preparing to retire at the center and concentrate their energies farther north, where it is supposed they intend to make another attempt to break the allies' line.

It appears evident that the commanders of both armies have been awaiting reinforcements where they are most needed, and in the meantime are feeling each other out. There is reason to believe that these fresh forces have arrived and have been assigned to their places so that a rapid development may be expected.

The newly-arrived German troops are thought to have come directly from Germany and are composed of second and third reserves, who need a period of pulling together before going to the front.

The allied commanders expect the Germans to deliver another powerful blow looking to the achievement of their one great objective—Paris. But this is being awaited with confidence in the power of the allied armies to respond with a vigorous counter blow.

BRITISH FEAR INVASION; EXPERT WARNS PEOPLE

Germans May Slip Force Across Dover Navy, Says "Times" Writer.

"Now that War has Reached Climax of Violence We Must Expect to be Attacked at Home," He Declares. Government Urged to Announce Proper Measures of Defense in Case of Emergency.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The Times' military expert in his article today discussed possibility of a German attempt to invade England, and calls upon Great Britain to be prepared for such an emergency and not rely too much on the shield of the navy.

"Now that war is reaching the climax of its violence," he says, "we must anticipate that all the forces of Germany will be thrown into the conflict and that the German navy will no longer remain inert. We must expect to be attacked at home and must not rest under any comforting illusions, but look the situation calmly in the face.

"From a soldier's point of view, naval defense of the British Isles presents difficulties which not even the preponderance of ships can with absolute assurance overcome. The length of our coasts, absence of our best troops over sea, want of a national army which is still only forming, menace of the submarine, which keeps our grand fleet often far from the ultimately decisive point, the Zeppelins, mines and other war conditions more or less novel throw upon Admiral Jellicoe a responsibility which must be deprecated."

LAMB CHOPS AND STEAKS AS ALLIES OF COSSACKS

LONDON, Oct. 16, 3:40 a.m.—A correspondent of the Daily Mail, who has been traveling in the East Prussian field of operations, describes a Cossack device to overcome wire entanglements. He says:

"This being a great grazing country, when troops of Cossacks are charging batteries, they drive immense flocks of sheep and cattle before them right onto the fore of wire. Then they dismount, horses over the platform, sabering the geese in the trenches behind.

"This plan, however, was circumvented by the Germans, who are equally fearless and soon found out."

Southern Cotton Relief Plan Causes Some Delay.

Tax on Newspaper Shipments Provided in Measure.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Despite efforts of Southern Senators to divert discussion to cotton-relief legislation, the Senate made material progress today on the war revenue bill. Many important sections were agreed to after the proposed amendment authorizing a $250,000,000 bond issue to aid cotton producers had been debated and a vote deferred.

The Senate voted to strike out the tax on proprietary medicines, originally proposed by the Senate Committee, and revised the administrative sections of the bill to accord with this amendments. The revised section taxing the shipment of newspapers was agreed to, and an amendment inserted exempting from the stamp taxes memorandum of agreements under which stock certificates are deposited as collateral for loans.

Two new amendments were presented, but consideration went over until tomorrow. They dealt with the tobacco and wine schedules. There, with the cotton controversy, were the most important proposals still pending when the Senate recessed tonight.

NEWSPAPER SHIPMENTS.

The amendment relating to the shipment of newspapers provides that no bill of lading be required on express and freight shipments, and that all bundles in any single train or other conveyance should be considered as one shipment, publishers to issue monthly statements as to such shipments and to attach necessary stamps to these stipulations. The amendment exempts from taxation newspapers shipped within the county of publication.

Under a new revision of the tobacco section, tobacco manufacturers making 100,000 pounds of tobacco a year would pay $6, the tax being graduated up to $2496 on annual sales exceeding 20,000,000 pounds. Cigar manufacturers selling 1,000 cigars would pay $3, while those selling 40,000,000 or more would pay $2496.

Manufacturers selling one million cigarettes would be taxed $12, and sales exceeding 100,000,000, $2496.

THE WINE SECTION.

The wine section as proposed by the committee would tax all still wines 5 cents a gallon, and in addition would tax the grape brand used in the fortification of sweet wines 55 cents a gallon. The committee also wrote into the wine schedule taxes of 25 cents a quart on champagne, 10 cents a quart on carbonated wines, and 24 cents a gallon on cordials.

The House, at the instance of Majority Leader Underwood, agreed that members of that body who could return next week might go home, as the consideration of the war tax bill upon its return from the Senate was the only work unfinished. Representative Underwood declared this could not be expected before the middle of next week.

Tme House will adjourn tomorrow until Monday. If the Senate should tack the cotton amendment to the war revenue bill, Representative Underwood will ask the House to vote on it without a conference. Otherwise a conference will be asked.

The House Rules Committee talked over the cotton legislation again today, but took no action. The committee agreed to meet again next Tuesday.

STAR GAZERS AT IT AGAIN.

WHOLE NEBULAR HYPOTHESIS PRONOUNCED FALSE.

Lick Observatory Says the Incredible Speed of the Gaseous Puff Balls Suggests They are Older than the Stars, not Younger, as has been Believed for a Hundred Years.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 15.—Whence come the stars?

The old theory of nebular formation is false and the nebular hypothesis is relegated to the scrap heap by a revolutionary conclusion just reached at the Lick Observatory.

The conclusion is based on the discovery that the older stars become the faster they travel through space. The discovery was announced by the observatory four years ago. Since that time the speeds of the various nebulae of the heavens have been observed.

The average speed of a forty nebulae was found to be twenty miles a second. One nebulae was found to be rushing toward the earth at the rate of 100 miles per second, another receding from it at eighty-five miles per second. The youngest suns travel through space at an average rate of about four miles per hour. The oldest average ten.

The incredible speed of the nebulae suggests that they are older than the stars, not younger, as has been supposed for a century past, or ever since the days of Sir William Herschel.

Read America's News First

O DEPRESSING monotony.

O, welcome relief.

If a man might unfold his newspaper tomorrow morning and find the front page a mirror reflecting "America first" —the usual run of news such as appeared there before the war's beginning.

Has not your interest lagged?

At first you bought two or three papers and read them all. At night you studied maps and history of former conflicts. Now you buy one paper and in the evening turn your attention to fiction or some article American that speaks of events in peace. Outside of some exceptional feature story, decisive battle, or to keep track of a segment of battle-line where someone you are personally interested in is located, your war interest has waned.

War news is not what you wish to read first. Your mind seeks a rest from the constant succession of war stories.

We are quite sure an actual census of readers would show a goodly proportion feel as you do.

Nothing original about this—'tis a psychological fact that folks soon adapt themselves to any situation; prosperity, peace, war, poverty, devastation. After the first shock they become less impressionable and await the outcome.

Pleasant thot:—to unfold your paper in the morning and get as your first impression of the previous day's humanity events, the peace, stability and progress of our own country, instead of the horror and sorrow devastation and conflict of poor Europe.

Our own country, our own problems, our own progress should come before the world's.

What we say about newspaper front pages and the war we believe applies to fiction, entertainment, recreation, eating, advertisements, business, store service.

After You Are Forty

Forty years is middle age or should be. People who squander their youth are old at 40; everybody needs to give a little more care to health and careful living after passing the fortieth milestone.

The reserve of strength is not what it used to be. Nature needs a little help if we are to continue the work and worry of modern life. To most people Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, non-alcoholic, but a supporting tonic, gives just the necessary assistance.

These pills make the thin blood rich and red, carry nourishment to weak and inflamed nerves, increases the appetite and make digestion normal, correct sleeplessness and most forms of headache. Try them for any trouble caused by thin blood or weak nerves such as anaemia, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, indigestion, sick headache or St. Vitus' dance. It is surprising how many diseases are due to thin and impure blood, how quickly they yield when by proper treatment the blood is built up and the starved nerves nourished. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no poisonous or habit-forming drugs and cannot do harm.

Pamphlets on the treatment of diseases of the blood and nerves will be sent free by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

WIENER THREAT APPARENT HOAX.

UNCLE NOT CERTAIN CAPTAIN HAS TWO CENTS.

Declares He Doesn't Know Upon What Nephew Based His Ability to Deprive Harvard of Ten-million-dollar Legacy Unless Prof. Munsterburg is Dropped from Faculty.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Whether or not Harvard University has been made the victim of the biggest hoax of its career is a question that is puzzling J. L. Ketterlinus, wealthy uncle of Maj. Clarence Wiener. The latter, veteran of the South African war, and now commanding a brigade of British artillery in France, is reported to have offered to bequeath Harvard $10,000,000 on condition that Prof. Hugo Munsterburg be released from the faculty for "unwarranted pro-German utterances."

Mr. Ketterlinus, who is the head of a large lithographing concern, at Fourth and Arch streets, was surprised when he learned today of his nephew's act.

"That's just like Clarence," said Ketterlinus, "but I'm not sure whether he has the $10,000,000 to leave Harvard or not. If he based the bequest upon a prospective inheritance from me, Harvard will be disappointed. I haven't $10,000,000 to leave anybody."

"Has Maj. Wiener $10,000,000?" Mr. Ketterlinus was asked.

"Not that I know of. Clarence has made some money, but he has had several ups and downs. I couldn't swear that he has more than 2 cents."

"Do you intend to make him your sole heir?" was asked.

"Well, hardly. I have no children, but my sister must be cared for."

Mr. Ketterlinus agreed that if Harvard was positive it would get $10,000,000 from Wiener, the institution knew more about his nephew's affairs than he did. Ketterlinus visited Capt. Wiener at Newcastle, Eng., last summer.

MUNSTERBERG GIVES HIS VIEW.

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) Oct. 15.—"I feel that I have let Harvard College out of a difficult situation by offering my resignation," said Prof. Hugo Munsterberg tonight in discussing his tender of withdrawal from the head of the department of psychology. His action followed a notification by Maj. Clarence Wiener of London that he would cancel a legacy of $10,000,000 to thec ollege unless the famous psychologist were separated from the institution.

Prof. Munsterberg would not discuss the reasons which prompted Maj. Wiener's action. In a postcard to Dean Briggs of Harvard, Maj. Wiener said he objected to Prof. Munsterberg's pro-German utterances. Both Maj. Wiener's attitude and Prof. Munsterberg's resignation probably will be taken up for action at the next meeting of the Harvard corporation, October 26.

PRINCESS MARY'S APPEAL.

Wants People of London to Aid Move to Send Something to Every Soldier and Sailor at Front.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Princess Mary has issued an appeal, in which she says:

"I want you all to help me send a Christmas present from the whole nation to every sailor afloat and every soldier at the front. On Christmas Eve, when, like the shepherds of old, they keep their watch, doubtless their thoughts will turn to home and loved ones left behind. Perhaps, too, they will recall the days when, as children themselves, they were wont to hang up their stockings, wondering what the morrow had in store.

"I am sure we will be happier on Christmas morning to feel that we have helped by sending our little token of love and sympathy—something useful or of permanent value, the making of which may be the means of providing employment in the trades adversely affected by the war."

It is hoped that the appeal will result in the raising of $500,000 for the provision of gifts taking the form of an embossed brass tobacco or cigarette box, pipe and tinder lighter, and candles for the Indian troops.

ASKS SOCIALISTS TO JOIN ALLIES.

BORDEAUX (via Paris,) Oct. 16.—An appeal to the Socialists of the neutral countries to join in the war on the side of the allies, appears in the newspaper France de Sudouest, credited to "one of the highest authorities of the Socialist party in France." The appeal says:

"Neutrality is but a lifeless formality, a crazy gang-plank on which their uncertainty has found momentary refuge. When the destinies of the world for centuries are at stake their duty is not to linger on the soft pillow of doubt. This war is no more the war we abominate; it is universal revolution which dawns."

Movement Halted.

onne, and several German trenches are reported to have been carried to the northeast of the road from Berry au Bac to Rheims and to the north of Prunay in the direction of Beine, which is slightly to the southeast of Rheims.

All this shows a determined and partly successful attempt to drive the Germans away from Rheims, which was again under bombardment today. The famous cathedral again has been made the target of the German artillery, the Germans accusing the French of having used the towers for military purposes. The French advance in this vicinity also indicates an attempt to break the German front and force a wedge between the German right and left wings.

The French also claim to have made an advance between the Meuse and the Moselle and, after having repulsed the German attacks, to have reached south of the road leading from Verdun to Metz. It probably is this fighting which the Germans referred to as having taken place in the region of Metz.

On the French right, where there has been quiet for some time, the Germans have attempted offensive tactics in the Ban de Sapt, north of Saint Die, but this movement has been definitely checked.

On the whole, the British military critics consider the communication is a "most cheerful one." They believe that the German advance to the French coast has been definitely checked, and that the advances reported elsewhere show that the Germans have been compelled to weaken their center and left in order to strengthen their right.

Although the Germans have failed to break the allied line and have themselves been compelled to give ground, they are now in a better position, having a front which stretches from the Swiss frontier to Antwerp and Dutch territory, so that there are no flanks which the allies can turn.

The allies can attempt to break the line, however, and this is believed to be what they are trying to do on the Belgian frontier. Of the fighting in Northern Belgium, the French communication simply says that German troops coming from Antwerp are marching toward the west and on the evening of October 14 reached the Bruges-Thielt district. The opposition offered to this advance was not very serious and apparently was intended only to delay it.

The Germans have occupied Bruges and probably at present are near Ostend. Their main force is believed, however, to have proceeded southward to assist in the attempt of the Germans to establish themselves on the French coast. With the forces of the allies occupying Ypres and doubtless other troops between that city and Nieuwpoort, ten miles southwest of Ostend, the Germans probably will be compelled to fight their next serious battle along the roads and railways running eastward from the coast. Again they may join Gen. Von Kluck's army, which occupies Lille and the country north of that city.

The residents of the country affected are rapidly making their way to the coast ports and to England. They bring reports of the prevalence of conditions approaching panic.

EXODUS.

Belgians now are coming to England in large numbers. About 3000 wounded Belgian soldiers have reached this country, while England is also getting more refugees from Holland, the towns and cities of which are overcrowded and are finding difficulty in feeding them.

Plans are under way for the repatriation of many of those who fled from Belgium on the approach of the Germans. A committee representing the refugees has gone to Antwerp to make arrangements with the German authorities for their return. The Germans, however, are unable to guarantee the safety of the innocent should any of the population fire upon or otherwise interfere with the German troops.

ALSACE.

The report comes today from Basel, through Rome, that the French have reoccupied the towns of Altkirch and Muelhausen in Alsace, but if this were so it probably would have been mentioned in the French official statement.

POLAND.

Of the big battle in Poland the Russian official report says there is no change to record. Rome is again responsible for the report that the Russians have defeated the Germans south of Warsaw, but this is believed to refer to the fighting in which the Russians yesterday claimed to have pressed the Germans back.

There has been more fighting south of Przemysl in Galicia on the Stry-Sambor-Medyka line, which disposes of the report that Lemberg has been evacuated by the Russians, and also throws doubt on another report that Przemysl has been relieved.

The Austrians say they are attacking the Russians in this position, while the Russians' report claims victory over the Austrians, from whom it says the Russians captured seven officers, 500 men and several machine guns.

EAST PRUSSIA.

In East Prussia, the Russians say, there is no change in the situation. The Germans, according to Berlin newspapers, have reoccupied Lyck, and for military reasons have moved the civilians out of Goldap, which is in the center of the region where the Russians are advancing.

AUSTRIA.

Austria, which next to Belgium is said to have received the hardest knocks of the war, has suffered another blow in the damage done by fire to a new battleship and several destroyers which were about completed at Monfalcone. This fire was incendiary and shows to what lengths Austria's internal enemies will go to cripple her. The battleship was to have been launched Sunday with imposing ceremonies.

The British cruiser Yarmouth has made an important capture in seizing the steamers Markomannia and Pontoporos, which had been acting as supply ships for the German cruiser Emden. The Emden has not been heard from since she sank a dozen British steamers in East Indian waters. The Markomannia, which was of the Hamburg-American line, was taken and sunk in the neighborhood of Sumatra. The Pontoporos, which is a Greek steamer, was taken to port.

The Australians also have helped cripple the German cruisers in the Pacific by the seizure of the German ship Comet with a wireless station aboard, which was to be utilized to keep in touch with them.

TURKEY.

The movements of the Turkish fleet, which has been strengthened by the former German cruisers Goeben and Breslau, and which has been cruising in the Black Sea, has led to the suspicion that it is about to attack the Russian fleet. Already firing has been heard off Kustendje. It was reported, however, that Turkey has hinted that unless more money is forthcoming she will be compelled to demobilize her army. Turkey usually raised funds in France and England.

GERMAN LOSES MID-AIR FIGHT.

British Aviator's Monoplane Proves Superior.

Automatic Guns of Invaders not Effective.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The official war bureau issues the narrative of an eye-witness from the headquarters of the British army in France, supplementing his story of October 11 of the movements of the British forces and the French army in touch with them. The narrative is dated October 13. It follows in part:

"From Friday, the 9th of October, until Monday, the 12th, so little occurred that a narrative of the events can be given in a few words.

"There has been the usual sporadic shelling of our trenches, which has resulted in but little harm, so well dug in are our men, and on the night of the 10th the Germans made a fresh assault, supported by artillery fire, against the central point, which has all along attracted most attention.

"The attempt was again a costly failure, towards which our guns were able to contribute with great effect."

"Details have now been received of an exciting encounter in midair. One of our aviators on a monoplane sighted a hostile machine, which turned out to be an Otto biplane, a type of machine which is not nearly as fast as ours. Our officer started in pursuit. He knew that owing to the position of the propellor of the hostile machine he could not be fired at when astern of his opponent. At sixty yards range he fired one rifle without apparent result. Then as his pace was carrying him ahead of his quarry he turned round and again coming to about the same distance emptied his magazine at the German.

"The latter began at once to descend as if either he or his machine were hit, and shutting off his engine and volplaning to free his hands, the pursuer recharged his magazine. He fired at his descending opponent, who disappeared into a cloud bank with dramatic suddenness.

"The French airmen, too, have been very successful during the last three days, having dropped several bombs among German cavalry, causing considerable loss and having by similar means silenced a battery of field howitzers.

"The German anti-air craft guns recently have been unusually active. From their rate of fire they seem to be nearly automatic, but so far they have not had much effect.

"A striking feature of our line is that it consists really of a series of trenches not all placed alongside each other, but some more advanced than others, and many facing in different directions. At one place they run east and west along one side of a valley. At another almost north and south up some subsidiary valley.

"Although both sides have moved forward at certain points and withdrawn at others, no important change has been effected in their dispositions, in spite of the enemy's repeated counter-attacks. These have been directed principally against one portion of the position won by us, but in spite of the lavish expenditure of life they have not so far succeeded in driving us back."

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

PLYMOUTH (Eng.) Oct. 15.—More transports bearing the first Canadian contingent of troops arrived here today. Those which arrived yesterday are ranged in pairs in the harbor at Devonport awaiting the order to discharge.

The music of bands mingled throughout the day with cheers and greetings as the men hailed each other from ship to ship. Only a few with official business were allowed ashore.

The Canadians received a debarkation order from the War Office unexpectedly this evening. Despite the rain, crowds turned out to watch the landing and entraining of the troops, which began with a contingent of Strathcona's Horse.

Extensive encampments have been prepared for the Canadians on Salisbury Plain. The first contingents are expected to arrive from Plymouth tonight.

In an editorial the newspaper demands to know who is responsible for the order, what it means and how it can be reconciled with Great Britain's obligations to her allies.

REPUTES BRITISH CHARGE.

German Ambassador Says England Inveigled Belgium into War and Then Deserted Her.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador here, today issued this statement:

"Concerning the Anglo-Belgian military agreement existing since 1906, a formal denial has been issued by England, which proves nothing. The documents are in the hands of the German authorities and will be published in full. The facts remain that a so-called "neutral" country concluded a military agreement with England which provided for landing of British troops in this 'neutral' country.

"England instigated Belgium to go to war and when the time came to protect the unfortunate little country it was left to its own resources. Germany, on the other hand, who had heard of Belgium's agreement with England at the beginning of this war, offered to protect Belgium and to pay full indemnity for all her losses. Germany would have religiously kept her promise."

ENGLAND APPOINTS SURGEONS.

Three Titled Physicians will Act as Consulting Experts with the British Forces in France.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The British Medical Journal states that the War Office has appointed Sir John Rose Bradford, Sir Wilmot Herringham and Sir Almoth Wright consulting physicians with the British expeditionary force in France. The three physicians, who will have the rank of colonel, will leave England next week accompanied by three expert bacteriologists.

Field Marshal Earl Kitchener, the journal says, also has decided to appoint a special army sanitary committee to advise the army council on all questions pertaining to the health of the troops.

The official news bureau tonight confirmed the appointment of the consulting physicians and added:

"Sir John Sloggett will be sent to France to make a thorough inspection of the medical arrangements and to co-ordinate the work of the army medical service with that of St. John's Ambulance and the Red Cross Society, of which he will be chief commissioner.

"Regarding the health of the army at home and abroad, the director-general of the Army Medical Corps reports it to be highly satisfactory. Nowhere is there undue prevalence of preventable disease, and the massing of the large bodies of men has not been attended by any untoward results. The utmost vigilance is being exerted to maintain the present position, and in order to insure greater security a sanitary committee has been appointed."

SAFE CONDUCT FOR NEUTRALS.

Great Britain will not Molest Civilians or Diplomats of Any Belligerent Power on High Seas.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Safe conduct will be given by Great Britain to all civilian officials and diplomatic officers of belligerent countries traveling aboard neutral ships, according to Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, who discussed the subject with Acting Secretary Lansing today at the State Department.

The general rule will be established that officials of any of the governments at war who are en route aboard neutral ships will not be molested. Great Britain seeking to restrain only those intending to render military service to her enemies from continuing their journeys.

ITALY'S POSITION MAY BE SHIFTED.

TRIBUNA SAYS NEUTRALITY IS TRANSITORY AND SUBJECT TO CHANGE.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, Oct. 15.—The Tribuna, in an article in which the situation is reviewed, says that the present war cannot be compared with that of 1866 or 1870, and that it is illusory to think that it will last only three, six or nine months.

"This is not a war of governments," says the paper, "but of nations, races. The fundamental interests involved, similar to those of the Napoleonic war, may result in its continuance for a year or years. Therefore, Italian neutrality is a transitory condition, due to circumstances which may change at any moment.

"There is a necessity for military, economic and diplomatic preparation on the part of the government and moral and political preparation on the part of the public.

"The future decisions of Italy will be taken with a view to the absolute exclusion from Italian interests of outside influences and unpractical idealisms."

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NACO (Ariz.) Oct. 15.—Fifteen of Gen. Hill's Carranzista troops defending Naco, Sonora, were killed today when Gen. Maytorena's attacking Yaqui forces on Hill also lost a machine gun. Gen. Hill is reported to have received reinforcements, and his advance party may make a final assault tonight.

The Southern Pacific depot on the American side and a string of freight cars were burned today, as the result of one well-aimed shell from the Mexican artillerymen.

Bullets from the corpses of several unburied Mexicans and from dead horses near the international boundary line has now become a menace to the American town.

ALLIES' LOSSES TREMENDOUS

German Shells Destroy Men at Each Shot.

Kaiser's Legions Saves Notre Dame Church.

Bombardment Kills Antwerp Citizens.

[BY WIRELESS AND A. P.]

BERLIN (via wireless to Sayville, L. I.) Oct. 15.—A telegram received here from Rotterdam says the Belgomes of the Belgian and French troops during the bombardment of Antwerp were tremendous. The shells from the German siege guns killed at one time between fifty and fifty soldiers in the allied trenches.

The statement from official sources to the effect that two German submarines were sunk in the attack off the Gulf of Riga last week on the Russian cruiser Pallada, was today given official credence in Berlin.

More than 2,000,000,000 marks ($500,000,000,) already has been subscribed in on the war loan. This is expected to reach 5,000,000,000 marks more than the amount required.

GERMANS SAVE NOTRE DAME.

When the German troops entered Antwerp, according to information given out in Berlin today, the Cathedral of Notre Dame was in danger of being burned. The troops devoted their energies to stopping the spread of the flames and the church was saved.

Not more than twelve civilians were killed in Antwerp during the entire bombardment. A German officer who was sent in a report to the effect that the Russian major, on the East Prussian frontier, forced the inhabitants of the villages under his control to precede the Russian troops in the attack. Furthermore, he used women and children as shields for the Russian soldiers. Later this major was court-martialed and shot by the Germans.

Dr. Von Bethmann Hollweg, the Imperial Chancellor, accompanied by his suite, arrived in Brussels from his headquarters of Wednesday, October 14.

SUBMARINE SINKS CRUISER.

Information concerning the progress of the war was given out in Berlin today, as follows:

"German troops in Belgium are now marching in part northward and in part in a southwesterly direction toward the French frontier. The headquarters of Emperor William has been moved from Belgium to France. The armored cruiser Pallada of 6000 tons, built in 1906, has been torpedoed by a German submarine at the entrance to the Gulf of Riga. The torpedo launched by the British submarine caused an explosion on board the cruiser and the Russian vessel with her entire crew of 600 men sank straight to the bottom.

"There has been heavy fighting in France east of Soissons and in the Argonne. The French official reports about successes in the Woevre district are untrue. The Germans have not lost ground. Etain (twelve miles to the east of Verdun,) is in German hands. French attacks against the position near Mt. Mihiel have been repulsed. The booty secured by Antwerp cannot yet be estimated. Twenty-six thousand Belgians and Englishmen have been interned in Holland. In the harbor of Antwerp we found thirty-two German steamers, the boilers of which, however, had been disabled.

"Russian forces have been defeated near Schirwindt (in East Prussia) nineteen miles to the east of Eydtkuhnen, with a loss of 1500 men and twenty cannon. German troops have repulsed the Russians south of Warsaw and hold Southern Poland as far as the Vistula River.

"Emperor William, acting on a petition handed him by Cardinal Hartmann of Cologne, has ordered that French Catholic priests among the prisoners in Germany who are officers in the French ranks as common soldiers shall be treated in Germany in the same manner as are French officers.

"It is reported here from Rotterdam that a German torpedo boat destroyer has sunk or discovered six vessels of Norwegian, Swedish and Danish registry loaded with goods and provisions destined for London and Grimsby and also for Russia. All were taken to Swinemunde.

Germany Editors Comment on Finding of Documents Proving Holland and Belgian Neutrality Violated.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, Oct. 14.—Allegations of the Belgian General Staff as described "English intervention in Belgium," which are said to have been found by German military authorities in Brussels, are causing comment in German newspapers, some of which were received here today. The Berliner Zeitung says the documents should long ago it was decided by Germany that Belgium would be a battlefield in war that Belgium would be a battlefield in France and England. The Berliner Tages Zeitung declares it is evident that the neutral states will have to speak about "the brutal violation of the poor, innocent little Belgium."

"The documents show," says the Vossische Zeitung, "the duplicity of England and her indifference to Belgium, also show the wisdom of Chancellor Greindl (the Belgian Minister to Berlin) who had the right opinion in trusting English protection. The contradiction was realized, Belgium suffered from a thousand wounds and England, on behalf of British interests and in indignation of the English people over the sanctity of a treaty, was a hypocrisy."

London Cafes, Restaurants and Saloons are Ordered to Close at 11 O'Clock Instead of 12.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The closing hour for restaurants, cheap cafes and saloons, which had been fixed in the early stages of the war at 12 o'clock at night, will be made 11 o'clock beginning Monday next. At Piccadilly and Greenwich the closing hour will be 7 p.m., and the suggestion has been made that saloons open at 10 o'clock in the morning instead of 11 o'clock as at present.

The curtailment of the hours is apparently is due to the desire of the authorities to keep drunkenness at a minimum.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Adjournment of the Mexican convention at Aguascalientes last night, without acting on the proposed resignation of Gen. Carranza as first chief, pending the arrival of additional delegates representing Zapata, was announced today in official dispatches to the State Department from Consular Agents Carothers and Canova. October 20 was tentatively agreed upon as the date for reconvening the convention.

In secret session yesterday the convention agreed that its authority in Mexico should be declared supreme on the arrival of the Zapatistas. The reports indicated that Carranza's resignation was not actually presented and would not be until the convention reconvened.

DENIAL AT MEXICO CITY.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—The Mexican Foreign Minister, Ysidro Fabela, today denied that Gen. Carranza had resigned the supreme power of the Constitutionalists in favor of Antonio Villareal, Governor of the State of Nuevo Leon.

Minister Fabela said that Gen. Carranza considered that the action of the Mexico City convention in rejecting his resignation settled the question, but if the convention at Aguascalientes voted to reconsider the matter, Carranza, with the same high patriotism and disinterestedness, would bow to the will of the majority.

Reports from Aguascalientes are that the question of the Presidential succession was settled at a secret session today.

PRIESTS DESIRE TO QUIT MEXICO.

MANY NUNS AT VERA CRUZ TO BE GIVEN TRANSPORTATION BY FUNSTON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Gen. Funston reported to the War Department today that sixty-five priests and nuns are in Vera Cruz who desire to leave Mexico. Arrangements are being made for their transportation.

Col. Hatfield, at Naco, Ariz., telegraphed Secretary Garrison today that Gov. Maytorena had at least 4000 troops attacking the Carranza garrison, that he was looking for 500 men from the Cananea district, and that a large force of reinforcements were expected from Nogales. Col. Hatfield said no more United States troops were needed to enforce order at the border town.

Charges that Maytorena's men have repeatedly crossed and recrossed the American border in the attacks on Naco and Agua Prieta, threatening serious complications with the United States, were made today by Roberto Pesqueira in a message to the Aguascalientes convention, sent yesterday from San Antonio, Tex., according to an announcement by the Constitutionalist agency here tonight. The convention was asked to call Gen. Villa's attention to the matter that he might take steps to prevent complications with the United States.

Pesqueira also declared it dangerous to permit ex-Huerta officers to join the Constitutionalist forces. He urged that the convention adopt a resolution prohibiting such enlistments. He said forty-eight ex-Federal officers had been accepted by Villa and that others were negotiating with the purpose of enlisting.

The Villa headquarters here denounced as untrue tonight reports from the Carranza agency at El Paso that Villa had confiscated properties worth $1,000,000 in the State of Durango. A dispatch from Villa sources to this effect was made public.

SUPREME POWER FOR CONVENTION.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 15.—All the military chieftains, including Francisco Villa, Emiliano Zapata and Venustiano Carranza, are now subject to the orders of the Aguascalientes convention, which today, after a stormy secret session, voted itself the supreme power of the land. The delegates took oath to abide by the majority vote on all questions, including the form of government and Presidential succession.

The question of the kind of government that shall prevail will be decided at a session to be held October 20, when a full Zapata delegation, numbering twenty-two men, will be present.

Prominent delegates to the conference say the question of further strife in Mexico City has been definitely decided and that peace is assured. A majority of the delegates lean toward a commission form of government until general elections can be held, though many of them favor Antonio I. Villareal for the provisional Presidency.

FLEE FRANCE AND BELGIUM.

REFUGEES ARE NOW ARRIVING AT ENGLISH PORTS.

Even Fishing Boats are Used to Get the People Out of Ostend, Many of Whom are Taken to Calais and Then Sent on to Folkestone.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

FOLKESTONE (Eng., via London,) Oct. 15—The cross-channel steamers, which have been busy for days past transporting refugees from Ostend, which port is now closed, owing to the approach of the Germans, are being employed now in bringing refugees from Dunkirk and Calais. These refugees are Belgians, who succeeded in getting to France from their own country, and owing to the panicky feeling in the French port, are now just as anxious to come to England.

Leopold II, one of the regular Ostend liners, which left here last night, was warned not to enter Ostend, and proceeded to Dunkirk, where she remained until late this afternoon, when the vessel returned to Folkestone.

Heavy firing could be heard at Dunkirk throughout the night, but it was said that the Germans were a long way from the town.

The Princess Henrietta, which left Ostend yesterday with Belgian soldiers who were landed at Calais, also arrived here this afternoon, bringing refugees. Calais, they reported, is filling up with people from the surrounding country and from Belgium. A fleet of fishing boats has also arrived filled with passengers from coast ports. Three thousand Belgium wounded have arrived here. Some have not had their wounds dressed for six days.

MAN WHO KILLED ARCHDUKE FERDINAND PLEADS GUILTY.

Prisoner Grows Eloquent as He Declared His Object was to Show the World the Desperation to which the Whole Slav Population Under Austria had been Reduced.

[BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.]

ROME, Oct. 15.—Additional details have been received here of the arraignment at Sarajevo Tuesday of Gavrio Prinzip, the assassin of Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria, together with Prinzip's wife and twenty-one other alleged accomplices in the crime.

According to these details, Prinzip in addition to having admitted that he shot the Archduke and his wife, declared that far from repenting his deed, he was proud of what he had done. It was not a crime, he said, as his object was not to kill a man, but to show the world the desperation to which the whole Slav population under Austria had been reduced.

After the Slavs had tried by every means, legal and illegal, to obtain justice and recognition of their rights, Prinzip said, Austria continued to trample on their nationality, language, culture, religion and everything which the Slav nation as a whole or families as individuals considered most sacred, using all the weapons at its disposal.

The moment arrived when rebellion was a duty; when the only thing possible was to resist by striking at the individual who incarnated such a despotic, retrograde and cruel tyranny," Prinzip declared.

The prisoner grew eloquent as he proceeded, declaring that he was no more a criminal than those Hungarians, Italians, Poles or Irishmen "who because of the same distressing conditions in their countries during the nineteenth century followed Kossuth, Mazzini, Mieroslavski and Daniel O'Connell in attacking tyrants and tyranny, regardless of the means they used."

Prinzip admitted that he regretted the death of the Archduke's wife. He said he alone was responsible for the assassination, and that the others accused with him were more unconscious instruments than thinking factors in the crime.

The judge interrupted Prinzip several times during his narrative, but Prinzip insisted that he asked only the right to demonstrate his point of view so he would not be considered a common criminal. This was not, he said, because he hoped or desired to escape punishment. He knew before the murder that the sacrifice of his life was necessary to hasten the day of the liberation of his brothers, he declared. Here the judge stopped his remarks.

STEAMER SINKS IN COLLISION.

PASSENGERS AND CREW SAVED AS VESSEL GOES DOWN.

Freighter Bound for San Francisco Rams Ship Just Arrived from Colon in Lower New York Harbor. Prompt Aid Prevents Panic as Boats are Lowered.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The steamer Metapan, coming in from Colon, foundered in the lower harbor late today after a collision with the freighter Iowan, leaving port for San Francisco. All her seventy-seven passengers and her crew were rescued. The Iowan, less seriously damaged, stood by and her boats took aboard two of the Metapan's passengers. The remainder were transferred to the rescuing craft and were landed in New York tonight.

The freighter remained at a late hour at anchor near the scene of the collision. The extent of the damage to her could not be learned definitely, but passengers on the Metapan said her bow was badly twisted.

The Metapan is a United Fruit Company steamer and sailed from Colon on October 8 for this port. The crash with the Iowan as she was nearing port occurred in a dense fog, according to her officers and passengers. The freighter was first seen when she was only a short distance away. In an effort to avert the crash the Iowan is said to have let go her anchor, but the headway was greater than she could overcome. She hit the Metapan about thirty feet from the bow of the ship on the port quarter, plowing through the steel and iron and inflicting a wound that caused the Metapan to fill quickly.

The wireless operator on the Metapan immediately sent "S.O.S." calls for assistance, which were answered quickly by six or eight vessels which were near, among them being the United States dredge Atlantic, working about a quarter of a mile distant, and the British cruiser Lancaster, on patrol duty off this harbor.

As soon as it was seen that the steamer was sinking, Capt. H. Spencer of the Metapan asked the pilot who had just come aboard the way to the nearest shoal water, and the vessel was headed in that direction. He also ordered out the boats and all hands were taken off the steamer without panic or confusion.

Among the passengers were J. Campbell Besley and two of the members of his exploration party into Peru.

J. K. Holbrook, a member of this party, said:

"I was standing on the deck well forward when the collision occurred. I saw the ship that struck us coming up out of the fog running, apparently at full speed. The shock was terrific, and the Metapan keeled over on her starboard side. The Iowan was swung around broadside with us by the force of the impact and for a time hung close to our ship. It could be seen that the Metapan was doomed, and I heard Capt. Spencer ask the direction of the nearest shoal water. He then ordered out the boats and we were in them and floating about the sinking ship in a very short time."

Late reports were that the Metapan was lying partly on her side in about twenty feet of water with her decks awash. The derelict destroyer Seneca moved out to her tonight and remained standing by, as did several wrecking tugs.

AN

and up is the price we have on our 1500-acre subdivision at Earlimart, Tulare county. This land we have divided into 10, 20 and 40-acre tracts and are in position to give you terms of $1 an acre cash and $1 an acre per month, or one-fourth cash and the balance on easy terms.

Water conditions on this tract are perfect, soil ideal for alfalfa and fruit. Graded roads and fine alfalfa fields on all sides, and school within half a mile.

Just think of buying 10 acres of first-class land for less money than you can buy a city lot. This proposition is something you cannot afford to let go by without investigating.

We can show you over 1500 acres of the finest alfalfa to be found in the States, adjoining our lands. We can show you over 400 acres of the finest Kaffir corn that was raised this season in 20 and 40-acre pieces right in our district. We can show you a number of farmers adjoining our tract that are feeding between 150 and 200 head of cattle right at this time. Hogs, chickens and turkeys are in evidence everywhere. We can show you over 50 private pumping plants right in our district, within a radius of 4 miles. Remember, we are on the main line of the Southern Pacific, also on the State highway, 2 miles from one town and 5 miles from another.

Every acre of our land was in wheat this season, and if you see it now you will have a good idea of how productive the soil really is.

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 21, we will have another cheap-rate excursion and if you are interested in high-class acreage come in and make your arrangements to go up with us and investigate our property.

THE CITY AND ENVIRONS.

EVENTS BRIEFLY TOLD

Not Gone for Good.

A consignment of fifteen Chinese alleged to have entered the country unlawfully were taken north yesterday by steamer from this port to San Francisco and will sail for China this afternoon. Most of them expect to be back again by the next steamer, entering the United States through Mexico.

War and Civilization.

Notice was received yesterday by City Club officials that the European war lecture tonight at the Polytechnic High School will be given by Dr. I. W. Howerth of the University of California instead of Prof. Ira B. Cross, as at first announced. Dr. Howerth will speak on "The War and Civilization." The lectures are free.

Jews Will Seek Aid.

Prominent Jews of the city will hold a meeting at Christopher's today at noon to devise ways and means of raising funds for the relief of their stricken people in the war zone and in the Orient. A large committee has been named by I. R. Rubin, president of the local lodge of the order of B'nai B'rith, and a strong appeal has been sent broadcast among the Jews calling for aid. Some definite plan will probably be outlined today.

Sinai Temple.

A special musical service will be held at Sinai Temple, Twelfth and Valencia streets, on Friday evening, October 16, at 8 o'clock, with the Rev. J. Weinstock officiating. A new anthem, "And the Children of Israel Shall Keep the Sabbath," will be sung for the first time by the quartette. Charles N. Hassler, the baritone, will sing "Arise! He Calleth Thee," by Rudney. At the Saturday morning service the choir will be augmented by the Sabbath-school chorus.

Temple B'nai B'rith.

The Sabbath services at the Temple B'nai B'rith will be held this evening at 8 o'clock and tomorrow morning at 10:30. Dr. Hecht will conduct the services and preach tonight on "Citizenship From the Standpoint of Judaism." Tomorrow morning he will give an expository talk on the opening chapters of Genesis. The children's Sabbath service will be resumed for the season tomorrow morning at 9:45, when Dr. Hecht will deliver a sermonette to his juvenile congregation.

Population of State Institutions.

The State Board of Charities and Corrections has issued a bulletin showing the number of inmates of the several State institutions on the 1st inst., as follows: Industrial Home for Adult Blind, 115, an increase of 3 over the same time last year; State reform schools, 655, increase, 9; State hospitals for the insane, 4883, increase, 475; State prisons, 2360, increase, 328; Sonoma State Home, 1040, increase, 18; total, 14,050, increase, 834. Of the inmates of insane asylums 294 are classed as inebriates.

Splitting Commissions Yet?

Alleging that several foremen of construction camps engaged on county work are "splitting commissions" with employment bureaus and refusing to accept men supplied by the municipal bureau, Harry A. Donoho, superintendent of the latter institution, entered a complaint with the Board of Supervisors yesterday. The Supervisors recently instructed all contractors doing work for the county that they should employ men from the municipal bureau rather than from the paid bureaus. The complaint was referred to Road Commissioner Joyner.

Bible Class at Immanuel Church.

Arrangements have been made by the Bible Institute for the meeting of the Friday night Bible class in Immanuel Presbyterian Church, until the great institute building is completed. The class will meet every Friday evening and is entirely free to the public. Dr. R. A. Torrey, dean of the institute, and well-known evangelist and author, will teach the lesson for the following Sunday, at 8:15. At 7:15, L. F. Peckham will conduct a song service and at 7:30 Rev. J. H. Hunter will conduct a class on the books of the New Testament. His theme this evening will be "The Connecting Link Between the Old and New Testaments."

Great Sunday-school's Musical Plans.

A plan is on foot to organize a musical section in connection with the great Sunday-school of the First Methodist Church, under Charles S. Lamb, musical director of the school. In furtherance of this plan, Arthur Marshall Perry, a member of the faculty of the college of music, U.S.C., has been elected director of the orchestra. He is well known as the possessor of exceptional talent and the organization will be broadened and strengthened. The school now has an enrollment of over 3600, which fact gives importance to the movement. Dr. H. W. Brodbeck, superintendent, says it is the development of a long-cherished purpose.

Meeting of Credit Men.

The Associated Retail Credit Men of Los Angeles will hold their annual meeting at the Jonathan Club on Tuesday evening at 6:30. Reports will be made of the year's work and new officers will be elected.

Cradle Songs of Nations.

There will be an entertainment tonight at the Bungalow Chapel of the Church of Messiah, Washington street and Van Ness avenue, called the "Cradle Songs of the Nations." Representatives of various countries will be dressed in the costumes of their native lands and sing their folk songs that are sung at eventide when the babies are put to bed.

Auto-Bus Protest Meeting.

The people of Boyle Heights will hold a mass meeting tonight in the Breed-street school building, to protest against the proposed ordinance to tax auto-busses which have recently taken up passenger-carrying business on the city streets. Speakers will be present to address the meeting and it is believed one or more members of the City Council will be in attendance to explain the attitude of that body.

Los Angeles Oratorio Society.

The name of the People's Chorus has been changed to that of the Los Angeles Oratorio Society. The new conductor is Frederick Brueschweiler. Rehearsals are being held every Tuesday evening in one of the recital halls in Trinity Auditorium building. Handel's "Messiah" will be given about the middle of December, and good singers who wish to avail themselves of studying standard works are invited to join the society.

Legal Lights Luncheon.

The Legal Lights Club, comprising fifty young women lawyers, will give a luncheon at Union League tomorrow noon in honor of the new women students at the U.S.C. College of Law. The guests will be Miss McGee, Miss Snyder, Miss Isenee, Miss Schoonover, Miss Johnson, Miss Poggi, Miss Ronan, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Traweek and Mrs. Crenshaw. Miss Beulah Wright will give a talk on her escape from the war zone in Europe. Miss Rose Phillips, president of the club, will be toastmistress.

Victor Valley Meeting.

The Victor Valley Club, composed of a large number of people who have invested in lands in Victor Valley, held a meeting last night in Burbank Hall. The question of an adequate water supply is one of great importance to the land owners, and J. B. Lippincott, who recently made a trip through the valley inspecting the water sources, was the principal speaker last night. M. N. Newmark, who attended the reclamation congress at Helena, Mont., also delivered an address covering the work of the congress. There was a general discussion of the water question by various persons.

GRIEF REPLACES WEDDING.

Trousseau and wedding costumes were laid aside in the Lietsky household at No. 939 East Twelfth street yesterday and its members donned the somber garbs of mourning. Early yesterday morning Mrs. John Nupoff, daughter of the house, died from a bullet wound inflicted by her divorced husband, a commission merchant, who killed himself. In the evening her brother was to have married Miss Anna Glick.

Mrs. L. P. Tresler, who lived in the house next that of the Lietsky family, and with whom Nupoff roomed for two days while he sought reconciliation with his wife, was yesterday declared out of danger. She swooned upon learning of the tragedy and her condition was considered critical because of a weak heart.

AFTER THE SANTA FE.

An action was filed in the United States District Court yesterday by the government against the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad to recover a judgment of $1000 for two cases of alleged violation of the hours of service law, it being charged that two telegraph operators, F. L. Couch and C. L. Winter, were allowed to work more than nine hours out of each twenty-four, as provided by the Interstate Commerce Act.

About 200 loyal Whittier boosters attended a banquet at the Woman's Clubhouse in East Whittier this evening and the preliminary work was done towards organizing the Whittier Chamber of Commerce. The constitution for the new organization was approved. President O. H. Barr of the Board of Trade and President F. Robbins of the Commercial Club spoke on the advantages to be gained by a consolidation of the two bodies under a new name.

With the completion of the organization of the new Chamber of Commence it is understood that both these organizations will disband and a larger and more efficient work will be undertaken by the newly organized civic body.

Medical Authority Slams Coffee Use

Says Its All Right as a Medicine But Not as a Food—Contains Destructive Caffeine.

"Tea and coffee are not in any sense food, therefore cannot add constructive tissue to our bodies," declares Dr. Joseph M. Aikin of Omaha, Neb. "This is not the worst of it," says Dr. Aikin. "Any substance that is not wholly a food, or that contains destructive in excess of constructive elements for tissue building, is harmful.

"The caffeine and thein in coffee and tea are cerebral stimulants, the tannic acid is an astringent, affecting especially the muscular fibers in the intestinal walls. They are useful as medicine, but not as food. Tea and coffee inebriety is increasing more rapidly than our native born population."

NOTE—Children not only desire but often need a warm nourishing table drink as much as their parents. Consequently with the banishment of the coffee pot from the family table INSTANT POSTUM finds ready favor. This delicious food-drink is absolutely pure and free from the coffee drug "caffeine."

Rush Begins.

HARBOR IS TERMINAL OF NEW TRADE LANE.

Heavy Traffic of the Seas Points its Prows this Way.

Steamship Company Announces Schedule Bringing Ships to Los Angeles from New York Every Five Days and Mail Service Between this City and Hawaii—Local Trade Steamers Admitted to American Registry.

The new trade lane with Los Angeles harbor as one terminal and increased service from coast to coast was announced yesterday by officials of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company on his arrival from New York. Simultaneously Dodge & Hoyt of San Francisco announced that this harbor will be made a port of call for the two steamships which the concern has agreed to run from San Francisco-New York.

Beginning with the opening of the Panama season, about December 15, the eight largest American-built freighters will be put in an eighty-day round-trip service between New York and the Hawaiian Islands, with Los Angeles harbor as the only ports of call in this country. At the same time, six freighters, equipped with special refrigeration plants, will begin citrus service between San Francisco, Los Angeles and Honolulu. Besides these eight of the concern's steamers will be assigned to regular service about the same time, sailing will be Seattle, San Francisco and San Diego and Boston.

In order to make this drastic revision in the service Los Angeles will be given preference only to that of New York, for the twenty-six freighters owned by the concern, fourteen will make regular calls here, while four others have been reserved for tramp service or pickup cargoes and will doubtless make frequent calls here.

A recapitulation of the service to be offered shows a steamer inbound every five days and outbound every ten days. The present interval between both in and outbound steamers is ten days.

"West-bound business is bully;" eastbound is first-class," said Mr. Lapham yesterday in discussing shipping conditions. "In New York the harbor is cluttered with foreign shipping, but for American bottoms there is plenty of business, especially between the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards."

The recasting of the American-Hawaiian's sugar trade lane so as to touch Los Angeles was not unexpected. It is a recognition of a fact which has been often pointed out, that the great circle route between the Panama Canal and the Hawaiian Islands and the Orient passes just outside Los Angeles Harbor.

The steamers assigned to the new service are the Missourian, Virginian, Kansan, Alaskan, Arizonan, Texan, Columbian and Mexican, all of 12,000 tons burden. West-bound they will carry general cargoes to this city and the islands; returning they will handle sugar over a direct route to the Pacific entrance of the canal.

TAKES WOMAN'S GOLD.

Bandit Holds up Caller at a Friend's House and Robs Her of Hundred and Ninety Dollars.

Mrs. B. Mernick called on friends at No. 708½ North Alameda street last night for the first time in three years. As she was leaving a bandit held her up and took $190 from her purse. All but $15 was in gold.

Because of her duties as proprietress of a rooming-house at No. 672 Selina street, visiting is an unusual diversion for Mrs. Mernick, as she has to be in charge of her house every night. Last night a friend volunteered to attend to the place, so she made a call. She had said "good night" and hurried to the sidewalk when a man with a revolver in his hand stopped her. She was so shocked with fright that she thrust up her hands before there was any command. The bandit snatched her purse, emptied it into his pockets, and threw it at her. Then he ran.

ALL DAIRYMEN RAP JOHNSON.

STATE ORGANIZATION INDICTS THE GOVERNOR.

Charges Him with Contempt of Important Industry Whose Heads Meet in Convention Today—Says He Refused Recognition and Vetoed Vital Laws.

The annual convention of the California State Dairy Association will open at Modesto today. The association, which is non-partisan, will receive a report from its officers entitled "Our Impeachment of Gov. Johnson."

This report declares that Gov. Johnson is a city man, imbued only with city instincts and sympathies, and that he has played invariably into the hands of city interests and against the agricultural interests, of which he appears to be ignorant; that he has vetoed every association dairy bill, notwithstanding they passed both houses of the Legislature by a vote of more than three to one; and that, furthermore, he forced through certain bills obnoxious to the dairymen which are known as administration measures.

The lengthy report on the political situation that will be read and distributed at the convention, asserts that for years there has not been a single dairy breeder nor dairyman on the State Board of Agriculture; that in November, 1913, when there were three vacancies, the Governor was petitioned to appoint at least one dairyman on this State board, and that he did not even acknowledge receipt of the request. Later, in January, 1914, when there were seven vacancies and a request was made for the appointment of at least one dairyman, Johnson, by letter, contemptuously refused recognition to this industry.

At the preliminary meeting of the convention yesterday, John M. Eshleman and C. H. Rowell, sent by Gov. Johnson, attempted to usurp the gathering for the purpose of condemning the literature impeaching Johnson already sent out by the dairy association. After talking an hour and a half, insisting on action by the convention, it was voted to reject their demands.

The association officers now say that Johnson is running around the State making frantic efforts to square himself with the dairymen and farmers and is resorting to various explanations, all of which are branded as "rank, fales pretense."

The association, in taking a hand in

HONEYMOON'S ALL OFF NOW.

Bride Accuses Husband of Slapping Her Face.

Unhappiness Overtakes Rich Pittsburgh Man.

Climax of Third Marriage in Police Court.

When O. F. Foss, a millionaire inventor of Pittsburgh, came to Los Angeles ten months ago with his young bride he told friends he was the happiest man on earth; that he had married one of the loveliest girls in the world, and having an immense income was satisfied to pass the remainder of his days in the glorious Southland. Yesterday he cursed the day that he arrived here and said if he could only return to his eastern home and start life anew his greatest wish would be gratified.

Mr. Foss's remorse is not attributed to any dislike for the Golden West, but is the culmination of marital troubles which have ruined his business, broken up his home and caused his arrest on a charge of battery preferred by his wife. He appeared before Police Judge Chambers yesterday afternoon, offered a plea of not guilty to the charge, and was dismissed upon his own recognizance to appear next Tuesday for a hearing.

AT FRIEND'S HOME.

In her complaint, which was issued by Deputy City Prosecutor Brown, Mrs. Foss alleges that her husband struck her in the face on the night of September 23 while she was a guest at the home of a friend on South Hobart boulevard.

That he had slapped Mrs. Foss was not denied by the husband when interviewed late yesterday afternoon in his suite at the Hayward, where he has been staying for several months. He said, however, that the blow was delivered at a time when he was so infuriated he forgot himself. She had been out with a party of gay revelers automobiling, he said, and he had followed her a greater part of the night. When he came face to face with her at the home of her friend and asked her where she had been he said she told him it was none of his business. He then struck her and returned to his hotel.

Mr. Foss has had several detectives on the bride's trail for three months and he declares he has secured enough evidence to name one or more wealthy young men of this city in a suit he contemplates bringing for alienation of her affections.

Friends of Mr. Foss said last night that he squandered his entire fortune on his wife, and that his inventions, which were paying him $10,000 a month upon his arrival here, are giving him practically no returns now. They declare he was insanely infatuated with Mrs. Foss, and when she began to spurn his love it made a physical wreck of him.

THIRD VENTURE.

He invented the Foss postage stamp vending machine, the Foss motion-picture machine and the Foss cheese-cutting machine, receiving heavy royalties from all of them. They are in general use throughout the United States. His marriage to the woman who now would place him in jail was his third matrimonial venture. By his first two wives he has two chil-

Mrs. Zora A. Grider,

Who filed suit for separate maintenance yesterday against Leroy M. Grider. They have been married thirty-five years and are living in different parts of the Grider home on East Pico street, before which an armed guard is patroling.

HOUSE DIVIDED, ALSO GUARDED.

AFTER THIRTY-FIVE YEARS A MARRIAGE FAILS.

Mrs. Grider Seeks Separate Maintenance on Cruelty Complaint. Living Apart in Same Residence, Before which Sentry Walks—Husband, in Grief, Refuses to Speak.

Although the Grider household at No. 1160 East Pico street appears gloomy it is in a seething condition and hostilities may break out any minute. On the sidewalk in front is an armed guard to preserve order, who slowly patrols his beat.

In the house itself lives Leroy M. Grider, proprietor of Birdland, and president of the Grider-Hamilton-Oswald Company, real estate dealers, on one side, and his wife, Mrs. Zora A. Grider, and their daughter, Mrs. Isabella Moore, and her little six-year-old daughter, on the other.

The telephone has been disconnected, Mrs. Grider decdares her husband will not allow newspapers in the house. Visitors also are barred. The Griders have been married thirty-five years.

This condition of affairs came to light yesterday when Mrs. Grider sued for separate maintenance, asking $500 a month. She alleges her husband is worth $250,000. She also declares that he began to drink fifteen years ago, and has grown worse, so that now he is intoxicated almost daily. Mrs. Grider in her complaint also alleges he accuses her of misconduct.

Last night as Mr. Grider paced to and fro among his many birds and treasures at Birdland, next door to the residence, he refused to discuss the case, seeming too overcome with grief. Tall and erect, like a military man, he silently pointed to the pictures of his wife and daughter on his desk, and then turned away, his eyes in tears. He referred reporters to his attorney, but he could not be reached.

Mrs. Grider charges that he speaks to her in gruff tones, in the form of peremptory orders. She also says he terrifies her by walking up and down in the house at all hours of the night, and that frequently she awakens from sleep to find him within a few feet of her bed, silently staring at her.

The Griders were married at Downey March 5, 1879. They have two children, Mrs. Isabelle Moore and Charles C. Grider.

The order to show cause will be heard Monday by Judge Monroe.

SHOES ADVANCING IN PRICE.

So Says Dealer, and may go Higher Yet, all on Account of the War. Looking South for Relief.

A scarcity of shoe leather is alarming American shoe manufacturers, according to the report of R. H. Launder, wholesale shoe dealer of Boston, who is a guest at the Angelus. Most of the tanned cow hides from which shoes are made come from Russia, Austria and Germany, countries which are now too busy fighting to give attention to trade.

"The scarcity of shoe leather has caused an increase of an average of 25 cents a pair on shoes," Mr. Launder said. "If the war lasts until next spring, I believe that shoes will increase $1 a pair. The cowhides available in America are only about one-twentieth enough for the shoe manufacturers. We are now looking to South America for relief."

SELL HER NO MORE!

Police Judge Chambers yesterday ordered that every liquor dealer in the city be notified that Dena Michelsen, 60 years old, is a habitual drunkard and must be refused intoxicants. The order was given to the City Prosecutor following the hearing of evidence in the case of the old woman, whom he sentenced to fifteen days in jail. In giving the order the court invoked a legal right rarely used. The woman was unable to be in court. She is in the County Hospital, where she has been since Sunday, when she was arrested in a raid on a cottage on Turner street. She had been kept a prisoner without food. Other inmates of the house, found drunk, are in the City Jail.

DRUGS TO RISE LIKE INCENSE.

Officials Destroy Contraband Opium Today.

Priceless "Hop" Pipes Also to Feed Costly Fire.

Police Squad to Keep Sniffing Spectators Away.

A $25,000 bonfire, the flames of which will be fed by confiscated marihuana, contraband opium, and priceless "hop" pipes will be ignited by inspectors for the State Board of Pharmacy at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Plaza.

That sniffing spectators may not stray too close and perchance inhale of the dream-giving blend, Chief of Police Sebastian will have a squad of officers on hand. But cops are not gods of the wind and the inspectors promise incense a-plenty.

Roy Jones, chief inspector for the southern division, of the State board, will direct the proceedings. E. E. Leighton, attorney for the board, who suggested the public burning for its propaganda effect, will have as his guests city and county officials. Films of the bonfire will be shown over the country with statistics of drug consumption and their result upon those addicted.

One ton of marihuana or "Indian hemp" is in storage for the fire. It is a weed with narcotic properties and is smoked when dry. It is in particular favor with Mexicans, and police detectives charge it with the responsibility for many revolting crimes. It is an inconsistent drug, sometimes inducing visions of grandeur and at other times exciting the angry passions of its users. The ton at retail rates would bring $16,000. A great number of tael cans of opium appraised at $7000 will furnish additional fuel.

Among the confiscated goods are some fifty opium pipes. The unrelenting war which Inspector Jones and his men have waged on the "hop" has reduced the number and greatly increased the value of the pipes and accessories. The older the pipe the greater it is prized. Not only does age increase the sentimental attachment to the pipe, but the user's opium bill is greatly cut down. According to the inspectors, the older the pipe the less poppy juice is necessary to give a "kick." The fifty are valued at about $500.

One was taken from old Lim Tie, who has smoked since he was a boy. Lim was convicted in a justice court and paid his $300 fine ungrudgingly. But when the officers told him his pipe would be confiscated tears came into his eyes. He offered first $50 for its return and then by $50 jumps brought the price up to $400.

OVER THE RAILING.

Man Found at Bridge, Where He Lay Many Hours, Says Negro Footpad Threw Him Under.

Thrown from the Seventh-street bridge to the river bed, fifteen feet below, V. E. Roberts, a laborer, lay eight hours until he was discovered by a patrolman early yesterday morning and taken to the Receiving Hospital. No bones were broken, but there were lacerations and abrasions on the head, arms and body.

Mr. Roberts told the police that as he was leaving the bridge at 9 o'clock Wednesday night a negro stepped from the shadows and ordered him to throw up his hands. The victim says he showed fight and the footpad dealt him a stunning blow which felled him. Then the negro seized him and tossed him over the railing. He was knocked unconscious and did not recover his senses until many hours later, when he climbed up the bank to the street and again collapsed. There he was found.

CAN'T BLOCK GOOD ROADS.

Obstructionist Supervisor Norton Tries to But is Sat Upon and a New District Formed.

Supervisor Norton attempted to spike a worthy work yesterday, and was sat upon by his colleagues.

Hundreds of ranchmen and others living near Van Nuys, Lankershim and Owensmouth petitioned the board to form a new road district of twelve and a half miles. The petitioners asserted that the roads are in bad condition, and they were anxious to have the district created so that they may improve the highways.

Supervisor Norton put his hand over his heart and declared in his inimitable way that "that district has received too many favors from this board, and I will fight this plan unless you help other districts." Supervisors Pridham and Hinshaw unseated Earl's premier good roads obstructionist with a few solid facts and the district was formed, Mr. Norton voting as usual.

Cashing of Bad Paper Leads to Indictment of Man on Charge of Impersonating Officer.

United States Secret Service Operative Hazen returned yesterday from Phoenix, where the Federal grand jury indicted Frank A. Mason, former engineer on the gasoline launch Camaguin, plying between Long Beach and Los Angeles, on the charge of impersonating a Federal officer. The trial of Mason is set for the 28th inst.

It is asserted that he swindled a number of Los Angeles people out of money by the bogus check route, among others being Frank McKee, of the office of the Fish and Game Commission, who contributed $150. The International Savings and Exchange Bank has a lot of Mason's paper which they did not cash; but auto dealers and others who took stock in his bland statement that he was connected with the Federal service, suffered severely. Hotel men at Balboa also have a few souvenirs in the shape of discredited paper.

NEGRO THIEVES SHOOT WESTLAKE WATCHMAN.

WHILE making his rounds as nightwatchman in the Westlake district last night, John C. Hosick, brother of James Hosick, deputy city prosecutor and former detective, was shot in the head by two negro thieves who were interrupted while entering the residence of Mrs. Elesa Kerckhoff, No. 825 Westlake avenue. The nightwatchman was felled by the bullet and the assailants ran. Octavius Morgan, an architect, who lives at No. 817 Westlake avenue, heard the shooting and ran to the relief of Mr. Hosick.

It was in the course of his regular work that Mr. Hosick, who lives at No. 1027 Park View avenue, stopped at the rear of Mrs. Kerckhoff's residence to see that all was well. Mrs. Kerckhoff is at her country home in Van Nuys.

The nightwatchman walked to the house and pulled at the screen door in the rear to satisfy himself that it was securely locked. The door yielded unexpectedly and Mr. Hosick was put off his balance. At that instant a negro leaped upon him and shot him. The bullet entered the back of the head, skipped the brain, and found exit near the left ear.

He was regaining consciousness when Mr. Morgan reached him. In the Morgan home Mr. Hosick told the details of the attack. First aid treatment was given him there and then he was taken to the Receiving Hospital. His wounds are not dangerous, according to the police surgeon.

COMPLAINTS FOR TWO IN LANGDON DEATH.

COMPLAINTS against two persons charging them with the slaying of Mrs. Carrie Klopp Langdon, who died under suspicious circumstances two weeks ago, are expected to be issued today by Deputy District-Attorney Blair. Evidence pointing to the guilt of the two persons has been unearthed by County Detective McLaren and his assistants. William E. Langdon, the widower, is still a voluntary prisoner at Ramona Acres under guard of ex-Chief of Police Austin of Long Beach, who is now working out of the District Attorney's office.

Dr. L. D. Stookey, who is examining the stomach of Mrs. Langdon for traces of strychnine, will file his report with Deputy Blair today. Dr. Stookey told Mr. Blair yesterday that strychnine in quantities sufficient to cause death had been found in the stomach.

One of the suspected persons told Detective McLaren that the other suspect was in a certain place just prior to the death of Mrs. Langdon. The other man denies this and has sought to establish an alibi.

Detective McLaren held a long interview with George W. Kyllus, a real estate man to whom Mrs. Langdon transferred $8000 worth of property shortly before her death. Mr. McLaren is investigating several realty transactions in which Mrs. Langdon lost nearly all her holdings. George Kyllus, a son, who is a druggist, also conferred with Mr. McLaren.

"Suspicion points our way," said the young Mr. Kyllus, "but we haven't any more idea how Mrs. Langdon came to her death than an outsider. We won't have any trouble in clearing our skirts."

ENTHUSIASTIC FOR FREDERICKS

Petaluma Meets Candidate with Thirty Automobiles.

Workmen Miss Dinner to Hear Standard-bearer.

Cheer Statement Prosperity is the Only Issue.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

PETALUMA, Oct. 15.—Seventy-six miles of hard, fast driving brought Capt. John D. Fredericks into Petaluma tonight after a fatiguing day of travel three minutes before the hour scheduled for him to begin speaking.

The Republican standard-bearer did more traveling than speech-making today, making over 150 miles by train and automobile. He addressed meetings at Willits at noon, at Ukiah at 2 o'clock, stopped for a few minutes at Hopland and concluded with a huge night rally here.

On the platform at tonight's meeting were five men who voted for Abraham Lincoln. They were Henry Hammell, H. L. Weston, J. L. Winans, H. F. Brainerd and H. T. Fairbanks.

Capt. Fredericks impressed on the crowds he spoke to during the day that the issues in this fight are not whether Johnson put on the statute books all the good laws the State has. The issue, the captain declared, was whether the people of California should have a return to prosperous times. He said that there was only one answer. The people do want prosperity again and the only way they can obtain it is through the medium of the Republican party.

The Fredericks party, accompanied by Secretary of State Frank C. Jordan, A. J. Pettis, candidate for the Assembly in Mendocino, and Frank Caughey of Ukiah left Ft. Bragg this morning at 10 o'clock. A large crowd greeted Fredericks at Willits. Many of the men who heard the Republican candidate curtailed their lunches in order to listen to all that he had to say.

From Ukiah the seventy-six-mile-trip to Petaluma was made by machine. Ray Rogers, the man behind the wheel of the captain's big touring car, negotiated the distance in record time. At Hopland, although he had no time to spare, the captain, not wanting to disappoint a crowd that had waited patiently for him for an hour, spoke for some time in the public square.

Mrs. Fredericks, who remained in Santa Rosa yesterday and today, rejoined the party here this evening.

Petaluma is wildly enthusiastic over Fredericks. The candidate was met five miles out of town by thirty automobiles and when the procession entered the city red fire was burning in the downtown streets and a band was playing.

J. W. Elder, State central committeeman, opened the rally tonight and introduced C. F. Fury, candidate for State Senator, as the presiding officer, with J. E. Olmsted and Lee Torr, Elder and Fury headed the Reception Committee that escorted Fredericks into Petaluma.

C. J. Sullivan, Fredericks's secretary, earned new laurels today. On the way down from Ft. Bragg to Willits, while Frank Jordan was composing placard inscriptions, Sullivan wrote a parody on "Tramp, Tramp, Tramp, the Boys are Marching." At Willits he telephoned the words to Ukiah and ordered several hundred copies of the song printed. The job was finished when the party arrived at Ukiah and the words were sung at tonight's meeting. Following is Sullivan's effort:

Oh, the people of this State,
Form the smallest to the great,
Are waiting for election day to come.
And with Fredericks's victory
Will return prosperity—
All the wheels of commerce then will hum.

Chorus:

Vote, vote, vote; we are all voting.
John D. Fredericks is our man.
For he'll bring prosperity
From the mountains to the sea,
For he is the only candidate that can.

FOR CITY-COUNTY CONSOLIDATION.

REPRESENTATIVES OF PUBLIC BODIES AND COUNCIL FAVOR ACT.

Representatives of various civic organizations met with the City Council yesterday afternoon to discuss the proposed Oakland amendment, paving the way for city-county consolidation.

City Attorney Stephens gave a resume of the proposed amendment, and pointed out in general term the benefits that might accrue to Los Angeles from it. He urged that the voters clearly understand that the Oakland amendment, which will be No. 19 on the ballot, is the one which Los Angeles desires to support, and not No. 21 on the ballot, which is known as the San Francisco amendment. This by a compromise agreement is to be dropped.

Councilman Conwell spoke on similar lines, amplifying the arguments presented by the City Attorney. Mr. Conwell was one of the prime movers in the undertaking to secure a change in the State Constitution that would allow of city-county consolidation and was also greatly instrumental in bringing about the compromise.

Jesse D. Burks gave details regarding the advantages of consolidation. He declared that through the elimination of present duplication of city and county offices, by means of consolidation of government functions, there could be a saving annually of at least $1,000,000.

The sentiment of the meeting seemed unanimous for consolidation.

DIAMOND TOOTH IN COURT.

"Diamond Tooth" Anna Baker, who has a one-carat diamond in her mouth, and a $4000 roadster in her garage, was tried for vagrancy in the police court yesterday. The jury disagreed, and she was released on bail until the case can be heard again. Testimony tending to show that Miss Baker's hotel at No. 610½ South Spring street is loosely conducted, and that the defendant herself had personal knowledge of misconduct was introduced. Another vice charge is pending against her.

cern are to be assigned to the citrus express service. They are the Ohioan, Montanan, Iowan, Panaman, Washingtonian and Pennsylvanian, operating on a sixty-day round-trip schedule between New York and San Francisco. The eight small boats on the Seattle - Tacoma - San Francisco - San Diego-New York-Boston runs will perform the round trip in eighty days.

The scope of the pick-up cargo service to be performed by the four unattached steamers is indicated by the fact that the Oregonian is now east bound with a cargo of shingles and lumber which she will take up the Hudson River to Poughkeepsie.

WHY HARBOR WILL GROW.

The improved service planned by the American-Hawaiian Company is significant in view of the railroads' contentions that the coast to coast shipping concerns, owing to the operation of the decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission in the intermountain rate case, are "grabbing" the business. Since the opening of the canal, it is asserted 60 per cent. of the transcontinental freight formerly handled by rail has gone to the steamship lines.

Moreover, the shipping concerns are in pursuit of more business. The opening of the Hawaiian trade lane from here is an evidence of this, as is also the chartering of the Oregonian for a trip to Poughkeepsie, which city is sixty miles from tidewater. In other words, the shipping concerns are strengthening their already strong hold on traffic by creating new feeders.

Coupled with all these other evidences that Los Angeles is destined to occupy an increasingly large place on the maritime map came the announcement yesterday from Washington that Commissioner of Navigation Chamberlain had admitted the tankers Norman Bridge and C. A. Canfield to American registry under the emergency ship registry act, with this harbor as their home part. Both tankers are the property of the Mexican Petroleum Company, Ltd., and have been under British registry. The Norman Bridge is of 60,000-barrel capacity and the C. A. Canfield of 65,000-barrel capacity.

Arrangements were completed yesterday whereby the Matson freighter Manoa, which will arrive here Tuesday with a cargo of Hawaiian pineapples, will unload at Municipal Pier A. The Manoa is starting a new fruit service from the islands.

A reception to the Manoa, which will be the first passenger steamer to arrive here on a regular passenger lane from Honolulu, is being arranged by the Chamber of Commerce. The boat is bringing sixty passengers and 40,000 cases of pineapples to this city. If the passenger business proves profitable the Matson line expects to establish ten-day service between here and Honolulu. As at least 50 per cent. of the traffic to the islands originates in this city, shipping men believe that the service is a certainty. The Manoa is expected to dock here about 9 o'clock a.m., Tuesday, and will sail the following day for San Francisco.

BOOSTING A LOCAL MOTOR INVENTION.

HOMER FOLKS GIVE BANQUET AND REPORTS FACTORY ALREADY UP.

The Homer Motors Company gave a banquet to the stockholders and invited guests on Wednesday evening at the Hamburger cafe, when 175 men sat at the table. They were assembled to hear the reports of the officers and managing directors of the company, and to learn of future prospects.

Lewis Cruickshank, legal adviser of the company, acted as toastmaster, and after making some appropriate preliminary remarks, called upon President J. E. Meyer to give an account of his stewardship. That gentleman stated that he had been connected with the company for eighteen months and the favorable impression first gained of the new principle involved in the company's motive power had been more than confirmed.

Secretary George W. Bishop stated that the company had been organized with a capital of $1,000,000; that 220,000 shares had been sold for an aggregate of $60,000. With this sum they had secured a location for an ample factory, erected works, built two sample trucks, one for light work, another for the heaviest work ever demanded of motor cars, and have a reserve in the treasury of $19,000.

Dr. J. E. Cowles, a well-known local capitalist, said he had acquired an interest in the invention before the present company was organized, and had unwavering faith in its merit.

Walter A. Wood, mechanical engineer of the company, spoke of the unique principle involved in the construction and operation of the engine.

J. P. Barker, the inventor of the engine which is working such a revolution in the motor field, said he had been a student of engines from boyhood. He perceived that there was a needless multiplication of parts in ordinary machines. By simplifying them he would avoid unnecessary friction, save power, and ensure economy of operation. What he has done is to reduce the number of working parts from 117 in some other engines to nineteen in the machines of his own construction.

Dr. Douglas Long, formerly of Detroit, related his casual experience with the Ford Motor Company. There was a bill of $250 owing to his medical firm, for which he was offered 500 shares of Ford stock. This was in the infancy of the company. He said he had enough stock in various corporations and did not need any more, and was paid cash for his bill. That stock which he thus turned down is now worth $700 a share, and there is none for sale. He is now interested in the Homer company.

The company has financed the erection of a $100,000 factory on its site two miles out on the San Fernando road. There are advance orders that will test the capacity of the new factory as soon as it is equipped.

EXPECT ACTION TODAY.

To Insure Confirmation by Senate of Appointment for Judge here, "Speed" Messages Sent East.

A number of hurry messages were sent from the Federal building yesterday to Senators and others, with a view to expediting the confirmation of B. F. Bledsoe as judge of the United States District Court for the southern division of the Southern District, today being set apart for confirmation of nominations sent to the Senate by the President.

The congested condition of the local calendar is given as the reason for the hurry, a fear being expressed that unless somebody gets very busy immediately, President Wilson may allow Congress to get away with the Bledsoe nomination hanging in the air.

Controversial.

RAISINS AND PROHIBITION; "DRY" SIDE PRESENTED.

BY GEORGE VAIL STEEP,
Editor of "Out West Magazine."

JAMES MADISON, in The Times of October 14 declares that the prohibition amendment will kill the raisin industry. He supports this contention with only one reason; that the elimination of the wine production will cause all of the wine grapes to be used in the making of raisins, causing a glut in the market.

In the same article Mr. Madison calls attention to the fact that wine grapes will not make a good grade of raisins. In this he flatly contradicts himself, for it is utterly unreasonable to suppose that grape growers would turn wine grapes to raisins under the full knowledge that the product would be inferior and unmarketable.

In substantiating his statement to the effect that wine grapes will be used for raisins, Mr. Madison states that wine grapes cannot be used for grape juice and that, if they could be, "there is no market for the grape juice because of the high price of it."

Contradictory to these statements, Frederic T. Bioletti, head of the department of viticulture and enology at the University of California, says, over his own signature, in a letter written to William E. Brown, March 27, 1914, that wine grapes are the only grapes that will make the best grade of grape juice. Prof. Bioletti is the highest authority on viticulture in America and is the only authority supremely recognized by the liquor interests of California. The paragraph of the letter of March 27, referring to wine grapes and grape juice, says:

"Wine grapes are the best material that we have for making grape juice. Our best grape juice is and must be made from wine grapes. Table grapes, such as we grow in California, will make a good grape juice, but not equal to that of the best wine grapes. Wine grapes, of course, differ very much in quality and in a general way a grape that is best for wine making is best for grape juice making."

Mr. Madison also says that the grape juice cannot be marketed because of an excess of the supply over the demand. This statement is wholly erroneous. At present the supply merely equals the demand and equals it only because it is sold at a prohibitive price and the common people cannot afford it. This is due to the antiquated methods of production and marketing. Certain wine interests have kept these methods in vogue by means of their own, in order to avoid competition. At present the grape juice is put up in small individual bottles, individually sealed. It is about 95 per cent. water and freight is paid, principally on the water.

By the processes invented by Prof. Monti and now fully understood by the general public, grape juice can be put up in the form of concentrate and marketed more cheaply than coca products, or any of the other common soda-fountain syrups. It can also be shipped safely and economically.

A statement is also made by Prof. Bioletti that the eastern market, at the present time, can utilize ten times the present amount of grape products, exclusive of wines. With the increase of traffic through the Panama Canal and with lowered freight rates, this demand can be met by the California products.

Mr. Madison also calls attention to the fact that it will require four years to graft and bring to production the wine grape roots to produce good raisin and table grapes.

Frank T. Swett, Horticultural Commissioner for Contra Costa county, in an address before the grape growers' forty-second annual convention in Fresno in 1912, declared that any "vineyard land can be profitably planted to alfalfa. Much land producing poor vineyards will produce fine alfalfa." Alfalfa is known to be the most profitable crop grown in California. Does it stand to reason that any wine-grape grower, dissatisfied with his crops, will wait four years for raisin or table grapes to develop when he can get a bigger return in a single year by plowing out the roots and planting alfalfa? It is absurd.

Mr. Madison also makes the statement that table and raisin grapes do not pay, that they sometimes "bring only 25 cents a lug box." And yet the State Viticultural Commission's last report shows that the 50,000 acres of table grapes in the State paid the growers over a million dollars more than the 170,000 acres of wine grapes paid.

The eastern market is clamoring for cheap grape juice and for cheap table grapes. The market reports show that table grapes in the East cost from three to seven times what the same grapes cost in California and that only about 11 per cent. of this increase is accountable to transportation and spoilage. California can remedy this condition only by growing more table grapes and making grape juice where it now makes wine.

GREEN LIMA-BEAN SEASON NEARS END.

ONLY FACTORY PUTTING UP PRODUCT SAYS VENTURE IS BIG SUCCESS.

With a total pack of 15,000 cases of No. 2 choice green canned lima beans worth $50,000 to its credit, the Calima Lima Bean Canning Company located near Sawtelle, the only cannery in the State putting up this product, will close its 1914 season.

"The value of this factory's output of canned lima beans does not consist in what it will bring on the market," asserted Jules Kauffman, its manager, "but in the fact that through the successful experiments of this single plant there may result the erection of a number of similar plants on a larger scale, whose outputs should not only find an expansive market in this country, but even enter the great foreign fields."

"The public probably is not aware that until this factory accomplished it, the California commercial lima bean had never been canned green," continued Mr. Kauffman. "The canneries in the East have been putting up the small 'baby lima' in conjunction with other vegetables. But the eastern 'baby lima' does not possess the unique sweet taste and nutritious food quality of the California commercial lima, which can be canned here in enormous quantities because this State alone produces two-thirds of the entire world crop."

"From the consumer's standpoint it is impossible to obtain a more healthy and nutritious food than the canned green lima bean, and housewives should learn that it can be substituted for meats when meats are selling at prohibitive prices. From the grower's standpoint it is more advantageous for him to deliver his beans to the cannery than to have them harvested dried, because in selling them green he avoids the expense of threshing and sacking the product."

SLOOP IS LIBELED.

Fulton & Woodley, boat builders, brought a libel in the United States District Court yesterday against the sloop yacht Detroit, its tackle, etc., for a debt of $226.36, alleged to be due on account of repairs on the craft. The owner and master of the Detroit is William la Piante. The boat has been tied up at San Pedro to satisfy the debt.

FEELS LIKE A NEW WOMAN

As Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Dispelled Backache, Headaches and Dizziness.

Piqua, Ohio.—"I would be very ungrateful if I failed to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound the praise it deserves, for I have taken it at different times and it always relieved me when other medicines failed, and when I hear a woman complain I always recommend it. Last winter I was attacked with a severe case of organic weakness. I had backache, pains in my hips and over my kidneys, headache, dizziness, lassitude, had no energy, limbs ached and I was always tired. I was hardly able to do my housework. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on one other occasion, and it had helped me so I took it again and it has built me up, until now I feel like a new woman. You have my hearty consent to use my name and testimonial in any way and I hope it will benefit suffering women."—Mrs. ORPHA TURNER, 431 S. Wayne St., Piqua, Ohio.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

CIVIL SERVICE.

FORD FOR RIGHT KIND.

W. J. Ford, Deputy District Attorney, told a large gathering of women at a meeting of the Women's Republican League at the Alexandria yesteday, that he is for the right kind of civil service and that he defended the suits against the county civil service at the instigation of Capt. Fredericks. He added:

"I am an ardent advocate of civil service when it really places in a position the man best fitted for the work needed. The recent attacks of the Board of Supervisors over the appointment of the county counsel, were entirely unwarranted.

"Mr. Hill passed the examination within seven-tenths of 1 per cent. of the highest man, after the leader of the three highest had been given his rating partly because of greater experience as a lawyer. The Supervisors very properly took into consideration the personal equation of the situation."

Mrs. Lillian Burkhardt Goldsmith spoke against prohibition. Her appeal for "wet" votes was based upon the protection needed for the vineyards. In the morning she spoke to the Ebell Club on the same subject. Mrs. Seward A. Simons spoke for the "dry" element at a former meeting of the Women's Republican League.

FOR FREDERICKS.

WOMEN DO GOOD WORK.

Auxiliaries of the Fredericks Club of Los Angeles will be organized by women of the Republican party at several points throughout Los Angeles county within the next few days. Organization of auxiliaries was effected yesterday at Glendale and Tropico and Saturday afternoon there will be a meeting at the home of Mrs. George Crandall, No. 640 Prospect avenue, South Pasadena. This gathering will be the first formal one under the auspices of the club and the speakers will be Mrs. O. P. Clark and Mrs. William Baurhyte. In addition, other speakers are expected to take part. Next Thursday night there will be a meeting in the Women's Club house at Monrovia.

Organization work is being carried out under direction of Mrs. David P. Forbes. She reports much political interest among the women in the towns visited and expects through the missionary work being done by the parent club to gain many votes for Capt. Fredericks and the remainder of the Republican ticket.

FOR THE G.O.P.

LAW STUDENTS ORGANIZE.

Twenty-five students at the College of Law, University of Southern California, organized the Lex Republican Club last night in the assembly hall in the Times Building. Short addresses extolling the principles of the Grand Old Party were made by Judge Frank R. Willis, W. P. Hollywood, Myron W. Silverstone, D. A. Hill and others. T. L. Eveland was elected president and H. Howe, secretary. An executive committee of fifteen was appointed. The Executive Committee will meet this afternoon at the law school.

The young speakers showed the waste and extravagance of the Johnson administration and the rapid decline of the so-called "Progressive" party.

"Gov. Johnson has built up a powerful machine at the expense of the taxpayers of California," said Mr. Silverstone. "His administration has been by far the most extravagant in the history of California. In 1910, under Gov. Gillette, the expenses of the State were $7,234,500, while under Gov. Johnson it cost us nearly $15,000,000. And yet the Progressive bosses prate about reform and economy."

Too Much for Stilson.

Fielding J. Stilson, an original "Progressive," who has voted and worked for Johnson, and who has stood high in the councils of the third party, yesterday issued a statement declaring that he had come to the parting of the political ways when "Progressivism" became radicalism, and radicalism became a riot of ill-digested legislation.

"Re-elect Johnson on November 3 and you will bring on the most terrible panic California has ever known," Stilson declared. "What is the matter with California? The matter is: The body politic has been operated upon so many times in the past four years by the 'Progressive' surgeon at Sacramento that it is now between life and death. Let up on the operations."

Justice Angellotti Coming.

Supreme Court Justice Angellotti, who is a candidate for chief justice of the court, of which he has been an associate justice for twelve years, will be one of the honored speakers before the Woman's City Club Monday. Justice Angellotti will arrive here Sunday, to sit in a four-day session of the Supreme Court. More than one-hundred Los Angeles attorneys have volunteered their aid in campaigning for Justice Angellotti.

Seek Ford's Advice.

W. J. Ford, nominee for district attorney, was apprised of still further recognition of his expert opinion and knowledge of county affairs, when a committee of prominent Riverside citizens called upon him yesterday to solicit his aid in drawing a new county charter for that county. Although his time is taken up for nearly every hour until election, Ford agreed to attend a meeting in Riverside next Thursday.

The new charter is said to contemplate civil service, and the invitation to Ford was directly due to his able defense of the validity of Los Angeles civil service before Judge Wilbur.

Sentiment in North.

Mrs. Charles R. Stibbens, wife of the tax collector of Riverside county, has just returned from a trip through the north, and personally made a study of the political situation. As a friend of Mrs. John D. Fredericks, she was with the Fredericks party for some time.

"The Fredericks sentiment in the north, as a result of the captain's tour, is simply tremendous," Mrs. Stibbens declared yesterday. "The San Joaquin Valley is his easily. Oakland will give a heavy majority for him. In fact, all through the north his strength is wonderful."

Political Pointers.

The Republican Club of Long Beach, an auxiliary of the Republican County League, has effected a reorganization with Jotham Bixby as honorary president; P. H. Updike, president; J. B. Groom, treasurer; O. G. Mechem, secretary. F. W. G. Phillips continues as campaign manager for the club.

The committee of 100 Jews of Los Angeles and the Los Angeles Hebrew Club have indorsed the candidacy for Police Judge of Hugh J. Crawford, the well-known attorney.

The registration for the coming election in San Luis Obispo county is Republicans, 3783; Democrats, 2497; "Progressives," 1135; Socialist, 518; Prohibition, 134; not-stated, 824.

Elmer R. McDowell, candidate for Superior Judge, last night addressed the McDowell Club at a meeting at the home of Mrs. L. A. Benjamine in the Erskine apartments when he advocated a broader interpretation of the mother's pension bill for the protection of mothers and maintenance of their dependent children.

J. T. Lindley, vice-president and manager of the Azusa Foothill Citrus Association, is urging the election of Frank C. Roberts, the Republican candidate for Congress in the Ninth District. "The citrus industry of Southern California very sadly needs a Republican Congressman at Washington, a man who will fight for an adequate tariff which we must have in order to place the citrus industry on a safe basis."

The meetings for women of her precinct every Tuesday afternoon will be continued the remainder of the campaign at the home of Mrs. A. D. Houghton of No. 809 Kingsley drive. Next Tuesday the speakers will be Sidney L. Briggs, for Supervisor in the Third District; Judge Craig, for presiding judge of the Appellate Court; Justice Summerfield, for re-election; A. L. Bartlett, for the Assembly, and others.

Elliott H. Barrett, candidate for justice of the peace, will be one of the speakers tonight at the rally to be held in the Tenth-street schoolhouse at Tenth and Valencia streets.

C. W. Kingsley, the Socialist candidate for the Assembly in the Sixty-fifth District, is asking to be returned because while he didn't do anything in his first session he learned enough to make him valuable this session. P. C. Phillips, the Republican candidate, is campaigning on the ground that he is fitted for the job and will not ask the people to pay for his training without giving them something worth while in return.

Mothers Tell of Mother's Friend

Experience is or should be our best teacher. Women who have obeyed the highest and noblest of all sacrifices, the struggle for the life of others, should have a better idea of helpful influence than those who theorize from observation.

At any rate when a prospective grandmother urges her daughter to do as she did—to use "Mother's Friend," there is ample reason to believe it the right kind of advice.

Its purpose is to furnish pliancy to the muscles, to take away the strain on the cords and ligaments, to relieve the tension of nerves and tendons so apt to provoke or aggravate nausea, morning sickness, twitchings of the limbs and so on. It is applied externally.

Although, in the nature of things, a woman would use "Mother's Friend" but rarely, yet so effective has it been found that this splendid remedy is on sale in most drug stores throughout the United States. It has been prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 306 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and advertised by us for over twenty years. Ask at the drug store for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is worth while.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.

CHIEF DEVELOPMENTS YESTERDAY.

(At Home:) The announcement was made from Washington that the United States government now considers loans to the belligerent governments of Europe by private firms or individuals in the same class as ordinary commercial transactions and could not, by any stretch of the imagination, be considered as a violation of neutrality. The Amalgamated Copper Company declared a dividend of 50 cents a share. As an offset to the proposed relief to cotton growers a resolution was introduced in the Senate to provide relief for western cereal growers and copper producers, asking $500,000,000 for this purpose. The wheat market slumped fractionally because of heavy selling by large holders, though the foreign export demand somewhat increased. All markets closed firm with an upward tendency. One significant feature of the day was the reduction of call loans from 8 to 7 per cent. Six millions in gold was sent to Ottawa.

(Abroad:) Liverpool cotton association directors have notified New York that January and February cotton will be reduced to 4.75, which makes the price equal 8 cents for December in New York.

NO DANGER.

PERFECTLY SAFE.

A POSSIBLE OBJECTION.

The Germans are about to introduce into the war a new gun that carries twenty miles. Wonder what they will do if for any reason they can't keep the enemy twenty miles away?

THE OLD STORY.

The government does not know what to do with a Yaqui Indian held in Los Angeles for a crime committed in Mexico. He was wanted down there in Madero's time, but no one can tell who wants what in Mexico today.

UNDECEIVED.

The women of San Francisco are strongly organized for Capt. John D. Fredericks and expect to carry that big city for their candidate. They are not blinded by Johnson's bogus claim of having been the author of their political equality.

TOO READY.

Astonishing numbers of persons are shot by members of their own household because they are mistaken for burglars. Robbers could save these families much pain if they would always carefully identify themselves for the benefit of those who are absurdly ready to shoot.

A PLEASURE.

The proposed excursions to Hawaii between Los Angeles and Honolulu would afford an agreeable opportunity for many people of both cities to have a pleasant outing. Neither place could possibly offer anything new or better in climate than what is permanently enjoyed by the citizens of both.

HOST AND HOSTAGE.

The Japanese who took fifty-five Germans captive extended them the delicate courtesy of feeding them with German noodles. We trust that they also remembered the beer and limburger. The etiquette of war cannot be too carefully observed, and we cannot imagine the Japanese overlooking a point as delicate as limburger cheese.

SURE OF HIMSELF.

The man who accused Villa of murder before the conference now being held in Mexico City received by wire an invitation to visit the grave of a man Villa had considered a traitor that he might know how intriguing is punished. He closed with the gracious "I salute you" of Mexico, which in this case seems to read "I dare you" and then some.

EVERYBODY GUILTY.

The doctors who are in session here at this time tell weird stories of curious articles removed from the stomachs of patients at hospitals for the insane. Rags and tacks are really not so very much worse than some of the things that persons of normal mentality often inflict themselves with. Sane eating is one of the rarest things under the sun.

PREPARED FOR PEACE.

Gen. Torres started for the peace conference. At Vera Cruz he was arrested by United States officers because he was accompanied by twenty members of his own staff who were heavily armed. They were taking no chance on the peacefulness of the peace conference. By the way, this is Gen. Sosa Torres of the State of Tabasco and not Gen. Luis Torres of Sonora.

AN ABSURD SITUATION.

The forces of Villa and of Maytorena continue to bombard the American border at will. A citizen of the United States was killed and another wounded the same day by this miscellaneous firing on territory that should be respected by common fairness if there were no compelling international law. It is all well enough for the United States to preserve the peace of Mexico, but it might at least preserve the right to protect its people and its property on this side of the line if it cannot do as much for its citizens in Mexico.

ALAS, POOR BELGIUM!

One country there is, in all its turmoil, that must wring pity from the most indifferent heart. Belgium, of all the nations engaged in this most cruel war, has a legitimate, a bitter grievance. She has been brought to pitiable desolation and crushed between the rival enmities of the great powers of Europe. She has strictly minded her own business with independent dignity; she has endeavored to be a loyal friend to all her neighbors; she has borne herself with gracious kindliness and pursued the even tenor of her way inoffensively, in peace; and through no fault of her own her country has been turned into a bloody battlefield, her entire population stricken with bitter grief.

Belgium is the martyr of the world. She has been sacrificed on the altar of greed and ambition and international hatred, the innocent victim of the passionate revenge of other nations. A peace-loving, law-abiding nation that has enacted neutrality agreements with all the European powers in the vain attempt to safeguard her people from the bitterness of strife, she, the peacemaker, the buffer state, has so far borne the cruel brunt of the bloodiest war.

Bloodshed, terror, utter desolation, pitiful ruin—the condition of fair, plucky little Belgium today is heartbreaking. This sacking of Belgium will stand out as the great crime of the war.

Belgian neutrality had been one of the fundamentals of European politics. Again and again Belgium had insisted that only in the defense of that neutrality would she ever take up arms. Each of the great powers had attached their signature to a guarantee maintaining this condition. Yet at the very outset of hostilities between those same strong powers, behold, Belgium the first victim!

Her plight was a pitiable one from which there was no escape. Had she conceded to Germany's demands she would have found herself at war with France and England, for the concession would have been regarded as a direct act of aggression against France. England's ally. Either way her country would have been a scene of carnage; either way she would have been compelled to fight for her life; and either way she was bound to be the loser.

It is a pathetic breaking-down of ideals. Ethically Belgium's position could not have been stronger, could not have been fairer, more worthy. Her statesmen in each successive government have lived up loyally to the Belgian ideal. Never by word or deed has Belgium ever been accused of treachery, of intrigue, of greed, of ignoble ambition. Her people the world over have gained a reputation that is enviable; she has encouraged all the graces of life with becoming and kindly demeanor. She has shown hospitality and confidence in all nations. As a country she has lived up to the Christian ideal as nearly as a country can and she has been rewarded by being forced to drink the cup of gall to the bitter dregs.

"Whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth." Poignantly the hard teaching of the scripture is brought home to us; poignantly we must perforce believe it. Beautiful, gentle Belgium! No country in all the world can claim to have one legitimate grudge against her. She set a high ideal in international politics and she is paying for it in hot, cruel tears.

The sympathy of the whole world goes out to Belgium in her bitter hour. There is some comfort in the knowledge that her suffering has at least invoked the active friendship of all nations, turned passive appreciation into virile sympathy. The only tangible way that that sympathy could be expressed has been in material gifts and hospitality to the fleeing fugitives. This is given in generous measure and there is no doubt that when the day of settlement arrives all nations will co-operate to see that all possible reparation shall be made to the gallant, brave defenders of the highest international ideals known to the world. God be with them!

And meanwhile let the guilty tremble! "Vengeance is MINE, I will repay," saith the Lord; and "with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured unto you again."

EXTRAVAGANCE OF THE JOHNSON ADMINISTRATION ESTABLISHED AND ADMITTED.

The records show that under the Johnson administration it has cost $15,223,420 more to conduct the affairs of the State of California than it did under the Pardee administration.

Under the Johnson administration it has cost $6,833,458 more than under the Gillett administration, despite the fact that the Gillett administration was required to make exceptionally large appropriation to rehabilitate and reconstruct State property destroyed or damaged in the earthquake and fire of 1906.

The FIFTEEN NEW COMMISSIONS created by the Johnson administration have cost the State $1,720,870.

The cost of all the commissions under the Johnson administration has been $3,676,340. The cost of all the State commissions under the Gillett administration was but $1,318,690.

Those figures, which are, as we have said, a matter of public record, incontrovertibly establish the fact that the Johnson administration has been burdensomely extravagant to the State.

The apologists for Gov. Johnson cannot choose but admit the correctness of these figures. But they say the money spent in excess of what the normal and economical expenditure should be is taken by taxes from corporations, and that the citizens of the State have no right to object. The corporations, so they would have us understand, are fair victims for oppressive taxation; and as long as the corporations are squeezed to furnish forth the savory fleshpots of the Progressive politicians they would have the people believe there is no cause for complaint.

In fact, Chairman Neylan of the Board of Control is the author of the remarkable statement that the corporations and not the people are paying for the increased expenditures of the Johnson administration.

And have the corporations a hole in the ground from which they fetch gold to meet the demands of the Progressive tax collectors? Have the railroads a mine somewhere in the Sierras from which they dig out currency to meet the new impositions levied on them? Have the street car corporations a philosopher's stone whereby they make money out of mud and philanthropically fill the Sacramento coffers? Have the gas and electric corporations a magic lamp, such as Aladdin found convenient when he sought to make peace with the king?

Where do the corporations get their money to meet the unusually large taxation which the Progressives proudly boast has been imposed on them? Whose money is it that the corporations pass on to sustain the extravagance of the Johnson administration? Did the corporations furnish the half-million dollars that Neylan's Board of Control has cost the State? Somebody did, because the Board of Examiners, which the Board of Control superseded, only cost the State $48,000 during the previous administration. Chairman Neylan says the corporations are paying for such luxuries—but where do the corporations get their money?

Is it not the farmer, the merchant and the shipper and the traveling public that furnish the railroad corporations with its money? Does not each and every citizen bear the burden of the heavy corporation taxes levied on the street car companies, on the gas and electric companies, on the water companies and all of the other public service corporations?

Every dollar that a railroad or utility corporation gets comes from the people. It can come from no other source. Each and every dollar that a railroad or utility corporation pays out, whether for supplies or labor or taxes, comes from the people. The taxes paid by the corporations are really paid by the people—they must be. Every dollar of taxes assessed on the corporations of necessity must come out of the nickels and dollars paid by patrons of the street cars and users of gas and electricity, etc. The people DO pay the taxes. The higher the taxes, the higher the rates.

What an intelligent defense for the spokesmen of the Johnson administration to make! That the waste of the administration is not paid out of the pockets of the people, but out of the pockets of the corporations! And who puts the money into the pockets of the corporations? The Johnson administration boasts that it takes the money out of those pockets and thinks the people of California are too myopic not to see that they, and they only, put the money into the corporations' pockets—later to be removed by the itching fingers of the Progressive tax collectors.

Indeed, the extravagance of the Johnson administration is established—admitted—and cannot be defended except by such flimsy sophistry as that the corporations and not the people are furnishing the money.

"NEW THOUGHT."

When the late Mayor Gaynor first began to be quoted in the papers numbers of people were surprised at his frequent references to "Epictetus."

Epictetus was a Roman slave, whose master helped Nero commit suicide. The slave anticipated the essential of the modern "new thought" cult by some 2000 years and was not at all conceited over his opinions.

He said many things and among them: "It is not poverty which produces sorrow, but desire; not wealth which releases us from fear, but the power of reasoning. If then you acquire this power of reasoning you will neither desire wealth nor complain of poverty."

Also he said: "Make your manner of eating neither luxurious nor gloomy, but lively and frugal, that the soul may not be perturbed through being deceived by the pleasures of the body, and that it may despise them; and that the soul may not be injured by the enjoyment of present luxury and the body may not afterwards suffer from disease."

Those are excerpts snatched at random. Epictetus was extremely devoted to common sense without the spangles and furbelows that the "new thought" faddists attach to a grain of truth.

That's All.

Just Plugs Along.

Strenuous Days for Father.

EDITORIAL LIGHTS SHED ON THE WAR.

Naval Strategy.

[Baltimore Sun:] Though the sinking of the three British cruisers by German submarines is a heavy blow to the English navy, it is, of course, not an irretrievable disaster. The Triple Entente had sixty-six boats of this class to eleven possessed by the Dual Alliance and a like preponderance in almost all other classes of warships. This action by the German submarines seems to have been made possible by the fact that the British warships are approaching close to the German shores. In other words, the British fleet still has the Germans bottled up, and until that condition changes the Germans will be at a tremendous disadvantage.

A German Naval Victory.

[Washington Star:] From the English point of view it is absolutely necessary to maintain dominance over the North Sea. If the German fleet ever attains supremacy, through the destruction of the larger British ships by occasional submarine dashes or in a general engagement, England's position will be one of the gravest peril, and this fact may now stimulate action to restore confidence, which cannot fail to have been somewhat shaken by the destruction of the Aboukir, Hogue and Cressy, however small a percentage of the total British force these three vessels may have been.

In a Nutshell.

[New York Sun:] In nineteen words Senator Henry Cabot Lodge states the whole case:

"Either Germany will dictate the terms of peace or the allies. There will be no half way about it."

Will premature eirenists and amateur peace patchers please observe and preserve?

The Grimmest Army Corps.

[London Chronicle:] In all the world there is only one army—the German—that carries its war preparations to such a state of completeness as to have a special corps of grave diggers, who accompany the army in the field for this grim task alone. They were formed for the Franco-German war of 1870, and their appearance was a source of amazement to the older generation of soldiers of Europe, who could not understand such "specialization."

Another feature of the German military system is the requirement that all soldiers on active service should wear around their necks labels with their names, regiment and rank. In the event of death these are useful for purposes of identification, and in the case of injury the reverse side is used as a form on which the surgeons attached to the field hospitals jot down details of the patient's injuries and any special guidance of the surgeons at the base hospitals.

The Freezing of Light.

[Birmingham Age Herald:] The world stood with gaping mouth and baited breath when science announced the phenomenon of frozen air, but wonderment has probably reached its limit when one learns that such an intangible and weightless thing as light has been frozen.

It is customary to speak of the enormous generative power of heat, but more astounding still is the fact that by means of cold a force may be imprisoned and retained which when liberated traverses space at a velocity of 186,000 miles per second.

Like all great discoveries the process is exceedingly simple and based upon formulas that one marvels at not having been employed long ago. Radium emits light which is called "emanation" and this "emanation" is nothing more or less than a gas. It is possible to freeze all gases and when "emanation" is subjected to a temperature of 312 degrees below zero it becomes congealed.

The strangest feature of the phenomenon, however, is to be observed when the "emanation" commences to thaw, when from the surface of the surrounding liquid air brilliant spangles of light stream upward, producing a most beautiful and dazzling effect.

THE FRENCH ROLL.

BY NEETA MARQUIS.

Just as we have begun to boast that we are free at last of the heavy yoke of French fashions, for a while at least, the invasion of the French roll in hair-dressing occurs, and behold! every alternate woman on Broadway has hastened to make her head resemble the knob on a walking stick.

The chief objection, on the part of the onlooker, to this French roll is that it usually appears only about half-baked. It is so obviously home-made, constructed by main strength rather than skilled workmanship, with inartistic wisps of straight hair falling about the ears, and bits of exposed scaffolding in the shape of wire pins obtruding themselves along the edge where the tucking-in occurs.

The roll's chief claim to tolerance, I am told, is that it calls only for one's own hair. As a matter of fact this impresses me as a strong argument in favor of reinforcements. It surely can't be a concession to conscience, for there is no conscience any more, public or private, about the employment of extraneous curls and braids.

It is a well-known fact that heavy natural hair is the rule only among people of undeveloped intellect, and there is a distinct comfort to be extracted from the reflection, in an age when both men and women are seeking the elixir which will ward off baldness, it was once remarked in my hearing that it is strange one never sees a bald-headed woman when there are so many bald-headed men. The answer, given with deep insight, was that, even if a woman were bald, one would never see it.

And quite properly. I know a serious-minded young man who once saw his sister when devoid of her customary embellishment of braid and at once begged her to hurry and put something else on. She replied that he might as well get used to seeing her looked peeled some time, as time and nerves were combining to rob her rapidly of what nature had originally bestowed. To which he responded fervently with the candor for which brothers are famous:

"Well, for goodness' sake, put your false hair on now and when it wears out I'll buy you some more!"

This in the face of the vaunted theory that all "nice" men like a woman best when everything about her is "perfectly natural!" I was somewhat shocked myself when I was told about it.

Perhaps you have heard of that refined bachelor, raised without the chastening and enlightening influence of sisters, who reached maturity clinging to the faith that every really nice girl, had she an abundant crown of glory or a skimpy one, washed her hair every morning before coming down to breakfast. It would be, I suppose, a pity to shatter the illusions of such a one. But the type is so rare nowadays that it causes little alarm.

Personally, I indorse the toupee for the bald-headed man, provided it is a convincing toupee. There is something distinctly sad about a prematurely bald head; it is the scene of so many final farewells. But I have known a toupee to be so natural in appearance, and so well adjusted, that I would not have dreamed it had not grown on the wearer's head had not the wearer's wife, with a passion for truthfulness, felt called upon to explain about it.

And what was the good of her telling? As Carlyle says: "That which we see, but cannot see over, is as good as infinite;" a modern rendering of which might be: "That which we can see, but cannot see through, is as good as natural—so long as it hurts nobody." Surely nobody is any the worse for a toupee unless it is the wearer, and think how many colds and mosquitoes it enables him to foil!

There is a certain young man in Los Angeles who had a similar passion for truthfulness—or who thought he did—which operates the same way to a certain extent. He learned that his fiance built up her becoming coiffure with outside aids, and besought her, for his sake, to abandon the unwomanly practice. The girl gracefully complied, and when the man called upon her the next time he couldn't think what had happened to her until she told him she was nature's own child once more. Whereupon he cravenly forsook his noble ideals and urged her to return to art.

It reminds one of the little poem:

"He loved her for her wondrous hair, so beautifully rich,
But when he saw it on a chair,
The train of love, right then and there,
Was wrecked by a misplaced switch."

The misplacement occurred, of course, when the switch was put on the chair instead of being retained on the head.

Another lover was he who so admired his sweetheart's rich golden braids that he was forever praising them and desiring to touch their shining smoothness. In this case it was the girl who was oversensitive, for only part of the hair was her own. She worried herself ill over her hypocrisy and at last weepingly confessed the fraud. The very well-balanced fellow proceeded to laugh heartily and wipe the tears away, saying:

"It's you I love, my dear—not your hair!"

So, as masculine favor reveals itself as largely on the side of the hairdresser and her devices, it becomes a little absurd for the American woman to impair her looks with the unbecoming French roll on the specious plea that it is more natural. Moreover, a very general move toward this mode strikes me as a violation of the spirit of strict neutrality. The German braid and the English twist are entitled to their share of patronage.

RIPPLING RHYMES.

WASTED MEN.

The war goes on, there is no sign of peace; no seer can say when gory strife shall cease; no gifted prophet, in his spangled robe, can send a dove around the weary globe; the guns still roar, the captains march and slay, men's lives, like threshed out chaff, are thrown away. The young men die, in battle, siege and rout; who knows what genius has been blotted out? Perhaps a Shakespeare lies among the slain, born to the bays, and born, alas, in vain! Full many a youth, with bright resplendent dreams, gives his warm blood to swell the crimson streams which moisten Europe, till their mists arise, and spread a veil of red across the skies. The youth and genius of the warring lands, with foolish weapons in their artist hands, are carving flesh, who should be carving stone, are wielding swords, when brushes are their own. Alas, what waste, what sinful waste of men, to prove the sword is mightier than the pen.

WALT MASON.

The fact that President Wilson has handed the olive branch of peace to Col. George Harvey indicates that the Executive is not quite so careful about where his aid comes from now that he has had one term in the White House. Col. Harvey has not changed heart since he was informed by Wilson in the summer of 1912 that his (Harvey's) support was not needed.

An Impracticable Idea.

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 13.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am prompted to address you and through you, the citizens of Los Angeles. By an article appearing in The Times of the 13th inst. under the following heading "Streets Palm-lined. Tropical Trees to Grow in Urns Throughout Residence Sections," it appears to me that I think will to all thinking people of this most beautiful city the plan suggested by the committee is most impracticable. At the present time, there is scarcely a day when the question of congestion comes up that we ask what is to be done to relieve the condition on our principal thoroughfare. Would the idea suggested of lining the sidewalks with palms (now too narrow to accommodate the traffic) furnish the remedy desired? I think not.

Merchants are entitled to some consideration and their window displays are the best kind of attraction to those thoroughfares in a busy city. Who ever heard of a street in any part of a business city being lined with palms. This is the time to get down on the ground and our citizens should, separately between our shoulders and with the best of the opportunities that will present themselves during the year of 1915. Let us take the money that would properly be expended in the plan to grade and beautify the public streets by cement or asphaltum walks and let the same (where now gravel or crushed rock offer an invitation to welcome.) One of our beautiful parks in the very heart of the most attractive residential districts, with sidewalks on but three sides, it is necessary for one to cross from a busy thoroughfare to one of the most attractive promenades in the park. The driveways now formerly used for automobiles and carriages are now closed to all by unsightly ropes or chains across the entrances, the same could be put in place by delapidated fences which have outlived their usefulness. Why not cause to be erected rustic arches that could be illuminated at night and be made attractive and beautiful by day, over which, if desired? Expend your money in beautifying the streets in the residence portion of the city, causing all those visiting the streets to be pleased to linger or present a green lawn here and there, and if you have an abundance of palms, distribute them where they will prove most attractive to the residential districts. Then we will have all kinds of visitors to Los Angeles during the year 1915. Some author, who will be attracted by our business men and the men, who will be attracted by our business men and the men, who will be attracted by our beautiful custom, and if these centers could be converted into a bower of beauty, where flowers bloom and the graceful palms flutter undisturbed in the gentle breezes, why not in the grass and the fountain, the base of which could be a gold fish pond, and a row of glass globes should be planted around the center of Broadway as a background. What an ideal, and it is business? I say most emphatically so.

R. CLAY BREEDEN.

As to Will Power.

SANTA ANA, Oct. 12.—[To the Editor The Times:] In the morning paper I. J. O. Pohl says that prohibitionists are like trying to cure a horse-eating habit by cutting off their feed and leaving the roots in the ground. Strangely your correspondent has taken the very method of exterminating California's greatest weed pest, known as Johnson grass. Across the country in agricultural journals the method is known, after trying all other methods to cut off the visible portions of the plant, the roots die for want of nourishment. Like the liquor evil it travels underground, and if you attempt to follow a root it leads to the bowels of the earth, interminable depths. Then the prohibitionists is like cutting off the visible supply of liquor and lopping off every shoot that ventures to show itself above ground. Then they will see that their well-laid plans are not so visionary, but scientific. Let us agree with Mr. Pohl in his statement that wine and beer are beneficial to humanity. Wine excites portions of the body that would better be left alone, and beer coarsens the features, bloats the body and stupefies the mind. Then let us see what will someone kindly point out to us that uses the most beer?) Then the old plan of trying to overcome evil by the will-power of unfortunately has been given a pretty fair trial and has been working steadily on the increase since the adoption of the prohibitionists now propose something else. The fact is that the majority of mankind haven't the will-power to strengthen. Evidences of this are pulling it down are all around us, but where are the signs of strengthening? With the tobacco evil as a brain soddener and a close second to the evil as a brain soddener and parading the streets in the rest of homes, parading the streets for recruits moral stamina is having a hard time of it. It seems to be as though young men are ready to follow Mr. Pohl's advice to "control temptations instead of being controlled by them."

HANNA DRAKE BISHOP.

"As Dry as a Fish."

LONG BEACH, Oct. 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like to say that if you have no objection, to Mr. Pohl's letter of last Monday, that liquor-drinking can only be checked by will power, self-control and self-esteem. Metaphorically speaking, let us both blow the foam off our glasses of lager each, and clink-glasses together say, "Here's at you."

Then if you go into a saloon seeking a friend and although you are not asked to drink, you are asked to take a liquor, you are asked to drink. How long will your will power, self control and self esteem last? If you don't drink, the friend will give you a glare, and will say you are not your friend. If you don't drink, if there is anyone else in the room they will take you for a crank, health culture crank, unable to cope with power, self esteem and self control is looked upon as a weakling. A man who is looked upon as a drinking neighborhood. The strong man is looked up to as a man, he never drinks, "I will let it alone, let it alone, let it alone." Then if you don't drink, if there is anyone else in the room they will take you for a crank, health culture crank, unable to cope with power, self esteem and self control is looked upon as a weakling. A man who is looked upon as a drinking neighborhood. The strong man is looked up to as a man, he never drinks, "I will let it alone, let it alone, let it alone." Then if you don't drink, if there is anyone else in the room they will take you for a crank, health culture crank, unable to cope with power, self esteem and self control is looked upon as a weakling. Did you ever watch to see yourself go bald?

The Hiram Johnson campaign is already molting.

You've got to hand it to Pancho Villa. He doesn't claim that the Lord of Hosts is with him.

Irvin S. Cobb has discovered that Kaiser William is a German. Wonderful, most wonderful!

One peace congress in Mexico is enough until another convenes. The latest is in session at Aguascalientes.

The most of the tax under the new law will be laid on whisky and beer. That's right, hit John Barleycorn when he is down.

B-r-r-r-r, bang! b-r-r-r, bang, bang! The quail season opens today. Is the local Arcadias Club ready for the reception of its members?

President Wilson is said to be opposed to the one-term plank of the Baltimore platform. It needs no ghost to come from the grave to tell us this.

Aesop wrote some fables, but there should be a new edition by various authors when the war closes. The daily reports from the front will furnish the material.

The enthusiasm in evidence at the Hiram Johnson meetings is said to resemble the noisy and joyous exclamations at a ball game in an institution for deaf mutes.

There are some folks in this town whose ambition to go to heaven would be positively chilled if they were quite sure there were no motion pictures there.

The Belgian capital has been removed to Havre, having tarried but a minute at the front. It is almost as portable as was Grant's own national capital in the war of 1861.

The war is nearly three months old and the red whiskers of Secretary Redfield have not yet appeared to decorate the scene. Has the Secretary of Commerce a finger in the pie part?

The Democrats in the Senate have spoken to say nothing in defense of the new tax is iniquity. They claim it will save them especially when there is nothing worth mentioning to say.

With the claim that no such person as William Tell ever existed a movement is on foot to abolish the rear steps on all wagons. Are none of the traditions to be preserved?

A Gordon Highlander felt so grateful for the care given him by Red Cross nurses that he kissed them all in turn. There are a lot of pleasant things connected with the profession of nurse.

Andrew Carnegie complains that the $1,000,000 peace campaign has not yet been begun and that it is blanketed under the wraps for further notice. It has been a hard summer for Andy.

Old Oom Paul Kruger is moving around in his grave at Pretoria. The Boers are again marching in warlike array through the veldt of South Africa. Bloemfontein may again be on the English map.

What warrant has Secretary McAdoo for denouncing business men who are not engaged in doing their own banking their own way? The Wilson sob-brother appears to be overdoing the family act.

At one time during the present campaigning in Northern California Gov. Johnson was but sixteen miles behind Curt Fickricks. He will be further than that in the rear when the votes are counted in November.

It is announced that Tim Spellacy will "come out" for Gov. Johnson. Once upon a time Tim also "come out" for his friend Matt in his fight for the Los Angeles office, and see where he landed. Once a boost is a knock.

A German division by mistake marched into Holland territory, where they were interned during the war. That is the second time since the adoption of the agreement by The Hague tribunal that such a thing has occurred. The first instance was when two hundred Federals walked by mistake into Arizona from Mexico in April 1914 and were interned at Fort Rosecrans near San Diego.

The men who get the surest tip on the action of Congress relative to an increase in tax on whisky will make a lot of money by quickly withdrawing the stock in trade under the old tax and marketing it under the new. The treasury will derive no benefit from an increased whisky tax for a year or so to come, but the distillers and rectifiers will profit greatly, just as they did when the tax was lifted from 90 cents a gallon to its present figure.

IN PRAYER.

We bow in prayer to Him who holds
The nations in His hand.
The armies of the land and seas
Are under His command.

He overrules the plans of men,
From darkness brings forth light
To thee O Lord of Hosts, we cry
For help in deepest night!

Cries out her grievous loss;
And in the awful throes of war
The whole world bears the cross.

Have pity on the stricken earth,
Lord make thy meaning plain;
That all the ruthless pride of power
By its own hand be slain!

That never homeless and afraid
May wives and children hide,
While fathers throw their lives away
To stem the bloody tide!

Trace Thy handwriting on the sky
Place it upon the land;
That all the nations of the earth
May know and understand!

Frequently, the one who is ready to shout "weakling!" is a weakling himself. I claim that a person can exercise his will power, self esteem and self control more effectively without the bar than with it. If not, why are nearly all the "stronglings" lined up at the bar, being manufactured into weaklings?

Personally, I have got the most logical reason in the world for voting dry. Although I am not opposed to liquor; living in Long Beach, I have not tasted booze on the average of once per year. Consequently, although I like a drink as well as the next one, living here for twelve years as dry as a fish, what logical reason would I have for voting wet?

It is also a curious fact that many who do not drink themselves, are disposed to look with leniency on the wet side. This is an absurd attitude, for if a person does not drink, because he can't get it, what logical excuse has he for being a wet advocate?

On the other hand I find that those who are ever asserting that a person should exercise their will power, self esteem and self control, have a jug or a bottle at home, from which they can secure their inspiration; thus, very naturally, showing a logical reason for being in favor of "demon rum." Anyhow, as it looks now, by November 3, the shade of the Governor of North Carolina will be saying to the shade of the Governor of South Carolina—"——."

They are already saying it in Long Beach.

The financial affairs of Langford, Felts & Myer, railway contractors, with offices at Nos. 706-8 Hibernian building, were partially aired in the United States District Court yesterday. On the petition of Fairbanks, Morse & Co., with a claim of $2079.30; Crane & Co., who are creditors, it is alleged, for $4985, and the Hammond Lumber Company, with a bill for $788.44, H. W. Wells was appointed receiver for the concern, and immediately gave a bond for $20,000.

The petition of the creditors alleges that the company has an indebtedness of $75,000; that the president, H. S. Diller, has abandoned the business and is supposed to be in Arizona; that the board of directors is made up of H. S. Diller, G. W. Felts and L. W. Bates; that Felts has resigned, and that Bates is a woman, having been but recently elected a member of the board and totally ignorant of the business of the corporation.

It is further alleged that the assets of the company amount to $59,700, consisting of machinery, tools, etc., in Inyo county, that have been abandoned, worth $5000; machinery in storage in San Francisco worth $3200; machinery in storage in Los Angeles, worth $6000; bills receivable, $45,000. It is also alleged that of the bills receivable all in excess of $15,000 have been sold and delivered to certain creditors.

The petition also asserts that the company committed an act of bankruptcy in turning over to the Lauth, Jourgeons Motor Car Company, a creditor, auto trucks valued at $4000, thus making them a preferred creditor.

Following the Church

Many of these old churches have chiming bells, the equal of some of the chimes of the Old World. The oldest are those of Old Trinity—loved and revered by all New Yorkers. The bells were cast by Mears, in England, in the year 1788, and weigh 15,900 pounds.

The chimes of the Collegiate Church, on Fifth Avenue, have an interesting history. They were rung on July 9th, 1776, when the Declaration of Independence was read to George Washington's army, and again on July 4th, 1790, on the reopening of the Collegiate Church, after its almost complete destruction during the Revolutionary War, and they were rung on the occasions of the funerals of Washington, Lincoln and Gen. Grant.

Out in our Golden West here we have also our old churches and their interesting histories, but, more interesting is the fact of the many industries that have followed in the wake of the first churches in California.

Viticulture, principal among these pursuits, has become one of the outstanding features of California, and it is significant to note that more than one-half of the world's product of Raisins is grown in our State.

Back East your many friends would be glad to get a supply of these delicious clusters such as we have just received from our exclusive packer, Mrs. Mowat, of Fresno.

For your own table, too—there could be nothing more desirable for dessert—or for having a few at any time during the day just when you felt inclined. They contain many wonderful sustaining properties and it is a well-known fact that many athletes have great faith in them.

As with our other foodstuffs—these Raisins represent to the full the Jevne Quality. Telephone your order—or stop in at the Dried Fruit Department—see the various packages and make your choice.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY TALKS HEART TOPICS.

Peril in Clandestine Meetings.

"No that I soared so far above
Myself as this great hope to dare;
And yet I half foresaw that love
Might hope where reason would despair."

All the world loves a lover, one of the kind that steps boldly forward and seeks an introduction, calls upon her and wins her in the regulation fashion and aboveboard. But all the world detests a cur who marks out a pretty, innocent young girl with a sinister intention of making love to her by stealth, then leaving her to awake from a broken love dream as best she can.

Nine times out of ten he manages to pick up acquaintance with a girl in a way which does not arouse her suspicion, contriving to meet her accidentally, as she supposes. He puts a thought in her innocent mind that their meeting has been a romance so sweet that no one else must share their secret. He asks the girl to meet him at a certain place. If she answers that she is not certain as to whether she can come, she will have to ask mother, he begins serious argument against that course, which fairly bewilders her. He assures her that mother would forbid their friendship and that would break his heart.

The little demure maid takes the first wrong step when she consents to make her way out of her home and meet him without anyone knowing it. Girls should know that an honorable man would not ask them to keep anything, no matter what it was, from their mother or close friends, who are for their interest first, last and at all times.

The man who coaxes a girl to meet him clandestinely is her enemy, with usually a dark past, which he could successfully hide from an inexperienced girl, but not from those more worldly wise than she.

She who consents to meet a man clandestinely in a park or at some street corner, restaurant or dance hall not only brings suspicion upon herself, but keeps respectable men from her side. She is apt to be taken for the kind of girl that she is not. The reputation would cling to her for years, long after the faithless lover who had brought all this disgrace upon her had ceased to care for her. The man who insists upon meeting a girl clandestinely thinks very little of her if she consents to go. He is very apt to boast of his conquest over the heart of a silly girl in saloons, among comrades whom a girl would be terrified to see, let alone to be brought in contact with. If all this does not make a girl pause who has such a lover, I don't know what will. One can do no more than warn people of their danger.

Nice, pretty, attractive, modest girls can have no fear of going through life loverless by discouraging the worthless suitor. All in good time the right kind of a man will meet her, be charmed with her, and with the pleased approval of her relatives lead her to the altar, to be happy ever after, as the story book says.

MISS LIBBEY'S REPLIES TO YOUR LETTERS.

Dear Sweetheart's Letter.

Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl, engaged to a young man of 23. Is it right for me to run away to marry him? Father treats me wrong. Won't allow me to go with him. He says he would show me a better, happier home; that he loves me better than any girl he ever saw. Is it right for a young girl to let a young boy kiss her when they are engaged? Or to head her letter "Dear Sweetheart?"

ANXIOUS GIRL, E. C.

You are not justified to run away and marry. That would be dishonorable. Make every attempt to please your father; obey, and both conclude alike what's best for you. Affectionate heading of your letters won't hurt him. Let your kisses be sparing.

Three Letters He Wrote.

Dear Miss Libbey: I met a young man a year ago, also this summer, when away. We met again; went here and there at times. He asked permission to write. Wrote me three letters. I answered the three. Will I write again or wait till he answers?

DEEP-IN-LOVE TILLY.

If He's Untrue to Her.

Dear Miss Libbey: I dearly love a young man who lives near us. First he acted as if he loved me. Soon he proved untrue. He would talk to me of flirting. He is very handsome; between 19 and 20. I loved him till he talked so. He wrote sadly and asked me to forgive him. I answered. We drifted apart. Vain can I forget him.

B. H.

Truly the course of true love does not run smoothly in your love. Be less anxious, then you will no doubt find a better, worthier suitor.

A Girl's Difficulties.

Dear Miss Libbey: I am a girl of 14, greatly troubled with styes. Had twenty-seven in about six months. Would appreciate remedy. How is a nice way for a girl of 14 to wear her hair? How long ought I to wear my dresses? Do I write a neat hand?

B. E.

If you will go to a good druggist, state your case, and have him see your eyes and the cause, he will be very likely to cure them. At 14 a girl looks well with her hair braided and tied up with a ribbon. At that age most girls I see wear their dresses nearly to their shoetops. Your handwriting is plain and neat; your letter well composed.

PROPOSED LAW SPLITS UNIONS.

Rub Comes When Overtime is Prohibited.

Valley Farmers Organize to Defeat Measure.

Strenuous opposition to the Socialist "universal eight-hour law" has developed within the ranks of organized labor. Ostensibly planned for labor's benefit, laboring men are coming to realize that the law, as drawn, and as it will be voted upon, is no less a menace to themselves than to their employers.

The chief objection of labor to this proposed legislation is that it will, if adopted, put an end to the "overtime" system, a device of the unions themselves, and which provides for extra pay for men working more than the usual hours of their employment.

Men employed on what is known as "piece work," and by the hour also, would find their earning capacities largely impaired by this Socialistic measure which denies to the laborer the right to sell in open market his labor for the best price and under the best terms he can get for it; and which permits him to work not more than eight hours in any one day nor more than forty-eight hours in any one week.

OPPOSITION GROWS.

Reports from field workers now being received at the Los Angeles headquarters of the Farmers' and Fruit Growers' Federation indicate that opposition to the "universal eight-hour law," which exempts no class of labor from its exactions, is increasing steadily. The federation represents a membership of more than 15,000 agriculturists south of the Tehachepi alone, and is carrying on a vigorous campaign against a measure which, its members feel, would destroy the agricultural interests of the State if given a place on the statute books. It is not possible, they say, to operate a farm or a fruit ranch on an eight-hour basis, particularly at harvest time, when help is scarce and when nature, knowing no eight-hour law, commands haste.

Numerous meetings at which the proposed legislation will be discussed are announced to be held between now and election day. Tonight a formal debate on the question will be held at the First Universalist Church, Alvarado and Hoover streets, T. W. Williams, State secretary of the Socialist party, speaking to the affirmative, and Frank G. Tyrrell, well-known attorney, against the proposed law. Ex-Judge Waldo M. Yorke will preside, and the meeting will be open to the public.

ORGANIZE AT AZUSA.

Aroused by the threatened ruin of the fruit industry in the attempt to pass the eight-hour law, the ranchers and citrus fruit growers of the San Gabriel Valley met yesterday afternoon in the opera house at Azusa and effected a permanent organization by the election of A. P. Griffith, president, and G. B. Gordon, secretary.

A board of directors was elected consisting of W. R. Powell, J. T. Lindley and W. C. Hendrick of Azusa, J. J. West and C. S. Whitcomb of Glendora, R. H. Edrington of Covina and R. E. Smith of Irwindale.

The entire valley will be covered in a personal canvass and the country will be flooded with literature in an educational campaign to defeat the proposition.

INIMICAL TO STATE.

That the proposed law is inimical to the promotion and development of the vast resources of the State was the gist of a paper by Leonard Coates, and discussions by Max Crow and George F. Otto today at the annual meeting of the California Association of Nurserymen at the Grant Hotel in San Diego yesterday. The organization will oppose the passage of the law, and a committee was appointed to draft resolutions to this effect.

President D. W. Coolidge of Pasadena, in his opening address, pointed out the fact that while the war in Europe would affect the nurserymen who buy seedlings stock abroad, that nothing is grown abroad that cannot be successfuly grown somewhere in this country. He urged home production.

Mayor C. F. O'Neall welcomed the delegates to the convention, and Col. D. C. Collier, father of the San Diego exposition, also welcomed them, citing the exposition grounds as the thing that has done more for horticulture in the State than anything else, as the beautified grounds with their rare plants are a splendid example of what can be done in California.

Ernest Braunton of Los Angeles responded to the address of welcome.

This evening George C. Roeding, father of the fig industry in this country, gave a talk on the culture of the Smyrna fig in Europe and California.

CASE FOR DIOGENES?

Frank Strausser, alias Richard Kauffman, a ranchman of Humboldt county, to get rid of the chidings of his conscience for having forged a signature to a $13 money order and cashed it at the San Bernardino postoffice, traveled to San Francisco and insisted upon giving himself up. Strausser arrived here yesterday in the custody of United States Marshal Holohan of San Francisco, under a $1000 bond, and was placed in the County Jail.

The forgery was committed at Ashfork, Ariz., January 6, 1915. So far as the records of the postoffice inspectors go the forgery was never discovered.

But it worried Strausser, and for more than a year he has been busy trying to make up his mind whether he should give himself up. He was safe from arrest by the government, but yesterday Strausser, speaking of the affair, said: "I was tired of being in a state of abject fear all the time; I knew I committed the forgery, and could hardly look around lest I might see some officer with a pair of handcuffs reaching out for me; so I concluded to give myself up, make a confession and throw myself upon the mercy of the court."

ORIENTAL NATIVE SONS CELEBRATE.

CHINESE BORN IN STATE OPEN ODD TWO-DAY CONVENTION HERE.

The United Parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden State, an organization comprised of native-born Chinese, opened its third annual convention here last night with a rousing meeting at No. 233½ Apablasa street. More than 200 Chinese and twenty-five American white men and women attended.

The meeting was marked by addresses by Chief of Police Sebastian, Police Judge White, Superior Court Judge Morrison and Justice of the Peace Summerfield. These speakers congratulated the Chinese for the part they are taking in the upbuilding of California and for their zeal in teaching the men and women of their race how to become good citizens, and assured them that their organization is doing much for the general welfare of every community in which it holds forth.

The United Parlor is the outgrowth of an organization which had its inception in San Francisco in 1895, of which there were twenty-five charter members. Now the San Francisco chapter boasts 500 members, while one at Oakland has 300, with 200 each for Fresno and Los Angeles.

The Chinese band of twenty pieces kept things lively, playing only American tunes, most of them patriotic. The hall is elaborately decorated for the occasion. The convention will close tomorrow night with a big banquet.

Among the prominent Chinese members present were Ho Lee of this city and Herbert Fong, Grand Secretary of the United Parlor, who lives now in San Francisco, but who formerly resided here. He is well known in Los Angeles, having been the official interpreter for his race in the police courts for several years.

HEALTH IN A TENT.

Los Angeles Club to Rear Large Canopy in Fiesta Park and Begin Campaign on Monday Night.

Under the auspices of the Los Angeles Health Club, of which Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher is president, a large tent will be erected in Fiesta Park, where a series of health lectures will be delivered by W. Earl Flynn, who drew great audiences to Temple Auditorium last spring. The tent will seat 3000 persons in easy chairs, and will be electric lighted. The first lecture, on next Monday night, at 8 o'clock, will be free, as it is said most of the lectures will be. His subject will be, "How to Get Well and Stay Well."

Flynn is a great humorist and his lectures sparkle with Irish wit. He says:

"If disease is the result of ignorance, neglect or dissipation, then a person should be ashamed to be sick. When we come to look at a sick person the same as we look at a man eating his pie with a knife, health will be sought as eagerly, at least, as table manners."

He does not conduct a healing campaign, and says the lame, the halt and the blind do not attend his lectures. He preaches the doctrine of mental influence, diet and exercise.

BOTH OF DAYS BELIEVED PAST.

OLD-TIME SHERIFF BRINGS MURDERER HERE IN LEG IRONS.

With the chains that bound them jangling over the cement floor, a dark-skinned murderer entered the Central Police Station yesterday afternoon with a six-footer. Leg irons are a novelty at police headquarters and the spectators grinned. But the big man passed on, indifferent.

He was Sheriff Charles A. Collins of Inyo county, one of the last of the old-time Sheriffs. He had gone to Illinois for his man, he knew him to be desperate, and he was going to take him home. He was not taking chances.

The prisoner was Louis Tonkalas, confessed slayer of James Carros and Guy Pattos, railway workers, shot near Aberdeen, Inyo county, on May 21. It was known that Carros was going back to his old home in Greece, and Tonkalas's cupidity, aroused by the money which Carros was believed to have, killed him. Pattos, the section foreman, coming to his employee's aid, was also shot. The slayer was chased over a wide expanse of territory, escaped, and was located in Illinois by an informer of his own nativity.

Sheriff Collins has a jurisdiction of magnificent distances. A fugitive in his country is generally a horseman, and the chase takes pursuer and pursued over mountain and desert. The Sheriff is a bluff, hearty person, known among the police as a "go-getter." His brother is W. W. Collins, Sheriff of Tulare county. Both have held their positions for over a decade. Each has a record of long rides, great hardships and thrilling captures.

DO AWAY WITH CORERS.

Perfect Specimens of Seedless and Coreless Apples Produced near Here—Off to Washington.

Everything grows in Southern California, even coreless and seedless apples. Perfect specimens of these last were received yesterday by the Chamber of Commerce from J. W. McKellar, and will be sent to the United States Department of Agriculture for classification.

For some years Mr. McKellar has been finding a rising percentage of coreless and seedless apples in the product of his orchard at Downey. This year he started a search for the tree and found it in a supposed Arkansas Beauty, but evidently a "sport" of the tribe, as the tree is a more prolific bearer than most of its sisters. In addition, the fruit is larger and of lighter color than the standard Arkansas Beauty.

Mr. McKellar intends to graft from the tree in case the Department of Agriculture finds the coreless and seedless fruit to be of commercial value.

SNEEZE SAVES.

A. B. Kallmeyer of No. 372 West Fortieth place escaped jury duty by a sneeze. Many men have escaped other things by a hair, but Mr. Kallmeyer's sneeze, being a hair-raising variety, brought about his discharge in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday. It occurred during the solemnity of examining jurors in a damage case.

"I can't help it, Your Honor," he apologized to the court. "I've got hay fever. You know what that's like."

MADAME ISE'BELL.

"The Esthetic Sense Needs Better Cultivation."

What is meant by "fashion?" When did fashion begin? Is it a law imposed on the many by the few, or is it a law of human nature? These are interesting questions.

The instinct to improve on nature, or at least to change nature, is easily traced back to the savage or primitive races. The African tribes, according to the reports of travelers, enlarge the size of the lips by mutilating them, stick darts through the nostrils and rings through the ears, and some tribes change the shape of the head by bandaging it during infancy. The American Indian painted his face, the Chinese compressed the feet of their women, and so on. If we study the habits of past civilizations we find everywhere some attempt to pervert the normal or to call attention to some anatomical peculiarity.

When we look at the history of modern civilization we find many cases of perversions from the lovely. The fact that the standard of beauty seems to differ in different ages and climes is often used as an argument to excuse freak fashions—we will like them when we get used to them. As a rule we rarely have the time to get used to them, so quickly are they followed by some other phase of the changing modes.

There is, after all, only one enduring standard of beauty and that is healthful nature. We admire the rose because it is fresh, unsullied, without mar or blemish. Any taint of disease, of abnormality in beast or vegetation—and both are discarded.

The human figure in youth and health is the standard of beauty, and any fashion that does not develop so as to preserve and protect these lines is devoid of aesthetic qualifications. The crinoline, the bustle, the hourglass corset, the fashionable modern shoe are fashions that distort nature and are nothing more than examples of abnormalities imposed on women by some invisible despot.

Is the civilized world in this respect very far removed from the savage? Crinolines and waist compressers have for the moment disappeared, but this last year women—not the best class certainly, but a sufficient number to attract attention—have worn colored hair and made up their faces with tinted paint and powder that did not in the least pretend to supplement nature. Barbaric and ugly, we all agree after the fad is over. But, until women develop a higher aesthetic sense in regard to clothes, we can never be sure that the next whim of fashion may not be equally ugly and abnormal.

Quality

It's a fine thing to sell quality, but a deal finer to deliver it, says Greer-Robbins Co.

The Hupmobile has always delivered quality, and we think the new model goes farther in that direction than any other Hup—Which is no slight praise for it.

To begin with, it's a five-passenger car—five passengers, mind you, with room for everybody to relax.

And it has plenty of power—the motor is larger and there are a lot of refinements to take care of that.

You couldn't want or ask for more conveniences or more complete equipment than this car carries. It has everything—not a single extra for you to buy.

We tell you it's a beauty, and every bit as good—inside and out—as it looks.

Step in and see it.

With the sedan or coupe top, designed especially for the touring car and the roadster and attached at small cost, you can drive all winter in comfort.

DUCK SEASON OPENS WITH A ROAR OF ARTILLERY.

BY EDWIN L. HEDDERLY.

WITH the roads lined and every club blind filled, the duck season of 1914-15 was ushered in forty-five minutes before time yesterday morning in a bombardment that at least equalled anything ever recorded in the sporting world. The running-off of a grand American handicap was as a party of rabbit hunters. Comparisons fail feebly; perhaps a full park of Colt's automatics and Nordenfelt machine guns might be something like it. For two hours the whip crack of nitro powder ticked off the seconds. Within an area four miles wide by seven in length upwards of a thousand guns grew hot—and yet some people think trap shooting pays the ammunition trust's 77 per cent. dividends! At one lousy teal twenty-six shots, aggregating twice his weight of metal, were hurled, and when last seen his gear was sealed in the fourth speed. Doubtless he is going yet.

That tells the story. Much powder was burned. The good shots all got the limit on the clubs. Many a gun barrel was dented swinging against an elbow neighbor on the roads. Opinions agree nothing ever was like it. The good roads themselves are killing off the road hunting by making it too easy to get at. Many who played it yesterday quit the game for keeps. Men wrangled and brawled noisily over ducks that ten had shot at. One high hen sprig, badly body shot, set her wings and sailed out of the Canvasback across the highway, dying. Twenty shots burst forth, and the concussion may have hastened her end. None of the dozen men had toucher a feather of her, but it looked like a general engagement for a minute until the longest-legged made off hurriedly with his bone whilst the wrangle progressed. It was to laugh, but everybody was too busy.

A perfect day dawned, warm, but not hot, and the waning moon enabled the road hunters to break the Federal sunrise shooting law fifteen minutes earlier than usual.

By 8 o'clock the ducks were sky high and speeding away in all directions. Upwards of a hundred thousand shells went up in the thin smoke of "smokeless" powder; $2500 in real money vanished in a couple of hours; enough lead hit the earth to "salt" a dozen mines and to freight down the largest motor truck—some 7000 pounds!

More sprig were in sight than anything else at the opening, but these wise fowl soon find out the sinister meaning of gunfire and keep above its range until they locate the ocean. The big ducks were driven to sea so soon that they overlooked the "mornin's mornin'" of a deep, fresh drink. At intervals, big flights swung off the

Let's Hope So.

1916 OLYMPIC GAMES MAY COME TO LOS ANGELES.

BY WILLIAM M. HENRY.

LOS ANGELES, instead of Berlin, may be the scene of the 1916 Olympic games.

Yesterday morning the Los Angeles Playground Commission decided to take steps to secure this event for the city and Supt. Rait was empowered to see the proper authorities and put in our bid for the biggest athletic event in the world's history.

AT THE PARK.

If the big event is secured it will be held in the big Exposition Park Stadium, the plans for which were drawn up some time ago by Architect W. D. Cook, and which is in the course of being constructed at the present time.

"Los Angeles is without any question, an ideal place for the 1916 Olympic games," said a prominent A. A.U. official yesterday when approached on the subject. "It seems almost a certainty that Berlin will forego the pleasure of holding the games and it is an equal certainty that the games will not be allowed to go by default.

MUST COME.

"This country, being the only world power not engaged in the war, is the logical place for the big event and we will certainly get it. The question of location will come up, in the big national meeting of the A.A.U. next month and with the western associations all pulling for Los Angeles there is no reason why we should not get the games."

Two big factors will enter into the question—accessibility and the accommodations to be offered.

JUST RIGHT.

Los Angeles answers the question favorably. The old adage that all railroads lead to Los Angeles makes this place an ideal spot for the big games. The wonderful climate and scenic beauties would unite in helping the visiting athletes show their best form and at the same time get a glimpse of the Sunny Southland.

As for facilities, those which the new stadium will afford cannot be surpassed.

WE'RE AHEAD.

The Swedish stadium contained a circular track of approximately 421 yards in circumference, which barely allowed the necessary 120-yard straightaway for the high hurdles.

The local track will be the regula-

EIGHTEEN SPEED MONSTERS ENTER THE CACTUS DERBY.

BY AL G. WADDELL.

PHOENIX road race stock was boosted sky-high yesterday, when entrants made a grand rush to get in the running before the preliminary lists closed at noon. Ten cars were entered during the last hour before the entry fee jumped from $200 to $300, and it is practically assured that several post entries will come in and boost the purse about $2000 before the lists close tight October 22.

Chairman Leon T. Shettler was kept busy for more than an hour before noon making out entry blanks and taking in entry fees.

WANTED TAIL END.

H. C. McMaster, entrant of Stutz No. 17, was so anxious to be the last entry that he waited until one minute before noon to make out his blank. Shettler told him that the last two places were held in reserve. McMaster could not agree to this, but Shettler told him that men who had reserved the last two numbers had put up their entry fees a long time before, and the cash ruled the situation.

An entry arrived from Phoenix, Ariz., by wire, too late, and was not accepted, but will go on the lists if it is found that the wire was filed at Phoenix in time to reach racing headquarters before the lists closed.

All afternoon there were inquiries made in person and over the phone by prospective entrants, and it is believed that a number of these will come in at the $300 fee.

BITTER DISAPPOINTMENT.

Don Lee was sorely disappointed to receive a telegram from J. E. Brown, who was sent to Detroit, stating that it would be impossible to get any of the new eight-cylinder Cadillacs here in time for the race.

He is determined to be well represented, however, and entered two Paiges. Louis Nikrent will drive one and Ted Beaudet will start first in another Paige. Bill Bramlette, who ordered a new Cadillac eight, shared Lee's disappointment. He says he will start his old thirteen, that has already traveled more than 50,000 miles.

AMONG THOSE PRESENT.

Among the ten tail-enders to come in yesterday were three little Metz cars. The machines are entered by the Metz company, but the drivers have not been nominated as yet.

Billy Taylor is in with his Alco, which nosed Ralph de Palma's Mercedes out of third place in the Grand Prize at Santa Monica last February. Henley Ellis of Santa Ana came in with his Buick, and an unknown entrant placed a De Dietrich in the running. George M. Lack is responsible for the entry of the Kincaid Special, which is to be piloted in the great desert run by Jack Greenwood.

It was learned yesterday that the Maxwell to be driven by Billy Carlson is not one of the famous Maxwell racing machines, but a stock Maxwell "25."

The car entered by A. B. Daniels, owner of the Locomobile which won the desert race last year, is still a mystery. The driver who will start Daniels's entry is also unknown, and is causing a great deal of speculation among the road race followers.

R. L. Lawrence has been named as

WOMEN IN HIGH-TOP RUBBER BOOTS OUT HUNTING IN THE EARLY HOURS.

Duck hunters have been coming back with small bags because they were not properly equipped to go after the water fowls. Ducks cannot be hunted with the same outfits that are used for chasing the land birds.

The Cline-Cline Company has laid in a complete stock of outfits for duck hunters. Those hunters who have used these have brought back large bags.

Several of the fair sex were seen tramping through the marshes in the early morning light in high-topped rubber boots. They managed to shoot down not a few ducks.

TIGERS AGAIN SPANK SEALS.

Meloan Cinched Game with Double in Sixth.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

The Tigers trimmed the Seals yesterday, and it didn't seem to be such a tough job at that.

Our athletes scored with ease and grace at all times, while the San Francisco boys opened all their perspiration pores in dribbling over two runs.

SOME QUESTION.

The game was one of many staged this season to settle the old and important question of whether Cack Henley is greater than Spider Baum. That is, to decide whether Hogan made a good deal when he swapped a telegraph operator for a bricklayer.

Yesterday Cack looked much superior to Spider. He fed the Seals something out of his hod hand that they could seldom hit in the pinches, while the Tigers spattered base hits around the place like a machine gun shooting hot butter against a brick wall.

ADVICE.

On the evidence gathered yesterday we would candidly advise all boys who desire to become great pitchers to lay the proper foundation for their chosen career by first becoming bricklayers. Laying brick sharpens the eye, quickens the intellect and develops bumps over the shoulder blades.

Baum is today a horrible example of a pitcher who was reared in the lap of luxury and who never laid a brick in his life. Had Spider built a brick block or two single-handed before entering baseball, it is altogether probable that he would have won yesterday, or at least held his own with Cack. Too many young men neglect their early education.

EARLY RUSH.

The Tigers bounded into the lead with a tally in the first. San Francisco ketched up with them in the second, but Bill Leard put us back in front with a triple in the third. The Seals sneaked up and tied the score again in the sixth when we weren't looking. In that same notable inning, Paul Meloan poked his pinch-hitting phiz into the picture long enough to slam out a double with three men on bases, and the issue, naturally, never was in doubt after that.

THE ATTACK.

Carlisle opened the first-inning attack with a single. Leard slammed out one of the same kind and Walt chased home when Coy's throw to head him off at third came in a bit low and threatened to tear a leg or two off Charley O'Leary.

Jerry Downs broke out with a triple in the second, and Coy walked. They tried a double steal that missed fire, and Jerry was caught on the line. After Corhan had fanned, Cartwright crashed a single off Borton's well-known glove, and Coy rushed from second to the plate at top speed. Schmidt grounded to McArdle.

CACK ARRIVES.

Cack singled to O'Leary in the third. This so surprised Carlisle that he fanned. Bill Leard proved himself the right kind of a patriot by puncturing the score board with a triple, Cack coming home with all the grace and speed of a sewing machine. Bill firmly believed that he had made a home run, but discovered his mistake upon arriving at the plate, Schaller and Corhan having hustled the pill to that point ahead of him.

A walk by Schaller, the untimely demise of Downs and a tidely single by Coy yielded an important tally in the sixth.

SOME RALLY.

Consequently, the Tigers were furious when they came to bat in the second half. Bayless and Borton both singled with lightning rapidity, and Litschi sacrificed. McArdle was passed, loading the sacks to the brim.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—By winning from Oakland here today while San Francisco was losing to Venice, Portland practically clinched the Coast League championship and the 1914 pennant. For the Seals to annex the coveted streamer, Portland must slump and slump woefully, and from the fast pace the northerners now are setting, this seems improbable.

Portland still has twelve games to play before the close of the season, while San Francisco will participate in eleven more games. Should the Seals win all of these remaining contests and Portland win but half her remaining games, their percentages would be:

	Won	Lost	Pct.
San Francisco	120	91	.569

However, should the Beavers lose seven out of twelve and the Seals win eleven straight, Portland would finish the season with a percentage of .568 and San Francisco would win the pennant by one thousandth of a point.

Tigers and Quakers Clash on the Gridiron Tomorrow.

War Clouds.

BOTH TEAMS PRIMED FOR TOMORROW'S SHOW-DOWN.

Coach Pipal's Men Suffering from Stuffy Heads—Sam McClung, Tiger Half, is Threatened with Tonsilitis. Quakers Fear of Conference—Game Doped to be Fast and Spectacular — Outcome in Doubt.

BY HOWARD W. ANGUS.

THE last scrimmages have been held; the final practices come this afternoon; then tomorrow and the fateful gridiron battle between Occidental and Whittier in the latter's city.

The Tigers, twice champions, with everything to lose and little to win, face the struggle with grim faces and not a little worry. The Quakers, never champions, with everything to win and little to lose, strengthened by the addition of valuable men, face the struggle with boyish confidence.

SOME PERIL.

The Quaker "peril" looms high on the football horizon. Nobody is more awake to it than the Tiger veterans. Last season in a fierce battle that tested their stamina to the utmost, the Tigers were victorious by one touchdown and a goal, 7 to 6. This year a stronger line and a stronger backfield represents Whittier.

Weakened by serious losses, strengthened by added experience, Coach Pipal's 1914 "speed merchants" face the fear of the conference, a varsity that many have doped to take the championship.

IN SECRET.

For a solid week both varsities have been training in the strictest of secrecy. The coaches have worked the men to the limit, doing everything in their power to whip the teams into the height of condition for this early season game.

To add to the Tiger worries an epidemic of colds—the same that has been spreading through the city—struck the players and stuffed the heads of Batz, Deems, Squires and Stearns. As if that were not enough, Sam McClung has been out of the last two practices with a high fever and threatened tonsolitis.

LOSE EDGE.

While all these men expected to be in the game for all they are worth, this may take the fighting edge off. A blunt fighting edge will lose a game.

While Coach Pipal is looking on the bright side as much as possible, this sudden unconditioning of the men has caused him sleepless nights. It was something he was powerless to prevent. Knowing that a full fighting strength is required, working unceasingly to round a varsity that started late into top shape, this last straw is adding gray hairs to the "Hurry-up" coach's head.

It is impossible to get a line on the relative merits of the two varsities. The Tigers are veterans—members of a championship squad—they can not be weak. The Quakers pounded the L.A.A.C. to pieces with a line-up that was mostly subs. They gave the Tigers their hardest struggle last season. They cannot be anything but strong.

WIDE OPEN.

Neither team has showed its hand. Both play the wide-open game with its switching attacks, its tricks and its "fade-away" formations. In the L.A. A.C. game Whittier used five straight plays only. In the L.A.A.C. game, Sid Foster and Sam McClung, the all-southern backs, each ran with the ball once.

Whatever new plays and new formations Coach Pipal and Coach Wilson have to spring on each other have been tried out in secret.

The back field of Occidental and Whittier boast famous players. Capt. Sid Foster and Sam McClung of the Tigers are exceptional half-backs. Foster is the greatest open-field runner in the south. McClung, steady as the day is long, a slippery hard runner, holds up his end at the other half. Brandstetner just began to show what was in him at the close of the 1913 season. Pete Lenz is a much improved quarter. He was a novice at the beginning of last season; he is an experienced man this.

THE QUAKERS.

Brownell and Bogue, the Quaker halves, worked together at Earlham. They know each other's strength and weakness, as well as the Oxy pair. Capt. Finch is a smasher. With a line to help him, he is a ripper and a smasher.

Cammack, the quarter, is a slippery runner. He may get away any time. How his head will stack up against Lenz remains to be seen.

It is claimed that the Whittier line is much improved. It is a new creation. It will go through the fire and water test tomorrow. The ends, Sharpless and Chambers, are stockily built, made for the smashing of interference. They have been successful at the forward pass. Barnes and Siemon, the tackles, are strangers to collegians. Siemon was once all-southern prep tackle. Since then he has grown longer and added little weight. Barnes is built like Shipke of Oxy from the ground up. He has little experience.

THE SUBS.

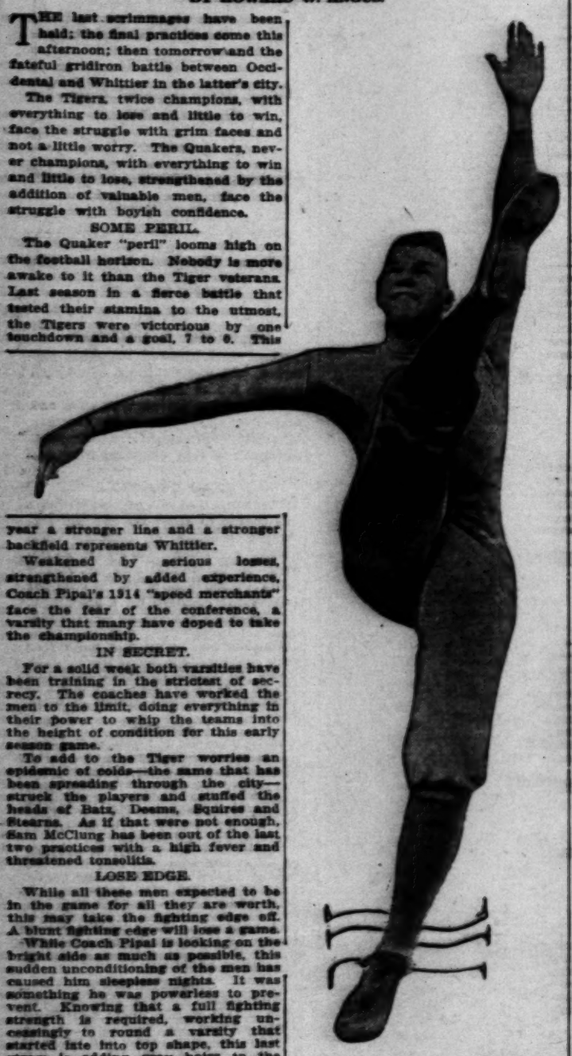
The Tigers have a strong line. It is weaker, perhaps, than last season. There is no Jones on the sideline to jump into the game at the crucial moment. There is no Kirkpatrick to pull forward passes out of the sky. There is no Chick Hill, spiller of interference. Tub Wieman, the center who was always on the ball, is among the missing.

But Shipke at tackle is a whole team in himself. When that great bulk of brawn and muscle gets into action something has to give somewhere. Deems, the other tackle, is light but crafty. He handles himself in the most approved style. Doig at center is making the Tigers forget Wieman. On the offense his passing is accurate; on the defense he is a sure tackler. Stearns at guard is a fighter. Coach Pipal last season considered him one of his most valuable men. Squires is proving a stronger guard than tackle.



"Feet" Brownell,

Coffeen and Batz, the ends, are the men to be tried. On defense they have proved themselves reliable, sure tacklers. They are down the field on punts. How they will be on forward passes on the line, cannot be said until the Tigers open up against Whittier.

Lloyd Davies, a newsboy who has been boxing around Los Angeles for some months, has had the advantage of more preparation than any other boxer now fighting here. When a very small boy, he went to school in England to a schoolmaster who had been the amateur champion of Great Britain. After coming to this country, he entered the navy and had a thorough schooling in boxing on board ship. He has been boxing successfully in the four-round game in this city for some time. Last night he boxed a draw at the St. Ignacius Club and tonight meets Jimmy O'Laverty at Venice.

SAYLOR-MOY DRAW; WATSON WINS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Milburn Saylor of Indianapolis and Eddie Moy of Philadelphia fought twenty gruelling rounds to a draw at Daly City tonight. Saylor was the stronger of the two, but Moy's cleverness evened matters up. They are lightweights.

Rudy Watson of San Diego knocked out Fighting Dick Hyland of San Francisco in the thirteenth round of a scheduled twenty-round contest, preliminary to the Saylor-Moy bout. Hyland was saved from a knockout in the twelfth round by the bell.

At the beginning of the thirteenth round Watson put Hyland in a bad way with rights and lefts to the jaw. Watson then appealed to the referee to stop the bout and on his refusal delivered the knockout blow. Watson went to the assistance of his fallen foe before completion of the count.

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 15.—Announcement was made this afternoon of the retirement from Yale athletics of Walter Camp, who for over twenty years had been at the head of Yale football and for the past twenty-two years the financier of Yale athletics. Mr. Camp has resigned as treasurer of the Yale Financial Union and as a member of the athletic council which controls sports. He will devote himself from now on exclusively to business.

He is president of the New Haven Clock Company, and by reason of the recent death of Vice-President Stevens of that company, the entire responsibility of the business will fall on Mr. Camp. His resignation is due to Mr. Stevens's death and not to any shake-up in Yale athletics. Whatever time Mr. Camp may devote to athletics in the future will simply be that of a graduate and not as a salaried officer.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Oct. 14.—The California freshmen and the University of Nevada meet on the Rugby field Saturday for the big game of the freshman season. The game will officially close the babe season.

The babes are a heavy lot this year. Their average scrum weight is 165 pounds. This is a little below that of last year, but it is high for a first-year team. The Nevada scrum will average 157 pounds, eight pounds less than the freshmen.

In preliminary games the scrum has proved the most valuable portion of the freshman team. Its weight has enabled it to smash up most of the prep-school competitors hereabouts. Liversedge, holder of the American scholastic record for the javelin throw, is the star of the pack. His 196 pounds of beef and his speed make him a dangerous man. Bender, at middle rank, has the same weight and, in addition, red hair. The combination of weight under his jersey and fiery red above it has made Bender a much-respected player.

THE BACKFIELD.

Harper, another Angeleno, is to be master of the scrum. He has also the distinction of being the captain of the team. His appointment to captaincy breaks a precedent of several years' standing. For several years past no captain for the freshman team has been named.

The backfield still shows raw spots. It is full of good individual players, but teamwork is not very highly developed. However, this is usual with first-year teams, and what the babes lack in skill they make up in fight.

THE NEVADA TEAM.

The Sagebrushers gave the Olympic Club a sound trouncing when that club went to Reno two weeks ago. Olympic Club men are inclined to think that the freshmen will have to "go some" to beat them. The fact that the Olympic Club is considered a worthy foe for the varsity gives weight to their words.

tion 440 yards around and in addition will have a straightaway of 220 yards, doing away with the necessity of running the longer sprint around a curve.

LARGER.

The Stockholm amphitheater held 27,000 people when crowded to the guards, while it is estimated that the local concrete grand-stand will hold 30,000 or more.

The proposed stadium is to be located in the center of the present one-mile track at the Exposition Park tract at a point where there is already a natural depression divided by a hogsback.

The idea of Architect Cook was to remove the hogsback and use some of that dirt to fill in the opposite end of the stadium, making the track considerably lower than the surrounding ground.

THE STAND.

The slopes are to be graded and built up into a gigantic concrete stand which will cost comparatively little and be at the same time unique and beautiful.

If the games are secured for this city, the State, county and city will be asked to join in erecting the new stadium in order that it may be completed at the earliest possible moment.

Los Angeles has been the meeting place of the world's greatest men in every line excepting that of amateur athletics. Why not cap the climax by bringing the world's biggest athletic event to Los Angeles?

For the four world's series in which they have engaged, Collins and Barry have a total batting percentage of .304, which is no mean mark.

In the four games played between Boston and Philadelphia, Evers and Maranville had a combined batting percentage of .380.

They probably would not maintain this mark in four world's series, even did not accumulating years, which will soon begin to bear heavily on Evers, preclude the possibility of the combination being kept intact for that length of time, but they now bask in the luster of an achievement which excels the world's series accomplishments of Collins and Barry at their best.

The Philadelphia pair hit .342 in their first world's series experience, which was against the Cubs in 1910. Their average against New York in 1911 was .325, and last season, when at the apogee of their effectiveness, they made their best world's series mark against New York, with an average of .359.

Then came the startling slide, and the pair who had been for four years billboarded and headlined as the greatest ever gleaned a pathetic percentage of .144 off the pitching of Messrs. James, Rudolph, et al.

No system has yet been devised by which the comparative value of keystone combinations can be computed, but the figures have enthroned Evers and Maranville as the king pins of that department, and they will continue to rule until next spring, at least.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—Three Oakland heavers faced the Portland league leaders here today, and each was treated to as merry a bombardment as has fallen to his lot all season. In all, eighteen hits were accumulated by the slugging Beavers, including a home run, a triple and two two-baggers. The score was 12 to 5. Score:

Tigers Spank Seals.

This showed sagacity on the part of Baum, as McArdle is dangerous in a pinch, but Hogan counteracted the move by sending Melean in to bat for McClain. Paul punched a neat double to right, scoring Bayless and Borton, and McArdle came home when Mundorff made a bum throw to second. Paul pushed along to third on the error, and was caught at the plate when Henley failed to hit the ball. Cack later grounded to Corhan.

Carlisle doubled to right in the ninth and experienced all the sensations that go with a home run by going clear around to the plate while the Seals were engaged in a wild-throwing seance. Walt would have scored anyway, as Wilhoit doubled and Borton and Litschi singled later in the inning.

A STRANGER.

Hap Hogan, a rising young benchwarmer, caught the last two innings for the Tigers, and distinguished himself by making a hit in the ninth. A stranger in the audience expressed surprise that Hank Gowdy could reach the Coast so soon after the world's series.

All efforts to get Hap around to the plate were futile. He reached third, but got nailed on the line between there and the plate when Leard fanned. Some accused Hap of trying to steal home, but such was not the case. It was a run-and-hit play with the punch extracted.

ANGELS MAKE A BELATED RALLY.

TWO DOWN, TWO STRIKES ON THE BATTER, THEY SCORE FOUR RUNS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—With two men out and two strikes on the third batter, the Missions looked to have the game on ice by a 3-to-2 score this afternoon at Oakland, but such proved to be not the case, however, for the Angels made a regular grand-stand finish, scoring four runs and taking the game by a score of 6 to 3.

In the ninth old "Silver-Top" Dillon sent "Ice Wagon" Meek in as a pinch hitter, and the heavyweight catcher reached first on balls. Johnson hit into a double. It looked as if it was all over when Harper had two strikes called on him. J. Williams was replaced by C. Williams when Harper came to bat. Harper chose the third one pitched him and ironed it out into center. Mister Gedeon was patient and walked to first. Wolter ploughed into the pill, driving it to the fence in center, scoring Harper and Gedeon. Metzger was safe on Hallinan's error, Ellis beat out an infield hit, and Wolter and Metzger were brought home by Abstein, who hit into deep right. Maggert was an easy infield doubt. The inning resulted in four hits for four runs. The Missions were easy for Chech in their half of the ninth.

Duck Season Opens.

western sand dunes and warmed up the scatter pipes of the beach combers, but long before they hove within cannon shot, turned tail and sped back from whence they came. It was a thoroughly demoralized rout of ducks the hunters left behind them, and three-fourths of the birds left the country, many not to return. The resumption of hostilities tomorrow was known to be in bad judgment, but owing to the impossibility of holding down the "unattached" road hunters, the clubmen thought they might as well take what they could get, so decided to shoot Saturday.

Reports from the various clubs tallied very closely. On opening day, the that not even the new-come "green" birds of late November would risk. They are young now, but rapidly taking their "high school" diplomas. Those who could hit 'em got the limit, and the rest bagged all they were entitled to. In the Orange county Westminster district, the Blue Wing, Sunset, Christopher, Chico, Westminster, McAleer, Green Wing, Canvasback, West Shore, Lomita, Cassadores, Bolsa Chica, Bluebill, Saamae, Golden West, and San Pedro, all had limit possibilities bounded only by pointing skill. On the Bolsa Chica a full turnout took in full bags. The Blue Wing club, which has the best shooting, and yet denies itself the most, started in with ducks fly everywhere and do things the Wednesday squad instead of letting down the bars to the whole membership. Even the new members bagged early limits.

CANVASBACK REPORTS.

Twelve guns on the Canvasback ponds, W. F. Chandler, A. E. Morro, Joseph M. Gore, Frank Cassou, Thomas McD. Potter, Dr. J. W. Jauch, Henry Pfirrmann, Jr., Henry Seber, E. A. Featherstone, Samuel C. Hall, W. Y. Teetzel and Edwin L. Hedderly, bagged 351 birds. About two-thirds were green-winged teal, a sprinkling of cinnamons and spoonbills, and the rest spriga. All the birds were in the height of condition, fat, heavy, and better even than the average first-of-the-season duck, owing to the heavy crop of weed seeds and natural feed. The Canvasback ponds are full of cockleburs for cover this year. These afford considerable feed when the soaked burs release their seed.

Under the Federal law, the large waders, or "snipe," are protected for five years, excepting the "Jack" or Wilson snipe, which may be shot in the open season for ducks, which ends January 31. Many were ignorant of this point, and on the roads particularly the long-billed brotherhood suffered sorely. The road gentry were banging away at mudhens for ducks, and, all in all, 'twas some Roman holiday!

MANY QUAIL LIMITS BAGGED.

Although the unusual heat discouraged some of the quail hunters, plenty were left. All of Wednesday cars of every name and nature left town in all directions, for this year there were quail everywhere. It was a banner breeding season; the same plenty of feed that made the ducks so fat bred a heavy crop of quail in the hills. In the inland valleys and on the desert slopes, the weather was against anything like sport; it was hot all night. With cooler weather, this will prove a record year.

W. Y. Teetzel, Wiley Ambrose, Arthur E. Jackson and H. J. Engelbrecht, the last two of Santa Monica, left yesterday noon for Fallbrook in Ambrose's car. "Uncle Bill" Teetzel claims discovery rights over Fallbrook territory, and aims to add title by conquest every year. They will return Monday.

Dr. George W. McCoy, Elton Hadley, Dr. H. D. Wilson and E. L. Hedderly will leave this morning for Fallbrook to work over "Uncle Bill's" tailings, the idea being that "Uncle Bill" and his buck dog need to be "spotted" a day to get a new gun out of their system.

Indications are that Fallbrook will be "shot out" by Saturday.

W. F. Chandler, Frank Cassou, Joe Gore and several others are planning a week-end raid on the Cassou holdings near Escondido. This country is unusually well stocked with quail this year.

The midnight Santa Fe Owl, or "fish train," will add hunters to its complement Saturday night, Costa, Encinitas and Carlsbad being their destinations. Scouts report a big showing of birds encountered during dove shooting. Of course nobody found out whether the quail were as fat as they looked. Dove hunters never do such things.

Many rabbits is the general verdict, also.

The quail season lasts only a month and most gunners aim to get all that is coming to them.

As the sixteen-bore is the standard duck gun, so the twenty is the quail gun par excellence. The work some men do with these little things has to be seen before most shooters would credit it.

GILLETTE LEADING BANKS IN MATCH.

Gillette defeated Banks again last night in their three-cushion 150-point billiard match. The score last night was 50 to 49 in eighty-nine innings. The final game will be played tonight at the Sultan parlors. The score for the first two nights' play is Gillette, 100, and Banks 96.

SOME PRESENT.

With the 10-gauge gun presented to him by the members of his classes, Dean Frank M. Porter, head of the U.S.C. College of Law, yesterday shot the limit of ducks at the Sunset Gun Club near Sunset Beach. Members of the law faculty were given the ducks.

Smoke tobacco, not tabasco!

You listen to this:

There isn't anything the matter with your smokappetite. You try Prince Albert in a jimmy pipe or rolling a few makin's cigarettes before you do the next thing. And you'll wise up to what the doctor ordered! For P. A. in a cigarette or a pipe is a wonder—so bully in flavor and fragrance. And it's easy to roll, because it "stays put."

Unlike any other tobacco, Prince Albert can't bite your tongue and can't parch your throat. That's cut out by a patented process. No other tobacco can be made like it.

Everywhere you travel throughout the nation you'll find more men smoking pipes than ever before. Since P. A. hit the turf, less than five years ago, three men now smoke a pipe where one smoked before. What's the answer?

Just you get your tidy red tin, fire up a few loads of "the national joy smoke," and you'll wise up so quickly you'll think you've been napping for the last few years. And that's no idle dream!

Just buy P. A. like you never had smoked any other brand. The doctor's wise. Say "P. A. for mine." In the tappy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins 10c; also in handsome pound and half-pound humidors. You'll get acquainted right well on the second fire-up. Oh?

Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian, has a reputation for stinginess, only the Scotch spell it t-h-r-i-f-t. Nevertheless, he is always ready to help when some one is in need. Only recently when he appeared as an actor at a benefit performance of "A Scrape o' the Pen" in London, he was the first to start a collection to raise the proceeds of the benefit to 5000 pounds. Which leads up to a story he tells on himself.

After he had become successful and had gathered to himself sufficient "siller," he decided to buy an estate in Scotland and become a Laird, which is the height of most true Scots' ambition. He bought an old estate at Duncon and assumed the dignity of a Laird. Summoning one of the old tenants, he questioned him as to what the Lairds of Dunéon had been accustomed to do for their tenantry.

"Ye will ken, Sandy, mon," said Harry, "that I weesh to follow a' the auld customs o' the Lairds o' Dunoon. Will ye tell me o' the same?"

"That I will and gladly," said the old fellow. "First o' a', it has been the custom o' the Lairds o' Duncon tae gie a grand supper tae a' the lads and lassies o' the estate. When would it please you to haud the first one?"

"As you say in America," explained Lauder, "I was 'the goat.' I gave the grand supper, but never again did I ask about old customs."

The three Scotch Mayors of Los Angeles, present incumbent and ex's, Messrs. Rose, Alexander and McAleer will sit in a box at the Majestic and listen to Harry Lauder tonight, after which they will escort him to Levy's, and those who prefer drummock may drink it.

Isabelle June Lowe at the Mason is some little chaufferess. She went to San Juan Capistrano the other day to look over the quaint old mission and town, and visit some old-time friends. Mr. and Mrs. Friend own an automobile and took Miss Lowe for a ride to the coast.

"I had to catch that 6 o'clock train," said Miss Lowe, "and as I was driving, believe me we kept the tail lights of that train in sight, and I caught it, even if we did make an altitude record and arrive at the depot on our rims."

Al Watson of the Bert Levey Republic states that Mr. Levey writes him that Australia, New Zealand, China and Japan are clamoring for American vaudeville acts at present, owing to the dearth of European entertainers because of the war. Booking Manager Bob Burns is keeping his eyes peeled for good acts for his circuit.

Sam Rork, manager of the Gaiety company, brought home from New York a pocket full of good musical comedy for the new Gaiety company. Among them are "The Rose Maid," "Louisiana Lou," "The Golden Girl," "The Gingerbread Man," "Sunshine Girl," and "The Pink Lady."

Mr. Rork says it is the intention of the Gaiety management to produce three or four new musical comedies during the coming season.

According to Mr. Rork theatrical conditions in New York are very bad on account of the war, and he claims that the western stock organizations are bound to profit by this state of things, since stock companies will have the benefit of the services of many people otherwise not obtainable.

Miss Grace Edmunds, for instance, who will play "The Red Widow," was booked to star in a new Klaw & Erlanger revue, but owing to the uncertainty of its production, Miss Edmunds accepted a position in the Gaiety company.

Also Mr. Rork says that since eastern capitalists cannot go to Europe California will have more than the usual quota of tourist trade this winter, which, of course, makes for theatrical profit.

The Gaiety company has been sending out the following letter to everybody in town: "Dearie, let's get married. I'll be at the Morosco Theater tonight at 8:15. {Signed} Elaine."

Yes, good people, Ismed, the Turkish pianist now setting 'em wild pounding the ivories at the Orpheum, is a real Turk. He was born at Adrianople, and his musical genius came as a gift. He is highly educated in music, however, having studied in Europe. He speaks English with almost no accent.

Mrs. Ismed is along, and belonging to the "young Turk" crowd, goes about unveiled. As she is very pretty, this is cause for gratulation.

Carmen Granada is merely the stage name of that pretty Lasky beauty who does the Russian girl at the Orpheum this week. She is really of Russian descent, her ancestors a couple of generations having dwelt in Petrograd, where her great grandfather was sentenced to Siberia for holding political opinions different from those of the Czar, but he somehow escaped to America.

Miss Granada, whose real name would fill the ordinary theatrical programme, and sounds like some of those words Gilett Burgess makes up as he goes along, is really a beauty at even three paces, and was with the Gilbert and Sullivan opera company last year. She has been on the stage only a year, but already a Gaiety scout was over looking at her yesterday for a real "speaking part."

Max Figman, who is being featured in a five-reel film version of "The Truth Wagon," by the Masterpiece Film Company, tells of a novel publicity campaign on the occasion of the initial stage production of this comedy drama.

The morning before the first performance was given the play was done for newspaper men exclusively. The curtain rose at 2 o'clock on the first act, and the play came to an end at sunrise. Thus was it possible for the newspaper men to attend, and, according to Mr. Figman, the house was packed.

"The Truth Wagon" is a newspaper story from beginning to end, and, according to M. De la Parelle, the producer, the film version will show very much more of the interior of a modern newspaper plant than the play did.

GEORGE PARKER'S RECORD OFFICIAL

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—It was unofficially announced here today that George Parker of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, will be credited with having equaled the world's amateur record time of 21 1-5 seconds in the 220-yard dash.

He accomplished this during the recent California track and field championship meet at Fresno, Cal., October 2, when he breasted the tape two feet ahead of Howard Drew of Los Angeles, Cal. Chairman Rubien of the Record Committee of the Amateur Athletic Union received official confirmation of Parker's performance from President William Unmack of the Pacific Association today and the record will in all probability be accepted at the next annual meeting of the A.A.U. here a few weeks hence.

BIG LEAGUERS GET TOGETHER FOR BARN STORMING TOUR.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Players who are to make up the all-star clubs of the American and National Leagues will assemble here tomorrow, it was announced today, for their post-season tour which opens Saturday in Milwaukee. The American League club will be under the management of Connie Mack, leader of the Philadelphia Americans. Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati Nationals, will have charge of the National League players. After playing in the principal cities of California, the clubs will sail for Honolulu, November 24, and return shortly after the first of the year.

"Big Bill" James, whose pitching aided the Boston club in defeating the Athletics in the world's series, will be a member of the Nationals' all-star pitching staff.

WHITE SOX WIN CHICAGO SERIES.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The Chicago American League club today won the final game of the series to decide the championship in Chicago, when they defeated their National League rivals 3 to 2. This is the fourth consecutive time that the American League has triumphed over the local Nationals. The series went the full seven games, the American Leaguers winning three straight. Score:

CLASSY CANINES WILL BE SHOWN.

The aristocrats of canine society will meet at the sixth annual dog show to be given November 5 to 7, by the Ladies' Kennel Association of Southern California. Hundreds of dollars worth of handsome silver trophies have been put up to be competed for, and dogs will come from far and wide. Even Great Britain has been drawn upon to furnish some of the local fanciers specimens with which they hope to win. These Los Angeles shows have always been considered the best on the Coast, but this year's event numerically, and in the monetary value of the animals to be benched, will eclipse any past events.

The officers of the club are busy in the lobby of the Hotel Lankershim taking entries, which must be in before October 22 or they will not be accepted.

Chicago and New York have been drawn upon for expert judges to award the ribbons.

TROJAN FROSH DISBAND TEAM.

The U.S.C. faculty disbanded the freshman team yesterday afternoon. Some of the men were down in their studies, so the ax was promptly applied.

The members of the team were also losing their enthusiasm. They didn't relish playing against the high schools. They yearned for larger fields to conquer.

It is expected that most of the freshmen will join the Trojans' second squad and help form a formidable eleven for the varsity to knock about. If they do not, the varsity will be up against it for a hard scrimmage.

ST. LOUIS (Mo.) Oct. 15.—Suit to recover the $750 given to the manager of Jack Dillon, as the latter's share of the proceeds of the Dillon-Brown bout here last night was filed today by the club that promoted the fight.

The fight was called off by the referee after the fourth round on the ground that it was a fake. Dillon, who was arrested last night after the fight was called off, was released today on a $1000 bond.

The Assistant Prosecuting Attorney this afternoon refused to issue warrants against Dillon, his manager, Samuel Murburger, and his trainer, Robert Stolkin, and the three were released.

Piano Lessons Free For Times Readers

By New Method of Teaching

IF YOU WANT TO KNOW HOW TO PLAY THE PIANO HERE IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY TO LEARN BY THE SIMPLEST AND EASIEST METHOD KNOWN :: :: ::

Starting Sunday, Oct. 18, the Los Angeles Times will publish the first of a series of twelve music charts, perfected by W. Scott Grove, which will enable any one to learn how to play the piano or organ. The other charts will be published on succeeding Sundays for twelve weeks, each one accompanied by full directions.

Any One Can Learn by This Method

Two exercises are given in each of the twelve lessons. They are indicated in the customary note signs which are familiar to all of us, but Greek to those who have never studied music. In addition to this, the exercises are charted so that any one, with or without knowledge of music, can pick out the exercises on the piano. Each chart indicates the white keys and the black keys that you are to strike and how you are to strike them; in fact it plans the whole exercises for you as simple as a-b-c.

After following this course you should be able to play the piano or organ. Of course, you will not be an expert, but you will be able to play ordinary music for your friends who sing and you will have a good foundation for future study.

If You Would Like to Learn How to Play the Piano, Look for the First Lesson, to Appear Sunday, Oct. 18

CUTS OFF ABOUT ELEVEN MILLIONS.

M. & M. MAKES RECOMMENDATION AS TO VOTING BONDS AT COMING ELECTION.

On the ballot at the November election will be propositions for the issuance of State bonds to the amount of $17,800,000. With the exception of the $1,250,000 for a State building in Los Angeles, all the rest is asked for by San Francisco and Sacramento. The directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association have eliminated that $10,000,000 asked for San Francisco Harbor and $750,000 for the erection of buildings on the State Fair grounds, thus reducing the proposed issues to a total sum of $7,050,000. The resolution adopted at the directors' meeting on Wednesday is as follows:

Whereas, several measures providing for the issuance of State bonds will be submitted to the voters at the coming election in November; therefore,

Be it resolved, by the board of directors of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, after careful consideration, that we recommend to voters that they cast their ballots in favor of the following:

No. 11 on the ballot, providing for the issuance and sale of State bonds in the sum of $1,800,000 for the erection and construction of buildings on the grounds at the University of California at Berkeley.

No. 35, providing for the issuance of bonds in the sum of $3,000,000 for additional State buildings in Sacramento.

No. 36, for the issuance of State bonds to the amount of $1,000,000 for the construction and equipment of a State building to be used by the officers and departments of State at San Francisco.

No. 38, providing for the issuance of bonds to the amount of $1,250,000 for the acquisition of a site and construction of a State building in the city of Los Angeles.

HEROINE SHE WOULD BE.

Woman Fearing Hold-up Forces Two Men to Leave Street Car at Point of Tiny Gun.

Mrs. Frances Vignaroli was in Police Judge Chamber's court yesterday, because she wasn't going to lose a chance to be a heroine. She was charged with carrying concealed weapons, but Detective McIntosh testified that her chief offense was misguided zeal and her bail money was returned and she given her liberty.

Mrs. Vignaroli, sitting in her little ice-cream stand at North Main street and the river, had read of street-car hold-ups and because she rode much of the owl cars, slipped a little revolver into her handbag. Riding home early yesterday morning she saw a coarse Mexican and a large negro board the car. The carmen were both on the front end and the talk of the dark-skinned two aroused her suspicions. She thought they were desperadoes. On her own initiative and single handed she took preventive measures. She drew out her little gun, poked it in the direction of the men and told them to be gone. They did, under wrathful protests. They went to a telephone, called the police, and Mrs. Vignaroli was transferred from the car to the automobile and her home-bound course interrupted until she could furnish bail. The court in dismissing the case advised the prisoner to leave her weapon at home and depend upon the police for protection.

REASONS FOR SAVING, SHOWN BY FILMS, BRING RESULTS IN THIS CITY.

While a motion picture drama in two reels, entitled "The Reward of Thrift," is being shown all over Los Angeles in a campaign to inculcate the idea of saving money by taking a percentage of the wage income and later utilizing this money for the purchase by easy payments on a home, the ten savings banks, under whose auspices the reels are shown, have pointed out that in the United States there is a smaller percentage of persons who save money than in any other civilized country of the world.

"The Reward of Thrift" centers in the life of a structural iron worker and his pals, and has already been productive of the opening of new savings accounts at all of the local banks. Its sponsors assert that there is no city in the country where the possibility of home owning is so easy as in Los Angeles, and that by a systematic scheme of putting away a little money each week or each month, immediately after pay-day, it would permit every family in the city under existing circumstances to buy and gradually pay for a comfortable bungalow, on a good-sized lot, in an attractive section of the city.

In the matter of the laxness of Americans to save their money, figures have been prepared showing that out of every thousand population, the number of savings depositors in the United States is only 99, as against the following number out of every thousand in the following countries: Switzerland, 554; Denmark, 442; Norway, 415; Sweden, 404; Belgium, 397; New Zealand, 360; France, 346; Holland, 325; Germany, 315; England, 302; Australia, 300; Tasmania, 286; Japan, 270; Italy, 220.

"The Reward of Thrift," which has now been in Southern California for nearly a month, will remain here until the first week in November. It is shown in Los Angeles, Hollywood, Ocean Park, San Pedro, Redondo, Santa Ana and San Bernardino. It was prepared under the direction of the American Bankers' Association, and locally is produced under direction of the following banks: California Savings, Citizens Trust and Savings, German American Savings, Hellman Commercial Trust and Savings, Hibernian Savings, Home Savings, International Savings and Exchange, Los Angeles Trust and Savings, Security, and Traders.

The children of Los Angeles are going to help Santa Claus this year in his flight over the war zone. Under the direction of the Million Club, headquarters where the clerical work of the gathering of toys may be systematized have been opened through the courtesy of R. A. Rowan at No. 109 South Broadway.

Toys to fill many thousands of stockings may be stored there until the great shipment of the aggregate forwards them to the battleship that Secretary of the Navy Daniels has prepared for a Christmas ship to take the gift toys from the children of the United States to the unfortunate little ones in Europe.

Dr. Henry A. Dowling of the Southern California Sunday-school Association has arranged for collection boxes to be placed in the assembly-rooms of every Sunday-school next Sunday, where the children may deposit their gifts. Arrangements with the school officials are now in progress by which the school children will be asked to contribute toys in a methodical manner.

Each little Santa Claus will inclose a stamped and self-addressed postcard that the little person abroad who awakens Christmas morning and finds the gift in the stocking may thank Santa Claus's assistant in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Catherine A. McKenna, chairman of the committee, is in charge of the headquarters. Several gifts had been presented yesterday, including a regiment of Teddy bears.

ROBBERS TWICE ESCAPE.

Four Auto Bandits Hold Up Woman in Store—Later She Sees Two on Street.

Robbed by four daylight auto bandits, Mrs. Minnie Gorman, proprietor of a confectionary store at No. 1652 West Washington street, yesterday turned detective, espied two of the four in Grand avenue, and missed capturing them by their fleeting escape to a street car.

The four men descended upon Mrs. Gorman's store from an automobile, ordered a soft drink and when the store was clear of other customers ordered her to turn her face into a corner. She complied, the quartette rifled the cash register of $2, filled their pockets with cigars, leaped into the automobile and sped away.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Gorman was walking on Grand avenue near Seventh. She passed two young men. Seeing Mrs. Gorman, one grabbed the arm of the other, they looked back and saw that Mrs. Gorman was running for the next corner, apparently in search of a patrolman. A car was passing. They dashed out into the street, caught it and again escaped.

SOLD PAPERS.

Henry and Ethel McCashin, whose mother, Louise Leavitt McCashin, lost her life in the Vineyard wreck, were awarded $11,000 damages against the Pacific Electric by a jury in Judge Wellborn's court yesterday. They sued through their grandmother, as guardian, for $50,000 damages. The corporation admitted liability.

Mrs. McCashin, who had been educated in Boston, was forced by the death of her husband to sell newspapers on the street to support herself and the two children. Despite this handicap she taught them to be athletic and cultivated their minds by taking them to hear prominent lecturers. During the day the boy and girl attended a nursery.

Attorney E. J. Fleming, who represented the guardian, may apply to the court to have a trust company appointed in connection with Grandfather Leavitt to care for the estate for the benefit of the children.

PROPOSE TO TEACH BIBLE IN SCHOOLS.

To Evade Law the Classes are to be Held Out of Regular Hours at Pasadena — Two Persons Injured in Auto Accidents — Nazarene Minister Divorced for Desertion.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

PASADENA, Oct. 16.—It remained for the Young Woman's Christian Association of Pasadena to find a way around the State law which forbids the teaching of the Bible in the public schools and hereafter it will be taught in the Pasadena High School, but not in school hours.

Many pupils desire to study the Bible and for many years the citizens of the Crown City have sought to have it placed in the schools. Last year they were confident that it would be included in the school work and that classes would be started in the study of history and literature from the Bible.

But just as it was about to be placed in the curriculum it was discovered that it could not be done legally. A campaign was started by all the churches and other institutions with the result that the problem has at last been solved.

The classes which will be held every Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock will be conducted by Mrs. Garrett Newkirk. She asserted yesterday that she had taken up the work because she wanted to train the young people for voting in the future for placing the Bible in all the public schools.

It is not her intention, she says, to teach the Bible in the Sunday-school way or yet in the way she teaches it to clubs, but merely for the sake of literature and history. She believes that no one can be called really well-educated until familiar enough with the Bible to understand Shakespeare, Tennyson and Browning, especially certain quotations from the Bible.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS.

As the result of two automobile collisions early last night, two men be in two different hospitals delirious and small hope is entertained for their recovery.

The first accident occurred at Raymond avenue and East Orange Grove avenue when J. N. Macomber, 25 years old, who was riding a bicycle, was run down by an auto driven by William Young of No. 321 Rosemont avenue.

Witnesses say that Young was on the wrong side of the street. Young Macomber, who is a mechanic, was on his way home at No. 1777 Kirkwood avenue, where he lives with his mother. He was taken to the Marengo Hospital, where it was stated last night that he was suffering with concussion of the brain with possibly a fractured skull.

Of the other man little is known. When he was carried to the Pasadena Hospital in a semi-conscious condition, he gave the name of J. H. Bush but no address and the hospital authorities are not sure that the correct name was given. He is about 60 years old and received a badly fractured hip, cuts around his eyes and may be otherwise injured.

This last accident occurred as he was riding a bicycle on Lake avenue near Villa street. He is said to have been on the wrong side of the street and was run into by H. C. Garby, who carried him to the hospital.

MINISTER DIVORCED.

When Henry A. Scheideman, a Nazarene minister, was informed that his wife, Mrs. Alice Scheideman, had obtained a divorce in San Diego yesterday, he was surprised. He didn't know anything about it. And he hadn't fought the case because he thought he ought to spend his money for "the Lord."

The young woman testified that while her Pasadena husband pursued his theological studies that he "allowed Divine Providence to take care of her support."

This makes the second divorce proceedings she has brought against the minister, and when questioned yesterday at the university he acknowledged that he thought he ought to use his money for religious purposes rather than to fight divorce proceedings.

He was married several years ago while pursuing his studies in Los Angeles. He received a call, he says, to practice his religion and his wife, he asserts, refused to live with him and brought suit for divorce on a charge of desertion, but the decree was not granted.

Scheideman declares that he did not desert his wife and that he has always had enough to support her, but that she refused to come here and live with him. He says that he still cares for her and would take her back if she would come to him. The divorce was granted this time on a charge of desertion.

LUNACY CHARGED.

Because he beat his baby and has acted queerly in other respects, George Gamos was not held for trial yesterday in Judge Dunham's court on a charge of cruelty to animals, but was sent to the County Hospital to await an examination before the Lunacy Commission.

C. H. Kelly, field officer of the Humane Society, swore to the first complaint against Gamos, charging that he had driven a rented horse last Sunday nearly fifty miles. After questioning Gamos the judge decided that he showed signs of an unbalanced mind. And his brother, Gus Gamos, swore out the lunacy charge.

Ever since he was injured in an accident a month ago he has acted queerly, his brother stated. For weeks he was desperately ill in the Pasadena Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull. He escaped from the hospital and went home about ten days ago while his nurse was out of his room.

LANCASTER, Oct. 15.—While waiting for his auto to be repaired in a garage today, Louis W. Cubbison, a county chauffeur, of No. 822 Grand view avenue, Los Angeles, hunted quail and was accidentally shot in the right eye by Albert Chapman, a local contractor.

The victim, who was given first aid here, was taken to a specialist in the city. Cubbison expected to be in Los Angeles tonight to celebrate with his wife and friends his twenty-seventh birthday. He will lose his eye according to the local surgeon.

FOOD SUPPLIES ARE CUT OFF.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, Oct. 15.—Local residents who have relatives and friends engaged in foreign missionary work are considerably worried about their welfare during these troublous war times. Miss Regina Ilig has received a letter from her sister, Mrs. Carl Freyburger, who, with her husband, is located at Quittah, on the coast of West Africa, where they are missionaries for the German Bremen mission. Mrs. Freyburger states that they are failing to receive ordered food, money and other supplies, as communication between Germany and the government missionary stations has been cut off. Quittah, where the Freyburgers are located, is in English territory, and all letters are censored and no drafts or money orders can be sent through the London banks.

Miss Ilig states that the German missionaries now at Quittah will be forced to depend for subsistence upon the natives and on the English officials of the locality, and, being German subjects, they may virtually be prisoners of war. The locality of Quittah is barren and unproductive, nothing but cocoanut palms growing, and all provisions have to be brought from a long distance.

The English officials have been friendly to the work of the missionaries, and will no doubt see that they do not suffer, she writes. Mr. and Mrs. Freyburger visited Miss Ilig here last year, while in America on a furlough.

Miss Anne Cason, president of the Pomona Fruit and Flower Mission, has received a letter from Miss Edith Apperson, who went as a missionary from the Christian Church here to a station on the Congo River, in the Congo Free State, a possession of Belgium, in which Miss Apperson states that her friends should not worry about her, as the Congo Free State is in a fertile region and, though supplies are cut off from the outside because of the war, there is no danger of famine.

MURDER CHARGE AGAINST EDITOR

Each Armed, Say Witnesses Who Saw Scuffle.

Coroner's Jury Leaves Merits to Trial Tribunal.

Santa Fe Prepares System for Exposition Travel.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct. 15.—A charge of murder was placed today against H. E. Davis, employed as editor of the Evening Index, a local publication, who late last night shot and killed Ben Emerson when the latter attacked him in front of the political headquarters, where Davis was secretary. The Coroner's jury late today rendered a simple verdict that Emerson "came to his death as a result of a gunshot wound at the hands of H. E. Davis."

Although attorneys representing Davis requested Coroner Fuller to allow them to cross-examine the witnesses in the view of producing information for the jury to render a justifiable verdict, and it was granted, the jury, including H. Kendall, C. Meyer, C. M. Hanf, W. A. Manson, J. I. Baxter and Otto Grubbs, did not go beyond the fact and manner of death.

Testimony of Dr. E. Scott Blair showed that the bullet entered in the middle of the right breast and traveled downward toward the left hip, piercing the liver and stomach. It was stated by witnesses that Emerson started the encounter and that the shot was fired while both were down.

Emerson took exception to the use of his name in articles supposed to have been written by Davis associating him with politics with the purpose of belittling local political opponents, and persisted in referring to him in that manner after Emerson had warned him to desist, it is declared. Davis is claiming self-defense.

When the police picked up Emerson after the shooting, an automatic revolver similar to the one Davis had used, dropped from his pocket, it is asserted.

Emerson's widow swore to the complaint charging Davis with murder today and the newspaper man may be arraigned tomorrow.

PREPARING FOR RUSH.

A steady increase in facilities in the anticipation of handling a large part of the exposition rush of next year is being made by the Santa Fe and the last improvements authorized by the company include about $153,000 for the Los Angeles division alone. The Santa Fe will expend $55,000 at Los Angeles for the construction of coach-washing tracks, narrow-gauge push-car tracks and air, steam and water lines on the river front property between Seventh and Ninth streets.

At Upland the foothill spur track is to be reconstructed into the foothills to the packing-houses at a cost of $27,500, work having been started already. At Barstow $9000 will be expended in repiacing the bank washed out by the flood of February, and a bunkhouse costing $2000 will be built for the employees. An item of $20,000 is included for paving at San Diego and the building of a storm drain.

DECLARE WAR ON BOOTLEGGERS.

SOLDIERS' HOME AUTHORITIES WORK IN CONJUNCTION WITH THE POLICE.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

SOLDIERS' HOME, Oct. 15.—In an effort to suppress bootlegging and other measures whereby members of the Home are too frequently supplied with intoxicants that lead to repeated violation of regulations of the Home, Gov. Barry is seeking co-operation on the part of the combined authorities of Santa Monica and Venice. The Chief of Police in each of the districts named has already signified his willingness to do all within his power to that end.

Under existing laws, veterans in uniform are not permitted to imbibe in saloons at the beach cities named, but they easily evade that prohibitive measure by donning civilian clothing, which gives them the common right to drink or to purchase at their pleasure. The question arises, how, then, is the object desired to be accomplished?

Gen. Barry has what he believes to be a practical proposition which it is his intention to present to the beach authorities and which, if agreed upon, he says, will doubtless bring about the results hoped for.

WOULD CUT DOWN NOB ON OWN RESPONSIBILITY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

LOS ANGELES HARBOR, Oct. 14.—Work cutting the boulevard through Nob Hill to the outer harbor is not to wait until the assessment of damages is completed, according to W. F. Hewitt of Los Angeles, who has the contract for the work. He will ask the Board of Public Works for permission to begin the work upon his own responsibility at once.

This will give six months in which to complete the work instead of ninety days allowed by his contract from the time the assessment roll of damages is completed and he is officially notified that the work must be begun.

The work will be started at the north end through the property of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company with mule teams. Later a drag-line will be used and the job will be completed with steam shovels and railroad track along the road.

Property owners on the hill are greatly interested in plans for cutting through the boulevard as many of them are desirous of making contracts at the same time to take about-

Many Prizes Awarded at Riverside County Fair to Brant Rancho Entries; Honors at State Fair.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

RIVERSIDE, Oct. 15.—Exhibits at the fair of horses, cattle, sheep and hogs far exceed in numbers and quality any before shown in Riverside county. Among the most successful exhibitors can be numbered the Elliott Brant Rancho of Owensmouth. After a satisfactory exhibit at the State Fair at Sacramento last month, the management of the ranch decided to make an effort to share in the honors at the Riverside fair, selecting some choice animals. They have this week won fifteen first, three second and two third prizes; also the grand championship, in competition with some of the best Guernsey cows on the Pacific Coast.

The exhibit of Shropshire sheep by this firm were the blue ribbon winners in every class entered. The exhibit of Percheron horses did its share in bringing honors to the firm, the young stallion Echo taking first prize in his class.

The awards received by the Guernsey cattle of this firm at Sacramento State Fair, followed by the awards at Riverside, places this herd at the top in this State. The exhibit of Berkshire hogs is the best ever shown in Riverside county.

Forest Ranger in San Jacinto Range Makes Report of Summer's Events. Riverside Highway Work Begun.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

HEMET, Oct. 14.—Forest Ranger Exon reports thirteen fires in the San Jacinto Mountains this season. All but one of these were caused by carelessness on the part of campers or passersby. He reports that there were sixty deer killed in his district this year. A number of these were does, and as a result a number of fines have been paid. He states that several deer have been found dead in the mountains, having been shot and not found by the hunters.

Hemet has sent a fine exhibit to the Riverside county fair. Besides the exhibit of the produce from the valley the Hemet Cannery and Hemet Stock Farm have individual exhibits. Last year Hemet took the blue ribbon for having the best exhibit on the grounds and it expects to capture the same honor again this year.

Work on the portion of the Riverside-Hemet highway between Hemet and San Jacinto started this week. The contract for this piece of work was let to the Star Cement Company of Riverside. The highway is to be of concrete base and will be among the best in the State. It is expected that the entire highway to Riverside will be completed by spring.

BLYTHE, Oct. 15.—Cotton growers' organizations in this district have sent to the Riverside county fair this week 10,000 perfectly formed cotton bolls which are to be given out as souvenirs of this district. Most of the bolls come from fields that are yielding over a bale and a half of cotton to the acre and they will be mailed to points all over the world.

The construction of a cotton warehouse at Blythe will be completed this week. Warehouse receipts will be issued for all of the staple stored here and the growers can secure sufficient advance on these receipts to hold their product in the hope of getting a better price later.

As soon as money becomes available on the warehouse receipts the cotton-picking in this district will be cotton picking in this district will be work in the cotton fields for several hundred outside laborers. The work will last until February and experienced pickers can make from $3 to $5 a day.

PORT NOTES.

Able seamanship on the part of the master of the Bowdoin prevented a collision between that vessel and the Str. Nehalem at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon when both boats followed in the wake of the Multnomah and came to grips in the narrow channel opposite Dead Man's Island.

The Multnomah was leaving the inner harbor to call at the Southern Pacific docks when the Bowdoin and Nehalem hove in sight. Owing to the narrowness of the channel at this point the Bowdoin and Nehalem did not have sufficient room to pass each other and for a few minutes it appeared as if a collision was inevitable.

Hundreds of spectators rushed to the wharves lining the channel, expecting to witness another catastrophe, but the pilots on both vessels maneuvered with such skill that both the Bowdoin and Nehalem escaped unharmed.

As a result of the potential accident strong representations probably will be made to Congress in favor of immediately widening the channel from 600 feet to 1000 feet as recommended by the government engineers.

After clearing herself from the trap the Bowdoin proceeded on her voyage and will stop a few hours at Redondo to discharge the balance of her cargo.

The Royal Dutch-Shell tanker Demax loaded at Port Arthur, Tex., for Chinese points was reported by wireless today and is expected to call at this port within a day or two for fuel. As usual with vessels belonging to this fleet the ship will anchor at the outer breakwater and the crew will not be allowed to land. Owing to the proximity of a fuel supply the Royal Dutch steamers are now beginning to appreciate the value of the harbor and it is thought that the regular sailings of the company will call at this port.

For the first time in the history of the harbor a large steamer will moor on the west channel side of the Outer Harbor Dock and Wharf Company when the Hazel Dollar arrives early tomorrow morning.

Up to this time no effort has been made to anchor ships on the west side of the wharf at a point nearly opposite the famous South Coast Yacht Club's landing.

In anticipation of the arrival of the Hazel Dollar the authorities visited the yacht mooring in the police patrol boat last night and ordered the course made clear.

It is announced that regular visits will be made to the outer wharf in the future by vessels of this line.

NEW CHARTER IS ACCEPTED

Long Beach Gives Majority to Yes

Voters in Doubt as to Dry Fight

Newsboys Double Afternoon Trade

LONG BEACH, Oct. 15.—Long Beach today accepted the commission form of government charter, which by a liberal element is to be followed by a majority of the people to be "wet."

All the latest fads of modern government were discussed in the proposed charter, which after a few trifling additions were made will, it is said, be the model for many cities of the State. The vote was unofficially announced as 1696 against, a majority of 1696.

The vote was quite large, more than 3000 being cast, less than that cast at the recent New York City election and nearly double the vote cast at the last municipal election. The rain which fell during the forenoon kept many voters away from the polls, but in the afternoon the sun came out and a record vote was cast. There was considerable effort for or against the proposed charter, and no automobiles were used to bring voters to the polls.

The unofficial count was announced as follows, by precincts: No. 1, yes 79, no 66; No. 2, yes 173, no 137; No. 3, yes 173, no 149; No. 4, no 149; No. 5, yes 92, no 172; No. 6, yes 92, no 172; No. 7, yes 11, no 118; No. 8, yes 134, no 118; No. 10, yes 11, no 118; No. 11, yes 166, no 86; No. 12, yes 166, no 86; No. 13, yes 14, yes 111, no 86.

"I am a Democrat and a merchant of Long Beach, but I say that I, in common with many others, am against the new charter, which is a step backward and out of hand. I am one of the largest property holders who signed the petition for the new charter many months ago, but I am against the whisky feature as it is now written in the charter. I am satisfied with the wishes of the people as indicated by the circulating reports that were paid by anti-charter people.

URGES CHANGE IN BANK LAW.

STATE INSTITUTIONS ADVISED TO DEFER ENTERING RESERVE SYSTEM.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

RICHMOND (Va.) Oct. 15.—The American Bankers' Association decided today to send a committee to Washington to urge upon the Federal Reserve Board changes which it contends would make membership in the new banking system more attractive to State institutions.

Examination of applicants by regional bank officials and permission to continue business along present lines are the main proposals. Several speakers during the convention urged that State banks defer entering the reserve system until changes were made in the law.

The convention came to a close tonight after the election of officers and the adoption of a resolution calling upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant rate increases sought by the railroads.

Unless railroad and transportation interests, the resolution says, could be made prosperous, and confidence in the stability of their securities restored and maintained, "no permanent relief from existing conditions can be expected."

The new officers of the association are William A. Law of Philadelphia, president, and James K. Lynch of San Francisco, vice-president. Other officials were re-elected. Seattle was chosen for the 1915 convention city.

The Committee on Federal Legislation reported that it had considered requests that the constitutionality of the income tax be tested, but decided the association "should not take the initiative or be identified in this particular."

The new executive council of the association tonight established a department designed to promote a better understanding of the banking business by the public.

Proposal that the Administration Buy Copper and Wheat to Keep up Prices so the Poor People Can't Buy Any—Wilson Economics Runs to Extravagance.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Proposals of government aid for the cereal growers of the Central States and the copper producers of the West were made today in the Senate as an offset to the fight for cotton relief legislation in connection with the war revenue bill.

A $500,000,000 appropriation to protect cereal farmers along the lines of the cotton amendment was proposed by Senator McCumber. His amendment would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to buy cereals whenever wheat fell below $1.10 a bushel, barley below 65 cents and oats below 50 cents.

Senator Smoot of Utah introduced an amendment providing that the government purchase copper when it falls below 10 cents per pound, and issue $50,000,000 in 4 per cent. bonds for the purpose.

The cotton States Senators vigorously premed their amendment to authorize a $250,000,000 bond issue for the purchase of 5,000,000 bales of cotton at 10 cents a pound.

Senator Overman proposed an amendment which would authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to loan to the Southern States the amounts collected by the government under the cotton tax imposed during and after the Civil War. This would authorize a total loan of $65,963,598.31.

Action on the bond proposals was deferred and consideration of items in the bill resumed. Without debate the committee agreed to strike out the proposed taxes on proprietary medicines, the action cutting out approximately $2,000,000 of the estimated annual revenue.

While final decision was not reached by the Federal Reserve Board today on the proposal for a $150,000,000 loan by bankers to aid cotton producers, enough was accomplished to make it certain the board would assume general supervision of the fund if the plan is carried out.

President Wilson and Secretary McAdoo are known to be greatly interested in the success of the plan, and it was predicted that the board would work out a system of administration for the fund satisfactory to the government and the participating bankers.

Details of the plan for aiding the cotton farmers were discussed today at a conference between Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Festus J. Wade and George W. Simmons of St. Louis, two of its active backers.

Mr. Wade and Mr. Simmons came to Washington with the promise of New York bankers to raise $50,000,000 of the total, and with telegrams from most of the southern States containing similar promises for financial participation. About the only question left unsettled is the extent to which the Federal Reserve Board shall enter into the operation of the syndicate. Its promoters virtually declare that the board act as its managers. Secretary McAdoo is understood to favor this plan.

LIVERPOOL REDUCES COTTON.

The October Producers' Transportation Company dividend of 1½ per cent. is still in the air, no action having been taken at the regular meeting of the directors of the Union Oil Company, the holding corporation, yesterday. A meeting of the Producers' Transportation Company directorate will probably be held within a few days formally to rescind the dividend, which ordinarily would be paid next Tuesday, to stock of record October 1. No Producers' meeting was held yesterday owing to the absence from this city of W. L. Stewart, vice-president and general manager of the company.

SELLING STOPS THE ADVANCE.

Decline Sets in, but Two Strong Swells Followed on Reports of Increased Foreign Buying—Cash Houses Take December Wheat. Corn, Oats and Provisions Slump.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—Selling pressure from a number of leading firms acted as more than an offset in wheat today for assertions that export business was in progress on a huge scale. There was an unsettled close at ¼ to ⅝ net decline. Corn finished ⅝@⅝ to ¾ down; oats off ⅛ to ⅜@⅜, and provisions ranging from the same as last night to a loss of 22½. Orders to sell flooded into the wheat market as soon as prices at the opening showed a tendency to advance. The ensuing fall of prices was followed by two strong swells due to seaboard estimates that European buying at Winnipeg, Duluth, Chicago and in the Southwest amounted to 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 bushels. The effect, however, failed to last. December delivery of wheat showed decided relative strength compared with the May options. Cash houses were good buyers of the nearer month, which at one time went to 5⅝ discount under May as against 6 cents at the close last night. Prospects for better weather tended to ease off the corn market. Oats developed a good deal of resistance to bear attacks, as eastern shipping continued good. The market, nevertheless, gave evidence of some sympathy with the weakness of other grain.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Banana receipts during the past few days have been heavy, and this has resulted in some cutting of quotations. The fact that the European demand has been almost entirely eliminated for the time being is putting more of the fruit into the United States than usual, and forcing the market down. Central America and Southern Mexico are still the principal shippers. No fruit to speak of is coming from the West Coast. Prices yesterday were as low as 3 cents a pound.

The lemon guava is a feature of the fruit market. It is a scarce article of trade, and little known here save to persons who have lived in the tropics. It is much larger than the ordinary guava, and of a yellowish green color when ripe, instead of a red. It has few seeds, and a delightful mint suggestive flavor. Ordinary guavas are quoted from 3 to 5 cents a basket, but lemon guavas are worth up to 25 cents a pound.

Quite a number of tropical fruits are in at this time, including the cherimoyas, or custard apple, the sapodilla, and the alligator pear. These fruits sell for $1.00 to $3.00 a dozen, according to quality. Pineapples are fairly plentiful, shipments of the fruit from Hawaii being pretty regular. Quotations are from 6 to 7 cents a pound, with an occasional drop to 5 when the market is a little overburdened.

The price on eggs declined to 30 cents. This quotation is 2 cents higher than the San Francisco market, where an advance of 1 cent was recorded. Receipts were 113 cases of locals, and there was a very good demand for them. Butter was stationary at 31 cents. Receipts were 38,800 pounds. Cheese arrivals were 7600 pounds. Potato receipts were 1982 sacks. Onions were finally dropped to 85 cents on the market, both for Yellow Danvers and Australians.

Apple arrivals were 20,827 boxes. Spitzenbergs are expected on the market in about two weeks. Jonathans are moving fast, and several other varieties because of the very low prices are good sellers. Grape receipts were 4008 boxes.

SEVEN OF TEN CLEAN UP LOTS.

INTERESTING FIGURES FROM CHIEF INSPECTOR.

Twelve Thousand Official Notices Served on Property Owners to Middle of Month and Large Proportion Take Heed—Plans for Continued Campaign are Undecided.

Thomas W. Moore, chief inspector of the Lot Cleaning Bureau, yesterday submitted to the Board of Public Works a report of the expenditures and weed tax in connection with parkway cleaning. Some interesting figures are set forth.

The activities of the full force in the Lot Cleaning Bureau were curtailed on the 15th in order to allow the closing up of the work that is to be charged for on the new tax bills, as provided for by the ordinance creating this department.

The report of Inspector Moore shows that up to yesterday there had been served 12,000 official notices to property owners to clean their lots. He states that about 70 per cent. of the owners notified have complied.

"Figuring on this basis," says the report, "a total of 9762 lots have been cleaned in the territory where we have worked, which comprises less than half the area of the city. This does not include the hundreds of lots cleaned voluntarily by owners, brought about by publicity gained through the newspapers."

The expenditures of the Lot Cleaning Bureau totaled to October 15 $10,048.67. Of this sum actual time was kept on labor and teams amounting to $7273.93. The balance, $2774.74, was covered by the administration charge of 20 per cent.

The weed tax placed on the assessment roll amounts to $6882.88. The work cards completed but not placed on the assessment roll total $1269.04, and there is outstanding work in the hands of foremen, where teaming is not completed, to the amount of $1530.

Out of the total amount provided for the maintenance of the Lot Cleaning Bureau, there yet remains unexpended a little more than $5000. It is proposed to hold $1000 of this for the purpose of carrying on the lot cleaning work after the weed-growing season passes next spring. The remainder will probably be expended in carrying on the regular work as long as the funds will permit.

As tax-paying progresses, the weed tax money will come into the city treasury, and it may be decided that this money shall be passed back through the same channels of the Lot Cleaning Bureau, so that its work may be kept up to the full extent of the past two months, thus creating really a revolving fund for the work.

DEFEAT ORDINANCE.

BUT MAJORITY FAVORS IT.

Although for the lack of one vote the majority of the City Council was unable yesterday to secure the adoption of the salary ordinance for the employees of the Public Utilities Board—with no provision therein for the $300 per month salary of Charles K. Mohler, chief engineer of the railroad department—Mr. Mohler has but fifteen days remaining in which to fill this position.

Six votes were required to pass the salary ordinance. Five votes were cast in favor of the measure and four against it, as predicted in yesterday's Times. Thus the measure was lost.

This takes the subject of Mohler's elimination from the public service out of the hands of the City Council, and the storm center will now be the Board of Public Utilities. Probably never in the municipal history has such persistent effort been made to save to any man his job as that which has been carried on by Mr. Mohler and his Socialist and club woman friends to keep him in the $300 per month berth in the Public Utilities department.

That these efforts will be abated under the present conditions is entirely unlikely. Instead, it is probable the board will be bombarded with petitions, personal appeals, etc., to have Mr. Mohler continued in the service. The thirty days' extension of time which the board granted to Mr. Mohler, on the urgent request of his Socialist friends, will expire on November 1. With the majority of the City Council having voted to sustain the position taken by the board, it is not likely that the Socialists will be able to influence the board to further continue Mr. Mohler in its employ.

USE CHEMICALS.

TO STOP WATER'S STENCH.

The Smith-Emery Company, chemical engineers, are to devise a method of treating the waters in Westlake Park lake to abate the stench that has become a veritable nuisance to the district.

Under the supervision of Frank Shearer, Park Superintendent, the waters have been treated with copper sulphate, and mechanical aeration has been used, but the results have been far from satisfactory. Such radical methods will have to be used that it is probable all animal life in these waters will be killed. All the fish possible have been caught and transferred to other lakes. The drainage of the lake at this time is impossible, because of its interference with the construction of the Arroyo de la Brea storm drain, now under way.

The present untoward condition is only a temporary one, for within a few weeks an abundant supply of aqueduct water will be available for the lake through the system of mains in the western part of the city. It is proposed to have a sixteen-inch main placed to supply the lake.

LONG BEACH AVENUE.

ITS OPENING IS FAVORED.

The opening and widening of Long Beach avenue from Washington street to Slauson avenue, providing for a street forty feet wide on each side of the Pacific Electric company's right of way, will be recommended to the Council by the Public Works Committee today.

This is the result of a series of hearings on the subject, the last one of which was held yesterday afternoon. Richard J. Culver, attorney for the Long Beach Improvement Association, was spokesman for the large delegation appearing to favor the movement.

The original district outlined for the payment of this improvement included 102,000 feet of frontage. Of this there were 59,000 feet signed for the opening. Then the district boundaries were changed, cutting out some of the territory signed up. Even under this condition, the proponents of the opening presented 45,000 feet of frontage.

The subject of the crossing of the Vernon-avenue yellow line over the Pacific Electric tracks at Long Beach avenue was also given considerable discussion at yesterday's hearing, but was continued for further hearing.

SWEET AMENITIES.

DWELL TOGETHER IN UNITY.

Bang, bang, bang, went the gavel in the hands of Chairman Bryant of the Public Works Committee of the City Council yesterday.

"We will now reassemble for continuance of business," called out the chairman.

Committeeman Snowden ambled amiably to his seat. Committeeman Roberts continued his conference with constituents in a far-off corner.

Bang, bang, bang, went the gavel again. "Why don't you get into your place and attend to your business?" queried Chairman Bryant with an easily detected note of irritation in his voice.

"I want you to understand that you can't order me around," retorted honorable Councilman in the corner.

"You will, eh?" suggested honorable Roberts.

"No attention is paid to the chairman of this meeting. The meeting is adjourned,' came back Chairman Bryant, and he left the room with dignity, followed by Minute Clerk Carroll with the committee papers.

Councilmen Snowden and Roberts then got together, secured the papers with the attendance of Assistant Minute Clerk Hopper and the business of the committee proceeded.

For Charities Consolidation.

Consolidation appears to be the watchword in public service affairs nowadays and in line with this idea a meeting was held yesterday at the City Hall to formulate plans for the consolidation of city and county charities. Participating in this meeting were Councilmen Wheeler, Whiffen and Williams, City Attorney Stephens, Deputy City Attorney Burnell and City Auditor Myers, and Dr. Millbank Johnson of the Municipal Charities Commission. Preliminary plans were discussed, preparatory to a conference with representatives of the county on this subject.

City Shouldn't Take it.

Excavation for the much-talked-of alleged buried treasure at the intersection of North Broadway and Buena Vista street is to be begun today, says Jose Ortez, who is acting as agent for Senora Isabel Mora of No. 944 Aliso street, who has the location of the treasure in her mind.

A verbal permit was granted to Ortez two days ago to make the excavation desired. Yesterday he reappeared at the City Engineer's office and requested that this permission should be put into writing, as he declared he had been assured that if the work was done without a written permit and a treasure was unearthed, the city could confiscate it in its entirety. Ortez thought that wouldn't be exactly fair, so the written permit was duly issued.

For Art's Sake.

The Municipal Art Commission has decided that it cannot approve the plan of Building Superintendent Backus for the removal of the dome on the branch City Hall at San Pedro, and the substitution of a flat roof. The dome must remain, says the commission. This means that an entire new tin roof will have to be placed, as Mr. Backus reports that the old roof is so dilapidated that it cannot be patched up to withstand the winter's rains. The Art Commission also disapproved the plans presented for the proposed branch public library at Central avenue and East Forty-fifth street. They are not sufficiently artistic to meet the wishes of the commission.

Municipalograms.

Members of the City Council have accepted an invitation of the Woman's Club of the Slauson playgrounds to be guests at the annual club banquet to be given at the clubhouse this evening. President Whiffen and Councilman Betkouski will make addresses.

George B. Curtis was awarded a contract by the Board of Public Works yesterday for the paving of Sapphire street, between Bixel and Boylston streets, for $7319.19. The time limit is seventy days.

New electric lights of greatly increased candlepower and a new type of reflectors have been placed in the Third-street tunnel and were put into service for the first time Wednesday evening. They are proving very satisfactory. The tunnel is receiving its second coat of whitewash.

The improvement of Alvarado street, between Glendale avenue and Effie street, is to proceed after numerous delays. The Board of Public Works yesterday awarded the contract for this work to S. M. McCray for $9021.92, and 100 days are allowed within which to complete the work.

The Standard-American Dredging Company applied to the Board of Public Works yesterday for an extension of time until November 18 to complete the supplemental dredging contract at the harbor.

Dr. Millbank Johnson, president of the Municipal Charities Commission, announced yesterday that hereafter the commission will hold public meetings on the third Wednesday of each month in the old Normal School auditorium for the purpose of more thoroughly familiarizing the public with the work of the commission and discussion of proper and most effective methods of disbursing charitable donations.

The Mayor was unable to visit his office yesterday, being confined to his home by another attack of rheumatism.

YOUTH ADMITS EMBEZZLEMENT.

Felix B. Horine, the Monrovia boy charged with embezzling money taken from letters at Station C of the local postoffice establishment, pleaded guilty to the charge in the United States District Court yesterday. He will be up for sentence today. It is understood that young Horine will have a number of witnesses to testify in regard to his character, and that his father, who is a retired clergyman at Monrovia, and in ill-health, will do all he can for the boy. The wedding of Horine to the young lady upon whom he lavished many presents purchased with stolen money, has been indefinitely postponed.

CASE NEARS END.

The government yesterday closed its testimony for the prosecution in the case against A. E. O'Banion and William Kirby, charged with smuggling fifteen Chinese contrabands, and landing them at Sunset Beach on the evening of May 22, 1911. The evidence for the defense was begun, and it is likely that the testimony will be concluded today. The unexpected shortening of the defense is a surprise. The testimony adduced not only connects the defendants with the Sunset Beach affair, but with other excursions and loads of yellow men landed at Monterey Bay and San Francisco. The defense will be an alibi so far as Kirby is concerned in the Sunset Beach trip.

MINISTER WED DRUNKEN MAN?

UNUSUAL CIRCUMSTANCES IN THIS MARRIAGE.

Youthful Redondo Sailor, Seeking Annulment of Vows, Says Ceremony was Engineered by an Australian Girl While He was Intoxicated in Sydney—Not of Age.

Ray Harold Robinson, a husky lad of Redondo Beach, made friends with the captain of a vessel and one day Ray sailed away with him, his parents giving their consent. It was a great chance for a boy, and Ray rose to second mate of the ship before it reached Vancouver. He gained his parents' consent to continue the cruise to Australia, and there he met his Waterloo.

The story was told to Judge Monroe yesterday when William Robinson, the boy's father, asked to have Ray's marriage annulled. As the complaint did not state where the marriage had taken place or cite the marriage law of Australia, the case went off calendar to file an amended complaint.

Ray said he was at Sidney four months, the ship being out of commission, and was intoxicated all of that time. He met a girl, who seems to have engineered the business of obtaining a license, giving his age as 22 instead of 18, and taking him before a minister. He lived with her two weeks. His mother went to Sidney and brought him back.

"You committed perjury," said Judge Monroe.

"The girl gave the ages."

"You swore to it?"

"I guess I did; I don't remember it. I was drunk."

"Were you drunk when you married her?"

"Yes, I was."

"Do you mean to tell this court that any minister would marry a man who was drunk?"

In Ray's case, it seemed so, although he had no memory on the subject.

MONTH OR YEAR?

SUIT, HOWEVER, BARRED.

Mary Jane Bell, engaged for one year to teach the invalid child of A. F. and Nellie B. George, for $30 a month, including board and room, completed the term and was taken on under a verbal agreement for a second year. At the end of three months, she was discharged and brought suit to recover $420 due, placing board and room at $40 a month.

The defense was that she was hired by the month and not for one year. Mrs. George, in Judge Finlayson's court yesterday, could not remember the conversation which took place when the plaintiff entered on the second year's instruction. The court gave judgment for the defendants on the ground that Mrs. Bell had obtained judgment in the Justice's Court for one month's salary and that a suit in the Superior Court for a longer period was barred.

CASE OF BUTTER.

The demurrer of the Produce Exchange of Los Angeles to the complaint of the California Central Creameries, asking $25,000 damages and an injunction restraining the exchange from scoring only ninety points for creameries extras instead of ninety-three points, which is the existing standard, was sustained by Judge York yesterday with twenty days to amend. Pending this the order to show cause why an injunction should not issue went off calendar.

One of the points raised in the demurrer was that it does not appear from the complaint that any of the acts of the exchange was connected with or responsible for the failure of the Central Creameries to induce dairymen to enter into a contract for sweet cream upon the basis of the price of butter of creamery extra grade prevailing on the Los Angeles Exchange.
